THERE IS NO DEATH.

There is no death! The stars go down
To rise upon some fairer shore;
And bright in Heaven's jeweled crown
They shine for evermore.

There is no death! The dust we tread
Shall change beneath the summer showers.

To golden grain or mellow fruit,
Or rainbow-tipped flowers.

The granite rocks disorganize
To feed the hungry moss they rear;
The forest trees drink daily life
From out the viewless air.

There is no death! The leaves may fall,
The flowers may fade and pass away!
They only wait through wintry hours
The coming of the May.

There is no death! An angel form
Walks o'er the earth with silent tread,
He bears our best loved things away,
And then we call them "dead!"

He leaves our hearts all desolate
He plucks our fairest, sweetest flowers,
Transplanted into bliss, they now
Adorn immortal bowers.

That bird-like voice, whose joyous notes
Made glad these scenes of sin and strife,
Sings now an everlasting song
Amid the trees of life.

And where he sees a smile too bright,
Or heart too pure for sin or vice,
He bears it to that world of light,
To dwell in Paradise.

Born unto that undying life,
They leave us to come again,
With joy we welcome them—the same
Except in joy and pain.

And ever near us, though unseen,
The dear immortal spirits tread,
For them the boundless universe
Is life—they are not dead.

WHAT THE EXPRESS BROUGHT.

BY MARGARET BLOUNT.

With a roar and rattle, the six o'clock express train rushed across the bridge that spanned the narrow river on the Derwent Farm, near Concord, and Alice Derwent, the farmer's pretty, dark-eyed daughter, stood on the vine-shaded porch, looking after it with an unconscious sigh.

"So many come by you, so many go by you, out into the great, wide, beautiful world," she thought, as she gazed over the fertile valley farm and out through the break in the circling blue mountains, from whence a trail of white smoke came floating back. "I wonder if you will ever bring me anything? or carry me away? or must I live my life out to the end, shut in by these quiet hills?"

"Supper ready, mother?" called out the hearty-looking farmer, halting in the glow of the bright firelight on the open hearth, as he came in from foddering the stock, followed by his son Thomas, who was the living, breathing image of his sire.

"To be sure it is," replied his bustling little wife, who had just such eyes and hair as bonny Alice, and just the same sweet smile. "Isn't it always ready, father, when the train goes by? Come Alice?"

"Alice is out there looking for her fortune, mother," said Tom. "It is coming by that train. I know all about it."

Alice smiled and shook her head at her saucy brother, as she took her seat at her father's side.

Little did any of them think how many a true word is spoken in jest, or that the fortune which the evening express was to bring the daughter of the house was even then nearing their hospitable door.

"I've worked like a beaver all day long, Martha, and Tom has kept pace with me, and both said, as we came home, that we were too tired to eat. But this is comfort! It would be hard to see anything much pleasanter than this nice, tidy kitchen, and just as hard to find any of their French cooks that can beat you and Alice, my dear," said Elihu Derwent, glancing thankfully at the blazing fire, the table laid so neatly, the tempting meal of batter-cakes and maple syrup, wheaten bread and golden butter, and a large platter of cold corned beef and vegetables, that was placed before the two hungry men.

Mrs. Derwent poured out the tea—strong, hot and fragrant.

"Squire Seaton, up in the big house yonder, don't often get such tea as this, with all his staff of servants," said Tom, looking across the valley to the brick-and-freestone palace of the one millionaire of the village.

"Poor man!" sighed Mrs. Derwent. "I do pity him! His wife and daughter dead, and his only son so wild and willful, and a wanderer all over the world. Only last week he told me, with tears in his eyes, that he had heard of his boy, and that he had been seen lately in Leadville, intoxicated and poorly-dressed, in a gambling saloon. Yet woe he woe there to him—and wrote kindly—he had disappeared. If it was our Tom, Elihu, I should just break my heart. Tom, if you ever do grow unsteady, and run away like Philip Seaton, you will give your mother her death-blow. Remember that!"

"Thank God, it isn't Tom, Martha! I'm sorry, too, for the man and for the boy. Mr. Seaton owns that he turned him out of his house, in New York, in a fit of anger, and that the boy swore he would never enter his doors again. Had temper on both sides, you see; and so—Why, Martha, what on earth is that?"

Farmer Derwent might well ask the question, and rush from the tea-table to the door, followed by his wondering wife and children.

A procession of four of his neighbors was coming up from his garden gate. At the gate stood a horse and a light express wagon, and from the wagon the four men had lifted an inanimate body, and were bearing it toward the house.

