Kiwanians Entertain Ladies

The Marion Kiwanians had one of their old time meetings Tuesday night in their regular meeting place, down at "Iky's" and it was really one of the best they have had in a long time. Everything went along fine, including the food and fun so ably and efficiently handled by Charles Lincoln, Sr., and James D. Tate. Kiwanian Tate, gave the order of the radio program which was one full of topics of the day including the main topics of the day, all rather new subjects, in fact subjects which have not been thought of in the manner they were presented. The radio service was in excellent condition and the announcer was very keen in presenting things of great interest locally. Beattie Gwyn won the special attendance prize, a ten penny nail, used mainly for the purpose of hanging clothes on, while B. E. Copenhaver won the regular attendance prize, a very necessary addition to his moving equipment, a safety razor.
 Preston Collins, nearly had the pleasure of parting with the price of a box of candy, but due to the fact that the contents, composed of blocks of wood, could not be used for anything but filling for club sandwiches or stacking fires, he was not compelled to pay the regular price of a box of candy of that size.
 Several guests from out of town were present, and some of the members brought as many as four ladies, though no one was permitted to bring more than one wife. All of the ladies enjoyed the program and things were going smoothly until the Grievance Committee, presented a charge which ended in a mock trial. Due to the fact that several of the leading witnesses, character and otherwise, were not present and the completion of the trial was postponed indefinitely, thus suspending final action of the court. A. T. Lincoln, ably took the part of the accused, J. P. Buchanan and George F. Cook, defended him while W. R. D. Moncure and C. H. Funk, handled the Commonwealth's side of the case. This is a notable case as it will naturally go down in history of Kiwanis as the only or possibly the first trial presented to women jurors. Sheriff Kent assisted Preston Collins very ably in keeping order, while Judge Collins, vigorously overruled the objections of either side, with his usual impartial manner. This trial completed the program of one of the best ladies night programs it has been the good fortune of the Marion Club to present.

To Be Dedicated Next Sunday.

LARGE CROWD EXPECTED FOR DEDICATION SERVICE.

Reports coming in indicate that a record breaking crowd will be in attendance at the dedication services of the Presbyterian church next Sunday. Visitors from Radford and westward to Bristol as well as north and south of Marion have announced their intention of coming. The large auditorium which was designed with the view of accommodating the largest union congregations likely to assemble in Marion will probably be well filled, but it is hoped that seats can be found for all who come.
 The services will start at 10:30 instead of eleven o'clock so as to allow for the extra length and let the folks out not far from the usual hour. The program as arranged includes musical numbers by the choir, a violin selection by Miss Kerrick of Marion College, addresses from representatives of other denominations in town, and sermon and the dedicatory ceremony by Rev. W. W. Moore, D. D. President of Union Theological Seminary. Dr. Moore will also preach at the night service.
 The finishing touches are now being put on the organ and interior of the auditorium and all will be in readiness Sunday morning.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

Whereas: God in His infinite wisdom has taken to himself our friend and co-worker, Mrs. Jas. A. Groseclose, who went from us March 27, we the Ladies Aid Society of Mt. Carmel church do resolve:

First. That in her going our Society has lost a most faithful member and we desire to express our sense of great loss and deep appreciation of Mrs. Groseclose's life so thoroughly imbued with the strongest religious instincts that it effected all who were privileged to come in contact with it.
 Second. That we shall miss her unfeeling interest, wise council and strong personal influence so helpful to the whole community.
 Third. That we cherish the memory and imitate the example of one whose connections so prompted her life that one could not come in contact with her without feeling her quiet influence.
 Fourth. That we thank God for her rare usefulness and those outstanding virtues, patience, cheerfulness, and christian humility that constantly radiated from her life.
 It can be truthfully said she was great in Christian character.
 Fifth. That to the bereaved family and friends we extend the deep sympathy of this Society and commend them to our heavenly Father, "who doeth all things well."
 Sixth. That this tribute be spread on our minutes sent to the County Papers and the bereaved family; for whom our hearts go out in prayer and deep sympathy.

MRS. S. D. SCOTT,
MRS. G. B. McDONALD,

Plans For The New Hotel.

