SOME EPITAPHS

Tom Jones has gone to heavenly heights;
He tried to drive without his lights.
Jack Hayes this busy life forsakes;
He never would re-line his brakes.
Here's all that's left of Amos Bossing;
He tried to beat it to the crossing.
No more for Brown are earthly smiles;
He took the curve at forty miles.
Ted Small has gone to his abode;
He kept the middle of the road.
Here lies our friend, poor Tony Dix;
For booze and gasoline won't mix.
Jim Henry's friends are all bereft;
He made a short turn to the left.
Ben Gray is free from earthly pains;
A rainy day—he had no chains.
Poor Bill's beneath the sod, alas!
He speeded up and tried to pass.
Now Tom has joined the heavenly band;
He tried to drive it with one hand.

SOUTHWEST VIRGINIA GROUP EVANGELISM CONGRESS

A congress of the churches of Christ, in the Southwest part of the State will be held at South Salem Church, June 18, 19, 1924; this will be the greatest and most outstanding meeting ever held among the disciples of Christ in this section. In fact it will be different from any ever held in the state. Men of national reputation will be present to take part in the program. A complete survey will be given of the Southwest section of the 102 churches and of strategic centers to be entered. A complete program will be worked out during the Congress for opening every closed church, for holding meetings in every church and for entering new fields. Young men will be enlisted for the ministry and scores of young people will be enlisted to form Gospel Bands in every church.

During the past few years a great program of evangelism has arisen in the Church of Christ throughout the nation. Thousands of men are studying for he ministry this year. Two new colleges have been opened to train the increased number of ministers. Hundreds of the closed churches have been opened this year and several scores of new churches have been organized, and the Church of Christ had almost twice the percent of increase in membership of any religious organization during the last year.

A large representation from each of the 102 churches should be present at the Congress, for this will mean much for the progress of the churches in the future.

You are urged, therefore, in interest of the churches, to put forth an extra effort to attend this Congress, and come prepared to stay until after the District Convention which closes, June 21st. Delegates will receive free lodging and breakfast.

COOLIDGE NOMINATED PRESIDENT No Other Name Presented and Convention Goes Wild With Enthusiasm.

A Broad and Strong Platform Adopted That Spells a Most Glorious Republican Victory in November.

The Republicans Go Before the Country With Splendid Candidate, an Liberal Platform and United Party.

Convention, Hall, June 11.—The first great demonstration of the Republican national convention broke tonight with a mention of the name of President Coolidge. Chairman Warren of the platform committee presenting his report mentioned the president's name and the real old time show of enthusiasm was shown in the convention.

State standards were snatched up from their places, delegates leaping to their feet with cheers and soon the aisles were jammed with a shouting, prancing, whistling, noise-making throng, hurrahing for Coolidge.

Gavel Brought Down.

Chairman Mondell brought the gavel down at 8.21 just as a storm rolled in from the lake and a heavy clap of thunder crashed above the big auditorium. The chairman had to rap several times before he got order. Then he threw the convention into cheering by announcing that the convention proceedings were "being listened to by the president of the United States in the White House and by the millions who will contribute to the Republican victory in November."

Then the convention got down to business. Charles B. Warren of Michigan, ambassador to Mexico and chairman of the platform committee, took his place at the chairman's desk and began the reading of the platform amid renewed cheering and to the accompaniment of more crashes of thunder outside.

Mr. Warren prefaced his presentation of the platform by saying that it was the unanimous report of the committee "with the exception of the member from one state." Attention was again turned to the Wisconsin delegation where was sitting Representative Cooper waiting to offer the La Follette planks. There were scattered cries of "throw him out." The hall quieted down, however, and Chairman Warren went ahead reading the platform. When he first mentioned President Coolidge name the convention began a rising demonstration during which the Wisconsin delegation remained seated.

The First Parade

The first parade around the hall began during the demonstration for the president. The convention managers had the heavy iron standards bearing the names of the states fastened to the floors, but the delegates snatched the tops from the standards which bore the state names themselves and began forming a procession. North Carolina was the first followed by New Jersey and soon the aisle were crowded with pushing, struggling, whistling, cheering delegates and alternates, all bent on whooping it up and each seeking to outdo the other. Senator Lodge and Speaker Gillett joined the procession with the Massachusetts delegation.