"The six o'clock express has run off the track, a mile or two up the valley," said Deacon Jones, as he and his two sons and his brother-in-law reached the porch with their senseless burden. "Ever so many people hurt, but able to go on as soon as they got righted. But this poor fellow is so nearly dead that we thought we had better bring him here, being as it was the nearest house, and send for the doctor. We knew that your wife could nurse him back into health again if any one could, Mr. Derwent."

"You're right there, neighbors. Bring him right in," said the farmer. His wife led the way to her best bedroom, next the parlor. Tom sprang on the back of his swift sorrel colt, and set off for the doctor.

Half an hour later, the supper dishes were washed and put away, and Alice Derwent sat pensively by the kitchen-fire, while her mother and father were busy with the doctor in the spare-room; and Tom, hurrying to and fro on their errands, stopped once or twice to inform her that the stranger was young and handsome, but dressed like a laborer, and that the doctor said "it was a near chance whether he lived or died."

Two weeks passed on. The doctor came and went each day; the neighbors far and near volunteered their services—all except Squire Seaton, who lived his usual secluded life in his great mansion, buried in his books, and knew nothing of the stranger who lay at death's door.

"Poor boy! Alice, I wish you would go in and sit beside him a while," said Mrs. Derwent, on the first evening of the third week of illness. "He is asleep now. If he wakes you can call me. If we only knew his people, I would send for them. I fear he will not last long."

Alice crept in, and took her place in the nurse's chair. Tears of pity dimmed her eyes as she looked at the wasted figure in the bed—the pale, thin face, the fast-closed eyes, the hollow temples under the waving brown hair.

"I wish his mother or father could come!" she said aloud. The heavy lids opened. Two deep-blue eyes looked at her imploringly. "My father?" whispered the sick man. "Bring him—tell him—I was coming—Seaton—Seaton—"

The faint voice died away—the eyes again were closed.

Alice stood an instant like one struck dumb. She had never noticed the resemblance before; but now she could trace the firm lines of the old squire's countenance in that pale, pinched face.

"Sleeping still! That is a good sign," said her mother, coming in, ready to resume her place for the night.

But the sound of voices might arouse the slumberer. Her father and Tom had gone on a house-hold errand to the village; there was no one else to consult.

Finally, she threw on her water-proof, drew its hood over her head, and sped across the valley to Squire Seaton's house.

Even the well-trained servant wore an astonished face as he ushered this mysterious visitor into his master's study.

Squire Seaton looked up from his book, and his usual pallor increased to a ghastly hue as he listened to the breathless girl.

"My son—my boy—my Philip at your father's house? And dying, you fear? Asking for me? Coming to me? Wait, child! I'll go with you, of course—I'll go to my poor boy! But—the room is turning round—I think I must be going blind!"

Alice sprang to his side. The gray head fell on her shoulder. Tenderly she smoothed the silvery hair away from the high forehead, and bathed the pale face with the cold water and fragrant essences which the frightened servant brought.

The old man revived, to find her ministering to him thus. And it was almost like father and daughter that they took their way across the valley together, he leaning on her arm, and listening greedily to all that she could tell him of his long-absent, long-mourned son.

"It is my father's voice! I hear his step! I shall get well, if he will only forgive me!" said the invalid, greatly to Mrs. Derwent's surprise, as the house-door softly opened to a stranger's touch.

He struggled up from his pillows, resisting her attempt to soothe him. "Father, I am sorry—forgive me!" he said, in a firmer voice, as Alice entered, followed by the aged man.

And then Squire Seaton came, feebly but swiftly, into the room, and held his son to his heart, sobbing aloud with gratitude and joy, while Alice drew her bewildered mother into the kitchen and told her of her expedition to the house of the lonely millionaire.

Joy seldom kills; and there is a revivifying power in love and happiness combined, far beyond the skill of all earthly physicians, or the virtue of all earthly drugs.

So it happened that, as the spring months deepened into summer, Philip Seaton, strong and well once more, stood beside bonny Alice, in the porch, one evening, to see the six o'clock express flash by.

"At Leadville, when I was utterly reckless, and utterly penniless, too, a letter from my father reached me," he said, in a low tone. "It was so kind, so sad, that it seemed to turn me from my evil course on the moment. Just as I was—in the rough garments of a miner—I set off to return to my father, like the prodigal son. And God led me here!"

There was a long silence; the sun sunk out of sight behind the circling mountains; the first chill of evening was in the air.