The Building Committee of the new Marion Hotel is making fine progress and will have definite plans to submit to the public in a few days. It is their plan to have a picture of the proposed new hotel in the next week's issue of the Democrat and Marion News. As soon as the Building Committee reports on the plans and specifications for the new building, the Finance and Prospectus Committee will then be able to submit to the public a prospectus of the costs of construction and the amount of stock to be offered for sale to the public. The promoters are hard at work and there will be no unnecessary delay. The Committee will report to the public on Monday, April 14th, and a definite campaign will be launched on that day for the sale of stock. The public interest in this matter has been very gratifying and it is the general consensus of opinion that the construction of a new hotel is the most progressive and forward looking undertaking which the people of Marion have entered upon for a long time.

DEATH OF MRS. J. A. GROSE-CLOSE.

The friends and relatives were startled to hear of the death of Mrs. James A. Groseclose, at her home in Mt. Carmel.

Mrs. Groseclose was born March 29, 1863, in Marion and before her marriage was Miss Annie Ulmberger. She was married to Mr. Groseclose December 25, 1898 and was 56 years of age at the time of her death. Mrs. Groseclose was apparently well at the time of retiring but was stricken with heart failure and died at 5:30 A. M., Wednesday.

She was a member of the Mt. Carmel Methodist Episcopal Church South and was an active worker in church and Sunday School. Mrs. Groseclose is survived by her husband, Mr. James A. Groseclose, and Roy, Maiden, and Emile Groseclose, and Mrs. J. Ralph Stone, of Wytheville.

Funeral services were held at Mt. Carmel Saturday at 3:00 o'clock by her pastor, the Rev. M. Quisenberry. She was buried in the Mt. Carmel cemetery.

MRS. WILLIAM P. MCGINNIS.

Mrs. William P. McGinnis who wed before her marriage, Miss Mintie B. Bryant, was born October 20th, 1864 near Independence, Virginia.

She died at her home in Marion, Va., March 27th 1924, at the age of 59 years, five months and seven days. She followed on soon after her husband's death and was buried by his side in a beautiful spot at their old church home at Grant, Virginia.

Mrs. McGinnis was the mother of eight children, seven of whom are still living. They are Mr. W. L. McGinnis, New York, Mrs. W. J. Sisson, Pimberton, W. Va., Mrs. B. Grant Peking, China, Mrs. R. C. McGinnis, Kansas City, Kan., Mr. Ulmer McGinnis Pittsburg, Pa., Miss Druella McGinnis Marion, Va., and Mr. T. B. McGinnis Marion, Va.

During all the years of Mrs. McGinnis married life she was a faithful wife, a loving and sacrificing mother and a devoted and consistent christian. She was a member of the Marion Baptist church and none were more faithful in attendance on the church services and more ready to serve in the church activities with time strength and money. She will be missed by her church people, her friends and her neighbors, but will not be forgotten.

WOMAN'S CLUB.

"Who are club women" asked Mrs. J. Allison Hodges, president of the Virginia Federation of Women's Clubs, guest yesterday afternoon of the Lynchburg Woman's Club, when she spoke on club work in the state. She answered her own question:

"They are the women who demanded a children's bureau at Washington, and got it; who worked for compulsory education laws until 15 states now have them; who fought night work for children until 42 states prohibited; who originated traveling libraries of good reading for cross-road county school-houses, and bore all the expense until the state took it over a few years ago; who demanded more and more playgrounds when statistics proved the lessened delinquency of children frequenting playgrounds; who fought the proximity of saloons and public dance halls. In fact, they are the organized mothers fighting for the character and standards of our children."

Women of the Marion Club does not these wonderful achievements of the Virginia Federation inspire you to help bring greater things to pass? If to want you attend the meetings the first Friday in each month? You are needed please come.

The Building Boom Opens.

SCORES OF BUILDING OPERA-TIONS COMMENCE WITH THE COMING OF GOOD WEATHER.

Everyone has been promising that with the coming of spring weather there would commence in Marion such a building boom as the Town has never experienced before, and the prediction is being more than realized.