It was the real touch of the old time convention enthusiasm and everybody was out to make the most of it. Frank W. Stearns of Boston, president Coolidge friend and Warick, came to the front of the speakers stand, took a place between Mr. Warren and Mr. Mondell to watch the procession of men and women cheering for the president, Secretary Slemp also came to the front of the platform to look over the throng. William M. Butler, the president's campaign manager, soon joined the party and the collection of Republican managers stood there as if reviewing a procession.

After they had tired themselves out pushing and twisting about the aisle, the bearers of the state standards massed them in front of the speaker's stand. The din of the demonstration increased rather than diminished when the paraders came to a halt and the outburst had been in progress nearly fifteen minutes before the standard bearers began to file back to their places.

With a roaring chorus of approval the Republican National convention tonight adopted its platform as reported by the resolutions committee and rejected the La Follette planks.

A Beautiful Church Wedding

One of the prettiest wedding ceremonies which has taken place in Marion, was performed Wednesday night, when Miss Elizabeth Rhea Gray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Gray, and Mr. Willard Smith Lincoln, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard L. Lincoln, both members of prominent families of Marion, were united in marriage in the Royal Oak Presbyterian church, Wednesday evening at seven thirty o'clock, by the Rev. Goodridge A. Wilson Jr., pastor of the church. The church was beautifully decorated with hemlock, mountain ferns, white peonies and cathedral candles. The service started promptly at the appointed hour with two solos, "I love you truly" and "At Dawning," by Mrs. W. L. Lincoln, mother of the groom, accompanied by Miss Edna Brown, at the pipe organ and Miss Frances Coyner, with the violin. After the solos, the procession entered, with the groomsmen as follows: Messrs. Boyd Staley, Morgan Painter, Dr. James King Gray, Robert H. Gray Jr., Frank Lemon, then Mrs. Frank T. Lemon, as Matron of Honor, dressed in Rose Taffeta and silk lace, carrying pink roses; Miss Sarah Richardson, Maid of Honor, dressed in pink chiffon and ecru lace, carrying pink roses; Miss Laura Louise Lincoln, ring bearer, dressed in white georgette, carrying the ring concealed in a large white flower; Miss Mary Gray, flower girl, dressed in pink marionette crepe, with frills of cream lace, scattering rose petals. Mr. Robert H. Gray then entered with his daughter Miss Elizabeth Gray, wearing a dress of white satin back crepe with princess lace and she wore a veil of tulle and princess lace coronet of pearls and carried a shower bouquet of Swansonia and brides roses, and accompanied her to the altar where they were met by the groom, Mr. Willard Smith Lincoln and his best man, Mr. Ralph Lincoln. Rev. G. A. Wilson, who performed the ceremony used the ceremony as used by his church while the organist rendered soft music throughout the entire service. This was one of the prettiest and most attractive services which has been performed in Marion and is one of the first, if not the first which has been performed in the new edifice.

At the close of the service in the church, the wedding party and the invited guests, about three hundred and fifty in number, retired to the large and beautiful banquet hall of Greer's Restaurant, which was decorated with peonies, roses and ferns, where the wedding party formed a receiving line composed of the parents of the bride and groom, all of the lady attendants to the bride and the groomsmen and received all of the guests as they entered. During the entire serving of refreshments, Mrs. John P. Buchanan played old fashioned love songs and Mrs. A. T. Lincoln, presided at the punch bowl. The bride and groom left at the close of the reception and caught the fast train to Roanoke, and will travel the remainder of their honeymoon by automobile which they had waiting for them.

Girl Burned To Death

CLOTHES CAUGHT FIRE WHILE COOKING FATHER'S DINNER, HOUSE AND CONTENTS ALSO ENTIRELY CONSUMED—FATHER BADLY BURNED IN ATTEMPTING TO SAVE DAUGHTER.

One of the most dreadful accidents ever recorded in the annals of Smyth County was the one that occurred at Atkins on Saturday, June 7th, when Quenie, the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Hanson, was fatally burned and the home with all its contents entirely consumed.

This dreadful happening occurred about 12 o'clock in the day. The young girl was preparing the mid-day meal for the family, frying some ham among other things; in some way some of the coffee on the stove fell into the hot grease in the frying pan causing the hot fat to splutter out on the clothing of the girl, which at once burst into flames. Screaming she ran out on to the porch where she was caught by her father, but despite his utmost efforts she was so badly burned that she succumbed to the injuries about five thirty in the afternoon.