"In my anger I swore that I would never enter the door of my father's home, the young man went on. 'But it was not this home! Here I may enter, purified, repentant, forgiven, if only the good angel of my new life will go with me. Will she, Alice?'"

"He took her hand."

"But your father?" stammered Alice. "I am only a farmer's daughter! And you—"

"I am not worthy of your love in any way. But my father begs you to be his daughter, Alice. Say yes!" She did say it. And so the greatest fortune of her life—the brightest happiest of both their lives—came on that evening train.

If every person would be half as good as he expects his neighbor to be what a heaven this would!

There's no disgrace in being poor. The thing is to keep quiet and not let your neighbor know any thing about it.

Dust on Your Glasses.

I don't often put on my glasses to examine Katy's work; but one morning, not long since, I did so upon entering a room she had been sweeping.

"Did you forget to open the windows when you swept, Katy?" I inquired; "this room is very dusty."

"I think there is dust on your eye-glasses, mamma," she said, modestly. And sure enough, the eye-glasses were at fault, and not Katy. I rubbed them off, and everything looked bright and clean, the carpet like new and Katy's face said—

"I am glad it was the glasses, and not me this time!"

That taught me a good lesson, I said to myself, upon leaving the room and one I shall remember through life.

In the evening Katy came to me with some kitchen trouble. The cook had done so-and-so and she had said so-and-so. When her story was finished, I smilingly—

"There is dust on your glasses, Katy, rub them off, and you will see better."

She understood me, and left the room.

I told the incident to the children, and it is quite common to hear them say to each other,—

"Oh, there is dust on your glasses." Sometimes I am referred to. "Mamma, Harry has dust on his glasses; can't he rub it off?"

When I hear a person criticizing another, condemning, perhaps, an action he knows nothing about, drawing inferences prejudicial to the person or persons, I think, "There's dust on your glasses; rub it off!" The truth is, everybody wears these very glasses.

I said to John one day, some little matter coming up that called forth the remark,—

"There are some people I wish would begin to rub, them," said he. "There is Mr. So-and-so—Mrs. So-and-so. They are always ready to pick at some one, to slur, to hint; I don't know, I don't like them!"

"I think my son John has a wee bit on his glasses just now."

He laughed and asked,—

"What is a boy to do?"

"Keep your own will rubbed up, and you will not know whether others need it or not?"

"I will," he replied.

I think, as a family, we are all profiting by that little incident and through life will never forget the meaning of "There is dust on your glasses."

Sarah Wasn't There.

Charley Shaw, of the Detroit Opera House, was grinning at the window of the box office the other day, when in walked a chap with an agricultural bronze in his face and asked:—

Does any one perform here?

For the Fair Sex.

Shoulder capes of every description, from the dress material to lace, are very fashionable.

Gold, silver, bronze and light tints are to be had in buttercups and flowers designs, and in imitation of gold coins.

Mother Hubbard mantles made entirely of lace, laid in pleated or kilted flounces, will be popular.

The aesthetic neckerchiefs consists of a square of pale rose, blue, olive green or mauve muslin, with light-colored roses, pansies and other flowers in exaggerated sizes, but in nature's own colors. Simple wide hems all around and no lace on them, is the correct style.

Flowers are also introduced in place of monograms on handkerchiefs, and the same flower appears in table linen, napkins, towels, bed-linen and undergarments. A lady can choose her favorite flower either singly or grouped, and her whole wardrobe can be embroidered with it in its own natural colors. Those who prefer can choose the flower of their own country, as an English-woman the rose, a Scotchwoman the thistle, and so on.

Buttons are extensively used as trimmings, especially in very small sizes, cup, ball and flat designs being put on a single costume, in double rows on the basque, cuffs, and where the sash and skirt trimmings will admit of their being placed.

A popular feature in dress lingerie will be the adoption of wide collars, which will be worn with deep cuffs to match. The dress bodice will be slightly open for dress occasions when this color is worn, or a fichu of mull can be used where the colors is not becoming, which is to be used draped over the bosom quite in the "Charlotte Corday" style. These fichus are trimmed with double ruffles of lace and are long enough to reach the knees.

Short Newmarket jackets are a favorite style for the young ladies. They resemble those worn last winter, except in length; they fit the figure closely, are double breasted, and devoid of any trimming, except handsome silk bindings and buttons. Olive, gray, green, almond and brown are the colors most worn, if the material be broadcloth; but is considered more fashionable to wear the heavier mixtures or fancy cloth fabrics showing bright but fine dashes of color.

What a Menagerie Costs.

An untrained elephant at the age of 28 or 30 is worth $10,000, and a performing elephant $15,000.