In every part of the Town is to be seen workmen and the sound of building implements is to be heard on every side. There were a large number of operations just waiting for suitable weather to commence, and this weather seems have come with a rush last week and the work has commenced. We shall at this time attempt to give but a very brief mention of some of the many works that are going on, and shall as the work progresses, give more detailed description of the buildings under construction.

The wide-awake and hustling contracting firm of Rogers & Leventhal have a number of contracts which with their usual energy they are pushing ahead with. Up on Main Street they have demolished the ugly and antiquated building that has served as headquarters of the Appalachian Power Company, and on the same site are now at work on the concrete foundations for the new building; this, while not a very pretentious one as to size will be a very serviceable one, 38x55, built of brick and concrete, even the partitions being of brick. A very handsome plate glass front ornamental, will be put in. While the building is only one story the pitch is very high; the roof is to be of metal.

Another contract that this firm is pushing is the work on the Methodist Sunday School building. The foundation work on this building is now nearly completed; this will be one of the most imposing structures in the Town when finished. 48x88, three stories and sub-base, built of brick and trimmed with stone, with a metal roofing. The contractors have been delayed much with the work on this building owing to the exceeding bad weather of the past winter.

But still this firm is not through; they have the contract for the building of the Gymnasium for the Marion College, and also for the additional wing that is being added to the College proper. This like all the work done by this firm is to be of the most substantial construction; the gymnasium is to be 66x89, constructed of brick with stone trimming, while the wing of the College is 34x68, four stories, both buildings with metal roofs and oak floors and all the trimmings in keeping.

While these public building are in the hands of these gentlemen they also have the contract for re-modelling the handsome home of Mr. Geo. F. Cook on Cherry Street, and from all reports that have come to us it will be one of the handsomest in the Town when completed. We shall give a more detailed account of this elegant residence at a future date.

We have given above just a brief mention of the work in charge of the contracting firm of Rogers & Leventhal; but this is by no means all of the building that going on in Marion today. Mr. George A. Collins has had the old home on Main Street torn down and on the site of the old home he is making arrangements now for the laying of the foundation of a very handsome and commodious residence, but it is to early in the work to give a description of it at this time.

In the rear of the old Jackson hotel building Mr. E. G. Goolsby is having a brick office building erected, about 36x80 feet, and on the second floor will be several nice apartment rooms which will be utilized as living rooms. This will be a nice and substantial building and add greatly to the appearance of this section of the Town.

Out in the Royal Oak Heights building operations on several of the palatial residences that will added attractiveness to this beautiful section are being commenced. Mr. C. C. Lincoln, Sr., is having the ground levelled and graded for his home, while Mr. E. K. Coyner is commencing work on the foundations of the new home.

Among other residential notes we may add that Prof. W. L. Allen has recently brought the Dr. R. H. Phipps home on West Main St., and took possession last week. This is one of the handsome homes of the town and is in one of the best residential sections.

This is but a few of the building notes we observed the present week, but there are many others coming, for the Town will build this year in every direction. A new Marion is coming, better, bigger with more energy, more push, more business than has ever been known in the history of the Town. We will keep you posted as the new details arrive. Watch Marion grow.

Among the other improvements that we might note is the work on the Town Water System, which commenced on Tuesday morning. The contract for the work has been let to a Tenn., contracting firm, and they arrived in town Monday with a large force of laborers, and the work will be pushed forward as rapidly as possible.

The contract for putting in the new water system was awarded to The Mack Contracting Co. of Johnson City, Tenn. Several bids were received and each one was given due consideration by the whole council, the above parties being the lowest bidders. This Company is composed of E. S. and A. E. McCorkle and are experienced men in this kind of work having been in business for 30 years. The contract calls for work to be completed within 120 days from April 1st.

Nine tables of progressive Forty-two were arranged for both parties at which about seventy-five of her friends were present. WHAT VIRGINIA PRODUCES.

The final reports of the U. S. Department of Agriculture show that Virginia ranks as one of the most important agricultural States in the Union according to Henry M. Taylor, Statistician for Virginia. Owing to the great diversity of industries in the State the importance of agriculture is sometimes overlooked, so the statistics used in this article should be of great interest to all Virginians.

Virginia is the largest producer of early potatoes. The 1923 crop of 9,230,000 bushels was more than a third of the total early crop produced in the United States. This crop was valued at $14,214,000 and is now the second most important money crop.