The flames had spread to the house, which was of wood construction, and in a very short time it was entirely consumed and all the contents, nothing being saved. In the garage near the house was a car, which Mr. Hanson drove out, and his hands and arms was so badly burned in trying to extinguish the flames that had enveloped his daughter, that the skin was left on the steering-wheel of the car when he drove it out.

Every possible attention was given to Quenie that was possible, but to no avail and as the shades of evening were gathering her gentle spirit took its flight to the great unknown. Hers was a lovely character, obedient and faithful to her parents, a bright and progressive student in the Marion High School where she had taken a high-stand in her school life, and a great favorite with all that knew her, both young and old, but especially a favorite with her youthful friends. She was a member of the Methodist church, and constant and faithful attendant of the Victory Class in the Sunday School. She was 16 years 8 months old and had before her the promise of a life of great usefulness.

The funeral was held at the Atkins Methodist church at three o'clock on Sunday, Rev. H. B. Brown of the Marion M. E. Church officiating at the service. Seldom if ever has there been such a largely attended funeral service; early in the afternoon the crowd began to gather and the church building could not begin to hold the concourse of people; there were 117 cars in the procession. The floral tributes were particularly numerous and beautiful; six cars being loaded with beautiful emblems, and there were 18 flower girls. The pall-bearers were special young friends of the deceased: William Harris, Earl Arnold, Bruce Arnold, Thomas Kegley and Wylie Musser. The services were very tender and appropriate, and were a token of the great esteem in which this young girl was held by all that knew her, in unity for the bereaved family. She is survived by father, mother, one brother, and a host of other relatives and friends.

NINE LOSE THEIR LIVES IN W. VIRGINIA FLOODS.

Bluefield, W. Va., June 9.—Nine persons were killed and a score of houses washed away in Mercer and McDowell counties today by a flood following a heavy rainstorm that reached the proportions of a cloudburst. Sections of Norfolk and Western railroad branch lines and side tracks to a number of mining operations were washed out.

As entire family of seven persons were wiped out in Mercer county, when their home was buried under a huge pile of slate which had been dislodged by the high water and swept against the house. Two members of a rescue party attempting to work an opening through the buried house were killed when a second slate pile crashed against the first.

Women! Health Brings Happiness Watch Your Health!

Petersburg, Va.—"The first four years of my married life I was in such delicate health that I could scarcely get around to do my household work. I doctored but did not seem to gain in strength. I suffered at times with severe pains in my side which indicated inward weakness, and after a friend told me of her experience with Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription I decided I would try it. I never knew a medicine could do so much in such a short time. Before I had taken half of the first bottle I began to gain in strength and my pains left me. I took several bottles and was then in better health than I had ever been in my life. I have a fine boy, and both he and I are in good health. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription helped to bring health and happiness into my home and I feel it my duty to tell other women so that they may know there is hope for them, too.—Mrs. J. E. Crowder, 925 Hinton Street.

Run Down By a Car.

Last Saturday night Mr. Jeff Wolfe of Marion was run down by an automobile on the Lee Highway, opposite the home of Mr. Geo. Miles, and received some quite severe injuries. The reports are that Mr. Wolfe, a Mr. Hutton, and three young ladies were walking into town, they having been out on the Highway and their car getting out of gas they had parked it and were walking into town. When opposite the home of Mr. Miles they were met by a car driven by a young man by name of Geo. Scott. The car is said to have brushed against the skirts of the girls, who were ahead, and then knocked Mr. Wolfe down, he receiving cuts on the face and scalp, while Mr. Hutton had his hip bruised by the fender. Scott turned his car around and took the injured people to the office of Dr. Sherrill in town, who rendered the necessary medical assistance.

He banked his Money; He became a Partner.

Big business men are always on the lookout for young men who have the qualifications for big positions. The main thing they want to know is: "has he MONEY SENSE?" That question can only be answered in one way: by a Pass Book showing REGULAR deposits. The routine of the business a man can be taught, but the value of money he must learn for himself with his own money.

We will welcome you.

Pumps prove popularity of "Standard" Gasoline

If you happened to count the gasoline pumps, as we have done, over miles of city streets and country roads, you know you would be impressed by the large showing of "Standard" pumps. In a popularity contest on gasoline a count of pumps will prove our leadership.