The value of a male lion is about $2,000 and of a female about $1,000. A fine specimen of the royal Bengal tiger is worth $2,500. The female is much less valuable.

The striped hyena is rated at $500 and the spotted at $200.

A South American panther costs from $100 to $500. A male is worth about twice as much as a female.

The prices of sea lions range from $100 to $200.

Seals cost from $300 to $400.

Black bears can be bought in any number for $100 each.

A polar bear is worth $1,000.

A poonish bear, from Hindoostan, is worth $500.

French Idea of Women.

Women have no worse enemies than women.

One must be a woman to know how to revenge.

Woman conceals only what she does not know.

Woman is a creature between man and the angel.

Woman is more constant in hatred than in love.

Most women curse sin before embracing penitence.

Women who have not fine teeth only laugh with their eyes.

Friendship between women is only a suspension of hostilities.

Women ask if a man is discreet, as men ask if a woman is pretty.

When a woman is no longer attractive she ceases to be inconstant.

Women never weep more bitterly than when they weep for spite.

The most chaste woman may be the most voluptuous, if she loves.

When a woman cannot be revenged they do as children do; they cry.

A woman and her servant, acting in accord, would outwit a dozen devils.

A woman gives the audacity which her beauty prompts us to be guilty of.

Women like balls and assemblies as a hunter likes a place where game abounds.

Women are a charming creature, who changes her heart as easily as her gloves.

Humorous.

Some one says Pocahontas was a myth. Perhaps she was; but he cannot make us believe that John Smith was also a myth, because he still lives, and we have seen him.

Words of Wisdom.

Humor is the harmony of the heart. Keep cool and you command everybody.

The pilgrim is base who speaks ill of his staff.

The two principal things are wisdom and health.

Be wise, soar not too high to fall but stoop to rise.

The journey of high honor lies not in smooth ways.

Those are the most honorable who are the most useful.

Adversity borrows the sharpest sting from impatience.

Search others for their virtues, and thyself for their vices.

The reproaches of enemy should quicken us to duty.

One ungrateful man does an injury to all who are wretched.

The fullest and best ears of corn hang lowest toward the ground.

Provision is the foundation of hospitality, and thrift the fuel of magnificence.

There is nothing so clear-sighted and sensible as a noble mind in a low estate.

Be not forgetful to entertain strangers, for thereby some have entertained angels unawares.

It is not vanity for a man to pride himself on what he has honestly got and prudently uses.

The Assassin Drawing Nearer to the End of a Rope.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 22.—The announcement that the decision of the Court in Banc, upon the exceptions in the Guiteau case would be read this morning, attracted an unusually large gathering at the Circuit Court room. At 10:15, the Judges filed into court and took their places upon the bench. Soon after the formal opening of court, Justice James said: "I am instructed by the court to announce the decision in the case of Guiteau, upon exceptions to the judgment of the Criminal Court."

He then proceeded to read from the manuscript the decision of the court. At its conclusion Judge James said, although the court was unanimous in the views set forth, there were some questions which it was desirable to discuss more fully than could well be done in the opinion he had just read, and Justice Hagner had consented to discuss those questions in a separate opinion.

Justice Hagner then read his opinion, and Chief Justice Carter made the following announcement: "The opinions which have here been uttered are the unanimous opinions of the court—that a new trial is denied, and the judgment below affirmed in this case."

The court then adjourned.

Persons with weak lungs should read aloud daily, and take plenty of exercise in the open air. They should also live generously, and rise and retire at regular hours. Stooling postures should be avoided; and when reading they should sit upright. When walking keep the head up, and the shoulders thrown back. If confined to the arms crossed behind the back. When in the open air take, as often as you can without fatiguing yourself, long breaths. We have known many persons with weak lungs to be much benefited by following these simple directions.

General Sherman has been distinguished himself by kissing girls in St. Louis. He says it's naughty, but it's awfully nice.

Out straw is best for filling beds. Should be changed once a year.

A bit of glue, dissolved in skim milk and water will restore rusty old crapes.

The water in flower pots should be changed every day, as it will become offensive.

Delicate Females.

The exaction of society, added to the cases of maternity and the household, have tested beyond endurance the frail constitutions which have been granted the majority of women. To combat this tendency to premature decline, no remedy in the world possesses the nourishment and strengthening properties of Malt Bitters. They enrich the blood, perfect digestion, stimulate the liver and kidneys, arrest ulcerative weakness, and purify and vitalize every function of the female system.

WILLIAM C. PENDLETON, Editor and Proprietor.