Virginia ships nearly one half of the commercial spinach crop grown in the entire country. The shipment of 3208 cars for the 1923 season was 43 per cent of the total number of cars shipped in the United States. This crop which is grown on a small acreage in the Norfolk section, was valued at $1,553,000.

Virginia is the largest shipper of sweet potatoes, usually shipping more than 30 per cent of the total carlot movement for the entire country. Approximately 5,400 cars of the 1923 crop have been shipped. The sweet potato crop was valued at $5,544,000.

Virginia ranked second in the production of peanuts in 1923. This crop, which is only grown in eleven counties in the southwestern part of the State, amounted to 122,760,000 pounds valued a $7,979,000.

Virginia is the third largest producer of tobacco. This is the most important money crop grown in the State. The 1923 crop brought the growers nearly $27,000,000.

Virginia ranks third among all the States in the Union in the number of cars of apples shipped. Although the 1923 crop was reduced by frost damage last spring more than 9,000 cars have been shipped. Washington and New York are the only States that surpass Virginia in the production of commercial apples. The 1923 commercial crop was valued at $5,735,000.

Virginia produced more cotton per acre in 1923 than any other State. This crop is grown in only twelve counties, but was valued at $8,000,000.

HENS GET BOTH HEAT AND LIGHT

Jersey Poultryman Reaps Practical Benefit From Modern Luxuries for His Chicks.

Comfort for the hens! And, although they probably don't realize it, an incitement to scratch harder, exercise more, lay a larger number of eggs in the dull season of the year.

This is what has been accomplished on the Maplewood Poultry Farm of Henry M. Reeve, at Maplewood, N. J., by the use of electric lights and steam heat in the hen house. The hen house is 20 by 20 feet and provided with a steam radiator for use during the early spring brooding period. This prevents the newly hatched chicks from catching cold before they have begun to approach maturity.

Mr. Reeve does not contend that by using electric lights the egg yield of each hen is increased per year, although this may be the case, but he does find that the egg yield is more evenly distributed throughout the year, so that at no season is he short of eggs. The lights are turned on beginning about October 1 and are continued every evening until about the middle of March.

He keeps the hens on a regular twelve hour schedule by means of the electric lights. Whatever period of time the natural day lacks of being twelve hours he makes up with the electric lights. If there are only ten hours of natural light he turns on the electric lights for two hours. If day-light lasts eleven hours, then he turns on the lights for one hour.

The effect of the lights, he has found, is apparently to shorten the moulting period of the hens and thus prolong the egg laying period. Chickens which would ordinarily be in a heavy moult by October 1 have continued laying eggs through December if placed in a hen house lighted by electric lights.

Before making use of electric lights Mr. Reeve estimated his egg yield on January 1 of each year as about 33-1-3 per cent. With the aid of electric lights he estimates that his egg yield on November 1 is now about 40 per cent, which continues throughout the winter season, when normal production would be low. If the egg yield in the summer remains normal, he secures a certain increase in production for the year and also a steady rate of production, the egg yield in the winter tending to approach that of the summer.

The lights in the scratch pen consist of two fifty-watt Mazda lamps with shallow dome porcelain enamel reflectors.

MINNESOTA EXPERIMENT

Trial Power Line at Red Wing Is Working, With Many Uses for Electricity.

Engineers, educators and agricultural workers who are backing the experimental farm transmission line extending from Red Wing, Minn., five miles into the country, are planning an exceedingly broad program of electrical applications to farming, which will be studied by means of this transmission line. The line itself is now in operation, and the investigation which it makes possible has just begun.

Several distinct phases of electricity on the farm are being worked out under the leadership of Prof. E. A. Stewart, project director of the University of Minnesota Agricultural College. The application to be made of electricity to poultry raising is typical as to thoroughness.

The investigators will attempt to demonstrate electrical poultry raising by means of the electric incubator, electric brooder, electricly-lighted henhouse and electric refrigerator. The program includes the application of electricity to preparing the ground, planting the grain and raising the rees for the chickens, as well as the harvesting of the crops and preparations of the grains after harvesting.