As you go bowling along country roads you can't help noticing how much the "Standard" pumps outnumber others. If you are engaged in manufacturing or in sales you know what ceaseless effort it takes to get such universal distribution, to hold the public's approval year after year as "Standard" Gasoline has done.

The "Standard" pump at every turn in the road is a monument to the industry, skill and optimism of the thousands of engineers, chemists and organizers who keep "Standard" Gasoline the recognized leader in its field.

There is only one way we keep that leadership. That is to keep quality up to the highest possible notch and to be constantly on the lookout for ways of raising it still higher. We have done this since the earliest days of motoring.

STANDARD OIL COMPANY

"STANDARD" GASOLINE

The wonderful new fuel—"Standard" Ethyl Gasoline—now available at many "Standard" pumps, completely eliminates "gas knock". More power on the hills! Less gear shifting! Less vibration! Ask the man at the pump about it.

"Standard" is the trade mark of the Standard Oil Co. (N.J.), registered in the United States and many foreign countries.

"WHO WILL BE THE NEXT VICTIM."

In a statement given out C. J. St. John former judge of Sullivan county circuit court had the following to say in regard to the speeders:

"The unfortunate accident to S. A. Slagle in Bristol a few days ago, has called sharp attention to the necessity of better regulation of automobile traffic. Who will be the next victim no one can tell, but that there will be another victim in a very short time is almost a certainty. It is said that during the past year 16,000 people were killed and 400,000 injured by automobiles in the United States. These figures are appalling, but the public mind has become hardened and these accidents do not arouse the indignation that they should.

"There are a great many irresponsible drivers in Bristol some of them are two young to handle a car and others lacking in judgment and discretion. Some of them have the speed craze and are law unto themselves. Many of them do not know the laws of running cars and do not care anything about these laws.

Chronic speeders who show an utter disregard for the laws should be dealt with severely and in many cases jail sentences should be imposed.

"There is also need of arousing the public's conscience on this subject. Every person who drives a car should be made to realize the great responsibility they are under and urged to use care and precaution to avoid accidents.

"Pedestrians also owe the duty to help in the prevention of accidents. Every person in crossing a street should exercise care, and look, to avoid injury to themselves. The habit of coming out from behind a car on the street is the cause of a great many accidents and should be prohibited. On one should cross a street except at a corner."

The above was taken from the Bristol Herald-Courier, and we give it place in our paper for the reason that what is true of Bristol is just as true of Marion. There is too much careless driving of autos in our town, and unless more care is taken by drivers there will be more accidents. Every driver of a car should paste on his wind-shield the words "Safety First", and never forget them.

Nurses Carry Health Education Into Thousands of Workers' Homes; Aid Babes and Young Mothers

To the young mother the tiny new baby is like a piece of bric-a-brac. She is afraid to handle it for fear she might break it. The first bath is such a fearsome ordeal that it has become customary for the nurse who administers the pre-natal care to come and give the little stranger his first good washing.

Education of this sort is part of the work of a visiting nurse. The aid given sufferers of any sort must always be a demonstration as well, so that members of the family may continue the care.

The nursing service of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company reaches 3,955 towns and cities in every state in the union and every province in Canada. In the two winter months of this year nurses made 424,936 calls at 109,395 separate homes. The nurses in more remote sections lead the life of the circuit rider travelling in their flivvers over almost impassable roads and often going on horseback or on foot through wild country to reach their destination. It requires dogged determination and physical strength to be enlisted in the service and sometimes on the outskirts of large cities the nurse will spend precious hours tramping through the mud to find a shack which is on no street and has no number.

The account is endless of the sickness and suffering caused by the ignorance of people of the poorer class and especially foreigners. One woman with five children had neglected an infected finger. The nurse summoned by the agent struggled through fields of mud only to find that the woman was sure it was nothing serious. The nurse insisted that a doctor be summoned, but the woman did not want to spend the money.

When the doctor finally came he lanced it at once and declared that it was only just in time to prevent the loss of the hand if not the woman's life.

Most of the women are eager to learn so that they may give their children the best possible treatment. One young mother, with four small youngsters, the oldest of which was four years, was especially clean and careful, but measles invaded the home. The three oldest children had it, but the nurse said the baby needn't get it if the mother would take proper precautions. This woman's day was not so full but that she could find time to follow instructions to the letter; changing her apron every time she tended the baby, keeping him isolated in a separate room, boiling everything, omitting no smallest detail. Eternal vigilance was the price of success and the baby escaped.