THURSDAY, JUNE 1, 1882.

LOOK out for flourishing free schools in the future, unless Bourbon-Funderism by some accident should again get control of the State. They look for their ruin.

THE country is now in an excellent financial condition. Who did it? The Funderers said that ruin would follow the success of the Readjuster party. Their predictions have never been verified.

AFTER next November we will have free suffrage in Virginia. No thanks will be due to Bourbon-Funderism for it. They have fought it bitterly, and would continue to do so, if they were not rule afraid.

THE Readjuster party is for a protective tariff. The Bourbon Funder party will advocate the old, played-out doctrine of "free trade." Working men cannot fail to see which party represents the principles that will advance their true interests.

In all the cities and towns of the State where the Readjusters made any contest in the municipal elections they won decided victories, or made handsome gains over the vote of 1881. And yet the Funderers will proclaim that Readjustment is falling to pieces.

DANIEL'S majority of 996 in Lynchburg was reduced last Thursday to less than three hundred in the city election. In Petersburg CAMERON'S majority of 996 was increased on last Thursday to 1059. This is significant.

FROM all accounts Capt. WISE gave Capt. NEWBERRY a dreadful skinning at Bland O. H. on Tuesday of last week. Capt. NEWBERRY has taken a very foolish course, one in which but few of his friends can follow him, and he cannot fail to be the loser.

How many people can be found in Smyth county who object to the reduction in the rate of taxation the Readjuster Legislature made? There may be a few, a very few, Funderers who are extra virtuous who will grumble at it, but the majority of them are grinning with delight.

It wasn't so very long ago that the Republicans were doing all they could to another General Chalmers with the "disgrace of Fort Pillow." Now they are bolstering him up as the leader of a new "Bourbon revolt."—Bourbon Exchange.

It was only a short time ago that the Bourbon-Funder papers were denouncing JNO. PAUL for voting to seat LYNCH over this same CHALMERS, whom the Funderers then pronounced good and honorable. But they do not think quite as much of CHALMERS since he has resolved to throw off the shackles of Bourbonism. They only mention him with a sneer.

And now the Alexandria Gazette, wants to do away with the jury system. Oh, for God's sake don't handicap us with any more Bourbon ideas than we have to carry already.—Richmond State.

The State will some times own up. The above paragraph contains much truth in a few lines. You are already burdened with more "Bourbon ideas" than you can possibly carry, and the sooner you get rid of them the better it will be for you and the many people who still cling to Bourbonism through the influence of the State.

THE New York Times is trying to find out the opinion and sentiments of the people of Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina and Texas with regard to the policy of the Democratic party managers, and how the people regard President ARTHUR'S opinion upon the tariff question. The Times seeks for information by addressing questions to one hundred Democratic editors at different county seats. The Times will gain more accurate information upon these questions in 1884, when the Southern States will be called to pass upon them.

In the coupon cases tried at Richmond last week, before Judge CHRISTIAN, of the Hastings court, a very able defence was made by Capt. BLAIR, Attorney General, and Mr. S. B. WITT, Commonwealth's Attorney for the city. Many strong and unanswerable points were made by them, yet the jury was instructed by a Funder judge into a verdict. The Attorney General will take the cases to the Court of Appeals, and gave notice that the "coupon killer" law would be strictly carried out, so far as requiring the holders of coupons to prove them was concerned. Every coupon will have to be sued upon, and we fancy that holders of coupons and bonds will get tired of the work.

The Hon. John F. Lewis.

Now, when there is a desperate, but utterly futile, movement attempted to be put on foot by a few disappointed office-seekers and Funder Republicans, who are only Funderers under another name, it seems appropriate to refer to the noble, manly and unselfish conduct of the gentleman whose name heads this article. If those who are scheming and working to advance themselves without regard to the effect it has upon the party would only take a lesson of patriotism from the Hon. John F. Lewis it would be greatly to the benefit of their character and save the party much trouble. How different has been his course from that of the Rev. John E. Massey. The latter, failing in the attainment of his ambitious schemes, and plans, has deserted, "horse, foot and dragons," to the Bourbon-Funderers, and now joins hands with those who recently denounced him as a traitor, a repudiator, a thief and such like choice epithets.

How all honorable Funderers must in their hearts despise this man, though for party purposes they are just now praising him up to the skies. How different must be their feelings for the Hon. John F. Lewis. They may differ with him, and while they can never hope to use him to accomplish their purposes through his aid, still they cannot help respecting him for his manly and independent course.