The Northern States Power Company, which has built the experimental line, has now built a second line in South Dakota under a similar arrangement and for the same general purpose. The South Dakota co-operative committee in charge consists of J. W. Batcheller, president, South Dakota Farmers' Union; C. W. Pugsley, president, South Dakota College of Agriculture, Brookings; E. W. Anderson, farmer, Clark county; John Frieberg, farmer, Clay county; Dr. J. T. E. Dinwoodie, editor, Dakota Farmer; Ben Mekvold, farmer, Minnehaha county; O. A. Rofely, manager, Sioux Falls Division of Northern States Power Company.

TWO FASHIONABLE SILHOUETTES

The silhouette is the thing, sharing importance with the fabric and trimming of the frock. To the left is one of the colorful new Algerian frocks, the plain crepe being in capary color and the applied bodice and panel being in almost every color, but exquisitely blended. The closing is at the left side. A narrow band of fur finishes the round neck and long sleeves, but the fancy of the wearer dictates the selection of this decorative note. Medium size requires 3 3/4 yards 40-inch plain and 1 1/2 yards 36-inch figured material.

Those who do homage to the sheath frock will find the second design dear to the heart of the well-dressed Parisienne. It is developed in dark blue Poiret twill trimmed with fancy braid and novelty buttons. The sleeves may be shortened if preferred, and the collar omitted, with the neck finished in square instead of round outline. Medium size requires 3 1/2 yards 54-inch material, with 3 3/4 yards of braid to trim.

We can tell you all about Balloon tires

NOW you may judge for yourself the importance of this great automotive development—and its value to you.

While we tell you that Firestone Balloon Gum-Dipped Cords are giving motorists marvelous comfort with long mileage, perfect safety with fuel economy, we are ready to back up these statements with an amazing demonstration in a Balloon-equipped car.

You may select your own test street—the worst in town if you wish. You may sit behind the wheel yourself and test the easy steering and perfect braking control of the Balloon-tired car.

The Firestone Balloon Gum-Dipped Cord is not merely an oversize tire. It has DOUBLE the usual air capacity and operates on just HALF the usual air pressure. No other tire has such extreme flexibility of carcass and tread. No other tire affords such comfort and car protection.

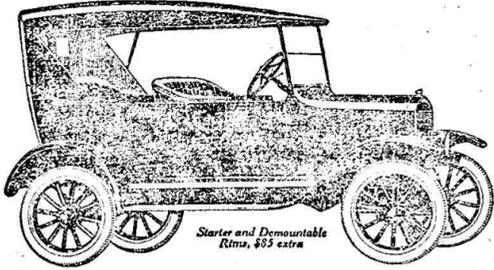

It is the special Firestone process of Gum-Dipping that makes this thin sidewall, double air capacity, construction practicable. The cords are thoroughly saturated with pure rubber. Besides adding great strength and toughness, this process gives freedom from friction between cords and plies and prevents internal heat and resultant brittleness.

Firestone Balloon Gum-Dipped Cords give ample fender clearance; do not increase gear ratio; do not change the speed of the car; do not cut down power; do not increase fuel consumption; do not decrease tire mileage.

We have complete stocks of Firestone Balloon Gum-Dipped Cords and special Steam-Welded Tubes and our service men know exactly how to make the necessary change-overs. If you want the advantages of the true Balloon tire—the tire which has been standardized and accepted by leading car manufacturers, come to us for facts regarding their application to your car.

IN MEMORY

In memory of Roy William Blankenbaker who was born November 25th 1923 and departed this life February 26th 1924, being 3 months and 1 day old. He was the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Blankenbaker. The funeral services were conducted at the home of his parents by Rev. James R. Edwards, pastor of the Baptist Church Marion, Va. His little body was laid to rest at Rural Retreat, Va.

Dear Roy how we miss you
As the days go swiftly by,
And we never can forget you
No matter how hard we try.

The place you left is vacant
Which no other one can fill;
The little fern it held so snugly
Is sleeping on the hill.

The daisies on the mound
They nod as if asleep.
Through pain and wind and sunshine
Their little watch they keep.

Sleep on, sleep on little Roy
For we know that you're at rest;
When we think of how you suffered,
Then we know that God did best.