Women Enlist in National War Against Germ-carrying Flies; Provide Millions of "Swatters"

Every fly swatted at this season of the year probably would have been the founder of a dynasty if allowed to live out its allotted time. The genius of Flydom, the Napoleon who will lead his armies, laden with the deadly germs to destroy the purity of milk and pollute clean and wholesome food, is crawling about the upper wall of your kitchen today, a harmless, easily destroyed youth.

Swat him! With one stroke you will wipe out pages and pages of history and the millions of his offspring will be nothing but the might-have-beens of fiction.

Swat every fly whether he seems to show promise of a great career or not. Talent takes strange twists and the puny little fellow they gave up for dead as a baby may develop into a Gladstone. Caesar was amemic in his youth—probably, and Scipio, as a child, had to hold on tight to the railings when the wind blew.

Swat the fly irrespective of sentimentality. If you swat at him and by some seemingly providential intervention of a swinging door you miss him, you may imagine that Fate has decreed he should be spared. Like a whimsical Caliban you may choose to let this particular fellow survive because you've taken a fancy to him. High purpose should know no sentimentality. Don't cultivate intimacies among even the most engaging flies. Swat one, swat all.

A million and a half fly swatters are being distributed just now throughout the country by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company as a part of the health campaign of their welfare division. Definite realization of the disease danger from flies is evidenced in this annual distribution. A thorough-going fly-swating campaign at this season of the year is fostered by private and public health agencies. It has many times the value now that it would have later.

Swat the flies! Swat them now.

OXEN DRAW LOWER-TAXES WAGON THROUGH NEW YORK STREETS

The farmers' New York City demonstration against high taxes was led by the ancient prairie schooner, more than a century old, which crossed the state in midwinter, carrying petitions urging Congress for tax relief. The venerable vehicle was drawn by a prize-winning pair of Devon oxen, owned by Enos Lee, President of the New York State Farm Bureau Federation. The prairie schooners which followed the old wagon represented middle-western and southern states which are active in the farmers' campaign for more economy and efficiency in government. Each wagon carried blank for membership in the Lower Taxes—Less Legislation League. More than 50,000 names were signed the day of the parade.

STYLE

IT isn't so easy to explain style. The jazz ideas don't make style. On the contrary, style is that something in clothes that gets over the impression of correctness. You see it in the lines. In the cut. In the position of the buttons. In the shape of the lapels. In the width of the trousers.

When we say that Griffon Clothes have style, we mean good style—dignified style—dressy style.

Why don't you take a look at the suits styled in the Griffon manner?

Marion is noted throughout the State and the South as a City of Fine Homes. Probably no other city in the South of its population can boast of as many magnificent homes. While the Wright Residence is not as expensive as some in Marion, it is truly a splendid modern home. And what is more, it is situated on the crest of a beautiful hill, commanding an unsurpassed view, not only of the beautiful City of Marion, but of the valleys and mountains for many miles. Poetry has no place in advertisements. Otherwise, much could properly be said about the location of the Wright Home. But you knew Mr. Wright, and loved him. And he loved you. You know that when he built a home for himself and family that he not only built wisely, but selected the best location he could find. Some have mentioned the fact that in order to reach this beautiful home it is necessary to pass some humble cottages. But what did that mean to George W. Wright? He loved the rich and the poor alike. Besides, the unparalleled view from this quiet spot on "The Hill" compensates for many disadvantages, if there are such.

As stated, the land around this beautiful home has been subdivided into a number of beautiful home sites, thus affording an opportunity of many others to erect homes on the "GEORGE WRIGHT HILL". These are really beautiful residence lots, and probably the nearest available residence lots available to the business center of Marion.

REASON FOR SELLING.

Most of those who will read this advertisement know that it is desirable, if not in fact necessary, to sell this property for the purpose of settling the estate of the late Mr. Wright. It is believed that many of Mr. Wright's thousands of friends and especially the members of the Order which he honored and by which he was honored, will cooperate with his heirs in making this property sell for as nearly its value as possible. No one expects the property to sell for more than its reasonable value, or even its full value.

THE STUDEBAKER Light-Six—a history maker—the first fine six-cylinder car under 3,000 pounds at a four-cylinder price.