His Readjustment is of the sort that neither calculates the cost nor the profit to himself. This was shown in 1879 when the Hayes Administration tried to intimidate the Republican Readjusters and force them to support the Funderers. The Hon. John F. Lewis, though then holding the office of United States Marshal, refused to be bull-dozed, but was outspoken in his advocacy of Readjustment.—Harrisonburg Spirit.

Wheat Crop.

The World prints dispatches regarding the prospects of winter wheat, which represent that the comparatively gloomy out-look has changed greatly for the better. The cold month of May, injurious as it undoubtedly was to much other vegetation, did no harm to the winter wheat. It gave it vigor without too rank growth. The harvest has already begun in Texas, and the yield is excellent in quality and quantity. In the Northern States east of the Mississippi some fields suffered from winter killing, but, as has more appeared more recently, not nearly to the extent that was feared. There is it is probable that the drought of last autumn caused some reduction in the area sown, but at the present there is little reason to doubt that the yield will be large. Throughout much of the winter-wheat section it will be ready for harvest in June, and even in Northern latitudes in July.

The Oldest Postmaster in America.

Maryland can lay claim to the oldest postmaster in the country. It is not often that an officer who has served under Andrew Jackson can be found holding the same place to which he had been appointed by "Old Hickory," but the case of Mr. Edward Stabler is an illustration perhaps without its parallel in the United States. Mr. Stabler, half a century ago, was appointed postmaster of Sandy Springs by Andrew Jackson, and is still serving in that capacity, having held the office uninterruptedly, with the exception of a few years when he was in the service of another branch of the Postal Department.—Balt. American.

The Largest Smelting Works in the World Burned.

LEADVILLE, COL., May 29.—Early yesterday morning the Grant Company Smelting Works were completely destroyed by fire, which is supposed to have been caused by an explosion of a furnace. The loss is estimated to be between $200,000 and $300,000. The insurance is $65,000. These works were the largest of the kind in the world. Over 400 men are thrown out of employment here, and quite a number at Omaha, where the refining works of this company are located. The works will be rebuilt.

Mrs. Sprague Gained a Divorce.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 28.—In the Supreme Court, Washington county, Saturday, a decree was entered divorcing Catharine Chase Sprague from William Sprague, giving Mrs. Sprague the custody of her three daughters, and permitting her to resume her maiden name, with leave hereafter to apply for alimony if she chooses.

A Duel Fought on Horseback.

Mr. STERLING, KY., May 26.—Buck Hampton and John Henry fought a duel on horseback yesterday, each firing and hitting the other until all the chambers of the pistols were discharged. They then clinched and clubbed each other with their weapons until they fell to the ground. Hampton is dead and Henry is mortally wounded.

We usually leave it to doctors to recommend medicines, but Parker's Ginger Tonic has been so useful in our family in relieving sickness and suffering, that we cannot say to much in its praise.—Salem Argus.

The last census of Canada gives a Lutheran population of 46,360.

A Small Slander.

On Saturday a knot of Funderers, as is their custom, were swapping lies about Mahone and the Readjuster party. Said one: "At Louisa Court-house Mahone is now seeking to remove a widow lady, with eight children, from the postoffice, and to put a nigger in her place. Shameful!" Yes; the lie is thrice shameful, in that it falsely attacks the motives, intentions and character of the very man who refused to interfere with the lady in question, but who, when the Gripsack allies of the Bourbon-Funderers had obtained her removal (without his knowledge) in favor of a Gripsacker, had her promptly reinstated as soon as the matter came to his ears.

And now which is the superior sort of man in this business—the authors of such lies as that about Mahone, or the men who quietly perform acts of generous kindness like that which Mahone really did do in the case of the Louisa lady?—Whig.

Guiteau's Execution.

A special to the Philadelphia Press dated New York, the 26th instant, says: James Vanheise, of Newark, N. J., has been asked by the authorities of Washington to superintend the hanging of Charles Jules Guiteau, and $200 have been offered him for his services. Vanheise has written to Washington that if he undertakes the work he will require that a gallows similar to that in use by him in New Jersey shall be used, and that he shall be allowed one assistant. He also asks that the amount of compensation shall be increased. Vanheise has conducted thirteen hangings in New Jersey—four in Middlesex, two in Elizabethtown, one in Belvidere, and one in Newark, and $200 have been offered him for his services. Vanheise is an expert hangman, and is not credited with a single blunder. The gallows used by him has been improved by him, and it is now in the jail at Newark, where two condemned murderers are awaiting the result of their application to the Court of Error for new trials. Vanheise is a working carpenter.