You are gone but not forgotten
Never shall your memory fade,
Sweet thoughts shall ever linger
Around the grave where you were laid.

LLOYD GEORGE SAYS RETURN TO LIGHT WINES AND BEER IS WORST FROM OF REPEAL.

Former Premier David Lloyd George in a speech in London, March 4, paid the following tribute to prohibition's contribution to the welfare of the American people:
America is the country which got the most out of the great war—not gold, but prohibition.
I saw a little of prohibition, continued the former prime minister, I went to America with the usual European prejudice against it, hearing that it was demoralizing America and that there was more liquor there than ever.
That is not true—not in the least. There are some men who get it, but I believe it is mostly very bad liquor. Some have already been poisoned and others are getting frightened for fear that their turn will be next.
That generation will disappear. The vast majority are not drinking. The worst form of repeal that is threatened is a return to light wines and beer, but they will never have saloons again.
The only unemployed in America are the gamblers. The children of Americans never saw such times as they have now.

WILLIAM ROY HARRIS.

The many friends of Wm. Roy Harris were grieved to learn of his death at his home on the Dixie Highway south of Orlando, Thursday evening, February 28th, 6:15 P. M. at the age of 25 years.

Funeral services were held Saturday morning at Pine Castle Baptist church, conducted by Rev. J. B. Webb, interment in Greenwood cemetery, charge of Carey Hand. Besides a host of friends he leaves to mourn his loss his wife and son, W. R., Jr., besides a mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Harris, two sisters, Mrs. Essie Johnson and Stella Harris, one brother, Ralph Harris, all of this place, who were at his bedside at the time of his death.

Mr. Harris was a young man of sterling qualities. Was connected with the American Railway and Express Company until his failing health, more than a year ago, and since that time did extensive traveling through the north and west, but had been at his home for the past five months.

Mrs. Wm. Roy Harris will be remembered as Miss Lottie L. Pierce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Pierce, of Marion, Va., who were with them constantly since their return here early this winter.—Pine Castle (Fla.) Ex.

What's in a name?

Fifty-four years ago, in the infant days of a new industry, a group of far-sighted men organized a company to bring order out of chaos.

They called their enterprise Standard Oil Company because they meant to make it standard.

Today the final argument for less well-known petroleum products is the promise that "You will find this as good as 'Standard'."

"Standard" gasoline is standard, was the standard yesterday and will be the standard tomorrow, "Standard" Polarine sets the standard by which other good lubricating oils are made.

The "Standard" practice of charging a narrow margin of profit and getting a return through volume of sales has never changed.

Buy "Standard" gasoline, "Standard" Polarine oils, "Standard" kerosene or any other "Standard" products if you want certainty of performance.

ACT QUICKLY

Do the right thing at the right time.
Act quickly in time of danger.
In time of kidney danger, Doan's Pills are most effective.
Plenty of Marion evidence of their worth. Ask your neighbor!
Mrs. R. L. Williams, 30 Phipps Ave., Marion, gave the following statement February 10, 1919: "I have had severe attacks of kidney trouble that caused me a lot of suffering. My back was lame and sore and sharp shooting pains through the small of it hurt terribly. Sometimes I had dizzy spells and then headaches followed. I had read of Doan's Pills and got a box. They cured me of the attack. Since then, I have used Doan's whenever I have felt the need of a kidney medicine."
On March 26, 1923, Mrs. Williams added: "I have always been helped by Doan's when I have had any kidney trouble."

Make This Your Thrift Year

People everywhere are beginning to realize the importance of a practical Thrift Plan. They know that what they will have in after years depends largely on how definitely and carefully they plan now—how steadfastly they take advantage of every opportunity to save a little here and there until the small savings have grown to a surprisingly large amount.

And so it is, that in the Thrift Plan of many successful people whom you know, you not only find a regular plan of saving but also a very definite plan of investing. For, while saving is the first step in any Thrift Plan, wise investing is equally as important in order to get the most out of what already is saved.

That is the reason for the increasing number of thrifty people in this community who are investing the money they save regularly in the 7 per cent First Preferred Stock of the Appalacian Power Company—a good reason why you, too, will find it attractive as an opportunity to get 7 per cent on every dollar as you save it.