A car with followers, imitators and adapters by the score—but with no rival in quality, popularity or sales volume. It is still the Leader!

A car built to fulfill the ideal of producing the greatest automobile value in the $1,000 field—the car which started the stampede from fours to sixes.

A car with a specially designed offset valve motor of remarkable quietness, economy, freedom from vibration—and with tenacious resourcefulness of power on the hills, the straightaway and the pickup!

A car comfortable, roomy, good-looking, very easy to handle on the road, in traffic or in parking—long-lived, low in first cost and especially low in up-keep costs. The market's one best bargain for the man who wants all the car he can get at about $1,000.

A car that is an investment, not an expense, because it can be bought on very liberal terms, sold or traded in at a very high resale value on a market always ready and waiting for a used Light-Six Studebaker—its popularity and demand as a used car are the most convincing evidence of its goodness as an automobile.

LOW RATES AND LIBERAL USE IS AIM ON THE ELECTRIC FARM

Minnesota Experimenters Suggest Consumption of 300 KWH Per Month, and Set Up Rate of Five Cents Per KWH After Fixed Charges.

To induce farmers who electrify their farms to use as much as 300 kilowatt hours of energy a month, by reason of attractive rate schedules, is one of the basic objects of the experimental farm transmission line now in operation outside the city of Red Wing, Minn. On most farms where electric energy is supplied by a power company, the farmer seldom uses over 30 or 35 kilowatt hours of energy per month—a rather startling difference between present practice and hoped-for accomplishment.

In that gap between 30 kilowatt hours and 300 kilowatt hours lies the hidden reason why electric energy for farm use, when provided by a power company, has heretofore been an economic failure, according to the promoters of the Red Wing experiment.

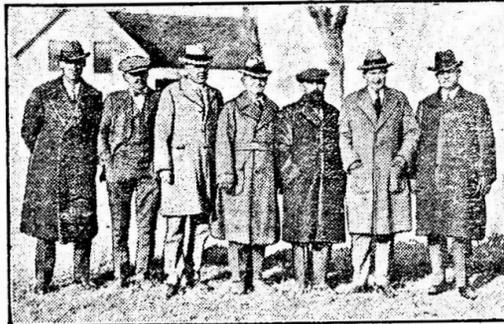

Speaking for the joint committee which is in charge of the farm line extending five miles out of Red Wing 25 kilowatt hours, showing that he is still fighting to keep under this minimum.

Low Rates for Large Usage

Mr. Stuart then showed how the carefully studied rate tentatively established for the Red Wing experimental line is expected to operate by contrast with rates just alluded to. Having determined an equitable fixed charge for each customer of $6.90 a month, covering insurance, depreciation, maintenance of the line, taxes and overhead expenses, the energy rate was made low. It is 5 cents per kilowatt hour for the first 30 kilowatt hours, and 3 cents per kilowatt hour for the excess.

Under these rates it develops that the farmer who seeks to secure electric energy solely for electric lights and nothing else has necessarily and unavoidably taken on an expensive proposition. But, if he uses electric energy and serving eighteen typical farms, Charles F. Stuart, assistant to the vice-president and general manager of the Northern States Power Company, which built the line, told of an investigation just made of more than thirty existing farm lines, in various localities, which serve 1,452 customers.

COMMITTEE BACKING MINNESOTA LINE

Why Farm Lines Haven't Paid

"It was found," he said, "that every one of these farm lines was losing money. The reason why was soon made all-apparent, for the average consumption for these 1,452 farmers was only 28.7 kilowatt hours per month, which is less than the average city resident customer uses. It seems probable that this low consumption is due to two factors, one being rate structures not inviting to liberal use of current and the second being that the farmer never has been shown how to use electricity liberally to his own advantage.

"Farmers have financed the building of rural lines and deeded them over to the power companies, which usually charge at least 12 cents per kilowatt hour for the first hundred kilowatt hours, with a minimum bill of $5 a month for the next hundred kilowatt hours, at a step 1 cent lower, and the excess perhaps at a further 1 cent reduction.

"These rates are not exorbitant, but do not invite the progressive farmer to a liberal consumption, in that the farmer never gets down to cheap electricity, no matter how much he uses. "Take a rate of 100 kilowatt hours per month at 12 cents net, with a minimum charge of $5 per month. A study of lines with this rate reveals that the farmer makes very sure never to exceed his minimum bill. His $5 entitles him to approximately 41 kilowatt hours, but his average consumption is about 35, showing that he is determined never to go over his minimum.