A Woman Swindler at Large.

NEW YORK, May 29.—A Special from Troy, N. Y., says a woman of lady-like appearance, good address and exceptionally brilliant conversational powers, who gave the name of Florence A. Houston, disappeared from this city yesterday, after duping and robbing the proprietress of a fashionable boarding house, and unsuccessfully attempting to borrow a large sum on an alleged valuable bond. She claimed to be the daughter of the late Confederate General Hood, and widow of the grandson of Samuel Houston, at one time Governor of Texas.

Death of an Eminent Mason.

The Hon. Robert Farmer Bower died suddenly on Friday last at Keokuk, Iowa, after a brief illness. Mr. Bower was the general grand high priest of Royal Arch Masons at the time of his death, which is the highest official position in the United States representing that ancient body. The Prince of Wales occupies the same office for Great Britain. Mr. Bower was for many years the recognized authority on all matters relating to Free Masonry in this country, and his library relating thereto is considered to be the largest and most complete in the world. Mr. Bower was a native of Philadelphia.

Religious Intelligence.

Rev. J. Summers has accepted a call to the Lutheran Church at Gravel Springs, Virginia.

Rev. Martin Garbe, a bishop in the Tunker church, and an active minister for 35 years, died in Augusta county, Virginia, last week.

Rev. A. O. Engel, of Duane's Valley, Maryland, has started on a protracted visit to Germany, on account of the illness of his wife.

Five of the Methodist Episcopal churches in Brooklyn are considering a proposition to reorganize and consolidate into two churches.

FREDERICKSBURG, May 29.—J. H. Dunstan's paper bag manufactory and steam printing establishment, with all the stock on hand, presses and machinery, was totally destroyed by fire last night. The Catholic church building adjoining sustained slight damages, and the parsonage was burned to the ground. An iron safe was overturned on Henry Beamer, breaking both his legs. The loss will exceed $15,000.

Forty cents on the hundred dollars is largely in excess of the average paid in the States of the Union. It was enough for Virginia before the war, and should be enough now. The higher the taxes the more extravagance; the lower the taxes the more economy. Corn in the crib invites rats; so does surplus money in the Treasury. Government only requires necessary expenses. It has no use for "Peter's pence" or "spending money." But, like a spoiled child, it will always manage to spend all you give.—Woodstock Virginian.

In 1880 Captain Newberry was an Independent candidate for Congress in this district. As soon as the Funderers put Mr. Trigg in the field Newberry withdrew in favor of Funder, closing his withdrawal card as follows: "To your tents, oh ye Readjusters! I would rather be a door-keeper in the house of Readjustment than to dwell in the tents of the Funderers." And now the Funderers are talking of making Capt. Newberry their candidate for Congress this fall.—Salem Register.

LOCAL DEPARTMENT

Briefs.

Very heavy showers of rain fell on Sunday.

J. B. Rhea has just received a large stock of spring goods.

To day is the first day of summer, and the weather has made a notable change.

Potato bugs are quite abundant, and doing much damage to the growing crops.

Mr. Thos. L. Hester was buried on his farm Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock.

Dr. Eams is improving the condition of the road up Staley's Creek very much.

There will be a wedding in Marion next Wednesday, if Madame Rumor is correct.

The liquor question did not enter into the town election held last Thursday.

Mr. Jno. S. Copenhaver is preparing to give his handsome residence a new coating of paint.

Wm. P. M. Scott is assisting W. C. Sexton in the Clerk's Office. Mr. Scott is a very fine clerk.

Eggs have advanced in this market to 15 cents per dozen, and butter has fallen to 20 cents per lb.

There was a slight frost in this vicinity Monday night, but no damage was done to vegetation.

Read the notice of the Singer Manufacturing Company. It wants two active young men as agents.

There will be a regular meeting of the town council on Saturday evening. A full attendance is desired.

J. B. Rhea is now selling the cheapest goods ever offered in this market. Go and see for yourselves.

At Pendleton's Drug Store you will find an elegant assortment of gentlemen's jewelry of excellent quality.

Judge D. C. Miller is preparing to put a tin roof on his handsome residence and will also give it a thorough painting.

A few bass have already been taken from our streams by anglers, but the fishing season has hardly commenced.

Prof Cassel had to close his school for several days last week. He had the mumps, but commenced teaching again on Monday.

A fine variety of Ladies, Misses and children shoes, mens Hats and Clothing, Trunks, Valises etc., can be found at J. B. Rhea's.