"Where the minimum bill is $3 per month, his consumption is held under for various other purposes, so that his total consumption increases, and thereby the benefit resulting from the electric energy on his farm also presumably increases, it becomes worthwhile. The reason for this was shown by an imaginary case, worked out by Mr. Stuart.

Cost Per Kilowatt Hour Decreases

It assumed that a farmer used 20 kilowatt hours per month, at the energy rate established for the Red Wing line. This would cost him the fixed charge of $6.90 plus $1 for the energy, a total of $7.90, or 39.5 cents per kilowatt hour. But if he used 50 kilowatt hours per month, his total bill would amount to only $9, or 18 cents per kilowatt hour. If he used 100 kilowatt hours, his bill would be only $10.50, which is 10.5 cents per kilowatt hour; and if he used 300 kilowatt hours, his bill would amount to $16.50 or 5.5 cents per kilowatt hour.

"This," said Mr. Stuart, "is what we call a rate schedule which would invite, rather than prohibit, the liberal use of electric energy."

As to Effective Usages

The practical trout of such a rate is one of the two big objectives of the Red Wing experiment. The second is a serious study of the application of electricity to agriculture.

"This dove-tails into the other objective in a very practical manner. "We realized," said Mr. Stuart, "that there would be no common sense in getting the farmer to consume a large amount of electric energy just to earn a low kilowatt-hour rate, and that the job was ours to show him how to use, to his own advantage, some ten times as much energy as he now consumes. We have got to find that out, and we must not do it at the expense of the farmer."

This part of the Red Wing investigation is now being followed through with every indication of some interesting results, although it is still too early, the joint committee declares, to try to indicate these results.

MOTORS ARE HUMMING ON RED WING FARMS

Trial Electric Line in Minnesota Is Operating—The Farm Machinery Question.

These are busy days on the eighteen farms lying five miles out from Red Wing, Minn., where a rural electric transmission line has been put into operation to determine by a scientific investigation the economic possibilities of electricity in agriculture. Within the last few weeks a great deal of special apparatus for use on these farms by electric energy has arrived and been put into service.

The current on the trial line was turned on for the first time on Christmas eve. At that time, however, the installation and wiring on the different farms provided only for electric lights. No farm equipment for electrical operation was installed until March 15.

Equipment Arriving Daily During March and April, however, almost every train brought some new piece of equipment into Red Wing, and these utensils were installed as rapidly as possible.

The joint committee which is conducting this experiment consists of four farmers, two power company representatives and the dean of the Minnesota College of Agriculture. The chairman is James F. Reed, president of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation and vice president of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

Manufacturers of electrical equipment and of farm machinery are watching this enterprise with keen eyes. Some of the biggest of these companies are co-operating by furnishing equipment; others are taking note of the progress and method of procedure. The General Electric Company sent one of its engineers all the way from its headquarters at Schenectady, N. Y., to inspect the trial line and observe all that is being done.

Electricity and Eggs Again

Eighty eggs a day, instead of a niggardly eight, is what the hens of a Wisconsin poultryman are doing in the winter since the electric lighting of the poultry house. From all accounts, electricity has assuredly uncovered the hidden energy of the hen population.

Pres. Eliot Shows How to Live to 90

CHARLES W. ELIOT, President Emeritus of Harvard University, who recently celebrated his ninety-ninth birthday, gives the following recipe for adding a full score of years to the Biblical three score years and ten:

"How to live long—Go to church. Keep a clean heart and a good conscience. Give your mind exercise, as well as your body, really think. Exercise regularly, eat in moderation, take a full allowance of sleep. Avoid indulgence in luxuries and the habitual use of any drug whatsoever—not only of alcohol, but of tobacco, tea and coffee."

President Eliot holds first position among America's "grand old men." He has witnessed in his life the development of railways, steamships, submarines, aeroplanes, breech-loading guns, the telegraph, telephone, two-cent postage, of radio, automobiles, the X-ray, elevators and skyscrapers. He was President of Harvard when the Hohenzollerns founded the German Empire.

BRIDGE PARTY

Miss Kathleen Gwys, who has just returned to her home after spending the winter in Peabody Conservatory of Music, gave a progressive Bridge Party at the home of her parents, Saturday morning, in honor of Miss Agnes Bell, one of her school mates. Twelve tables were arranged for the guests who were invited from Chilhowie, Rural Retreat, Chatham Hill and Marion. The house was decorated with a pink, white and yellow color scheme with the cut flowers and potted plants which were used as decorations through the house. Dainty refreshments were served to the guests, Miss Gwyn assisted by several of her friends.

Musical Recital.

On Thursday evening, June 5th, the Court Square Theatre was well-filled with relatives and friends of the members of Miss Edna Brown's music class. The occasion was the Annual Recital.

Even the casual observer could note the keen interest manifested in the countenances of those present and concluded that a rare treat was in store. His highest expectations were fully met in the varied, well-planned program that followed. In addition to the large number of splendidly trained solos, there were duets, choruses, orchestra numbers and the kindergartens class.

The young folks all performed in a manner reflecting great credit upon their teacher and promising to the community some splendid musicians for the future.

Special interest was shown in the "Rhythm Orchestra" and kindergartens class, which were new features of the program. Two of the class of four kindergartners had continued their work the entire year and performed beautifully on the piano in both solo and duet numbers. The drill work of the class received hearty applause.

As an instructor in music Miss Brown has no superior in pains taking care and thoroughness. Her many friends wish for her continued success in her work with and for the children of our town.

DEATH OF WILLIAM SMITH

Mr. William Smith, colored passed from the scenes of earth into eternity June 6, at 11:30 o'clock P. M.

He had only been confined to his home and bed three days having taken sick at the Marion Hotel where he had been employed for a quarter of a century. His death was very unexpected and in quite a shock to all, both family and community.

He was born in Marion, Smyth County, Virginia, September 15, 1874 and departed this life at his home on Railroad Avenue, June 6, 1924, aged 49 years, 8 months, 21 days.

He was a quiet, peaceable, industrious young man, ever up and doing never idle. He was strictly honest, polite and courteous. A splendid citizen and a good neighbor. He was a member of the Mt. Pleasant church of this place having joined it 30 years ago.

He was also a charter member of Holston Lodge No. 39 G. N. O. of O. F. and at the time of his death was the honored Treasurer of this Fraternity which position of trust he held for several consecutive years. His funeral took place Monday at the Mt. Pleasant M. E. church in charge of pastor Haley.

The funeral obsequy proper was delivered by Rev. F. D. Johnson of Abingdon, eulogistic remarks were made by pastor Haley, Revs. W. H. Mitchell, A. Lash of Northfork, W. Va., and L. N. Hamilton of Glade Spring.

He was buried with the honors of Holston Lodge of which he was a faithful member for years.

A beautiful solo was sung at the funeral by one of our public school teachers, Mrs. I. M. James. The evidence and esteem in which he was held was manifested by the large concourse of people that attended the funeral and the beautiful floral offerings that were given.

Among the out of town relatives that attended the funeral and burial was Mr. William Bundy and Mrs. Lillian Russell, also Mrs. Charlie Seals and Mrs. Fannie Seals and Rev. L. N. Hamilton of Glade Springs, friends of the deceased and family. He was buried in Round Hill Cemetery. Peace be to his ashes.

He leaves to mourn their loss four brothers, Henry, Tom, Dave and John. Also three sisters, Mrs. Nellie Russell, Mrs. Susie Thompson, and Mrs. Lillian Russell, other relatives and a host of friends—both colored and white.

The following Resolutions are given by the lodge in token also of the love we have for one Brother.

Whereas, we the officers and members of Holston Lodge No. 3911 Grand United Order of Odd Fellows of Marion, Va., feel keenly the loss of our beloved brother and honored Treasurer, and whereas a link in our chain has been broken by the passing of Brother William Smith that can never be mended and whereas we bow with tearful eyes and sad hearts realizing the solemnness of death and the brevity of life. Yet we know that our brother is in the hands of Him who is to wise to err and to merciful to be unkind.

Therefore be it Resolved, That we bow in humble submission to the will of our Heavenly Father and say "Thy will be done in Earth as it is in Heaven."

Resolved Second. That we have the tenderest sympathy for the bereaved family and that we commend them to Him who said "Weeping may endure for a night but joy cometh in the morning."

Resolved Third. That a copy of these resolutions be given to the family and a copy be filed in the Lodge Room.