The hills around Marion never looked greener or more beautiful. For scenic beauty, Marion is more favorably located than any town we know of.

A number of colored men who have been at work on the railroad extension in Tazewell county have returned to Marion. Most of them will now go to Cripple Creek, where work is being done on another branch of the Norfolk & Western.

Col. Helms, of the Morristown Gazette (Tenn.) is in town on a visit.

Dr. G. W. Hubble and lady were in town Friday on a shopping expedition.

Capt. Wm. Austin, formerly of Marion, but now of Newbern, Pulaski county, was in town Monday.

Mr. J. W. Mort, of Bristol, was in town the first of the week on a visit to his father-in-law, Mr. J. H. Francis. Mrs. Mort was also here.

Maj. Wm. P. Cecil, of Giles county, spent a portion of last Friday with his friends in Marion. He is as cheerful and entertaining as ever.

Mr. Haslett, the very energetic and popular Manager of the Singer Mfg. Company, located at Wytheville, was in Marion last Saturday and paid us a pleasant call.

Religious Services. Last Sunday, notwithstanding the rain, services were held in three of the churches.

Wanted! Two good, active, energetic men to sell the Singer Machine in Smyth county. Good pay, address the Singer Mfg. Co., Wytheville Va.] June 1st, 2t.

Taken to the Penitentiary. C. F. Bonham and F. W. Leonard, Deputy Sheriffs, left on last Thursday night for Richmond with Jno. Coley and Henry Webb, who were safely lodged in the Penitentiary on Friday.

Sewing Machine for Sale. I have a Second-hand Singer Sewing Machine, as good as new which I will sell very low for cash. Parties wanting a good machine cheap, will do well to give me a call. feb. 16, 3m. C. H. MAUEY.

Railroaders' Relief. The most comfortable Ticket Office 187 West street, New York, is presided over by Mr. C. V. V. Ward, who thus addressed one of our representatives recently: "Some months ago I had rheumatism in my right arm, and was unable to raise it. I was advised by a friend to use St. Jacobs Oil. I did so, and before the second bottle had been exhausted my arm was perfectly well.—Brooklyn Eagle.

An Old Citizen Returned to Marion.

Mr. W. G. Colton who left eight years ago, for Colorado, has returned to his old quarters, at the Marion Foundry and Machine shops. We hope he will remain with us, as he is a reliable man and a good mechanic.

Railroadistic.

The engineer corps has completed the location of the west end of the branch of the Norfolk & Western Railroad that runs up Cripple Creek and down Rye Valley, in this county. The road will tap the main line at the farm of Mr. G. G. Goodell, two and a half miles west of Marion. This branch road will open up a region that is stored with immense mineral wealth and quantities of valuable timber.

New Foundry and Machine Shop.

We are informed that Messrs. Jack Curtin and James M. Jones, are making arrangements to open a new foundry and machine shop in Marion. Mr. Curtin has now gone east to purchase machinery. Both of these gentlemen are skilled mechanics, and we hope they will meet with abundant success in their enterprise. They will advertise in the PATRIOT AND HERALD.

Death of Another Old Citizen.

With regret we have heard of the death of Mr. Thos. L. Hester, one of the oldest citizens of this community. He died at his home, about 2 1/2 miles north of Marion, on Tuesday morning at 6 o'clock. He would have been seventy years old some time during the present month. Mr. Hester was a quiet, good citizen, and his death will be regretted by all who knew him.

Painful Accident.

Jesse Jones, a son of Mr. James M. Jones, and about thirteen years old, met with a painful accident on last Saturday afternoon. He had been wading Staley's creek trying to catch fish, and when just opposite Mrs. N. T. Pendleton's residence he tried to climb the log cribbing on the edge of the creek and fell striking his left leg on a protruding log, inflicting a deep and ugly wound on the shin. Dr. Pendleton dressed the wound, and the boy is doing well.

How to Prevent Rust on Wheat.

The farmers of East Tennessee are greatly interested at this time to discover some certain preventive for rust on wheat. Up to this writing, they have been unable to agree as to the cause of the disease or a remedy for it. Not so, however, with their own ailments, for if they are bilious they know that Hart's Antibilious Discovery will cure them, or if they have pain, that Hart's Relief is what they need, and when troubled with a cold or cough, that they have but to take a few doses of Symplyph and are well.

Dead.

We regret to say that the recent spell of cold weather has killed all the spring poets, and the good people will have to dispense with this luxury for awhile, but facts are better than fiction, and Geo. F. Crush & Co. are now on hand with a full line of spring and summer dress goods, fancy notions and fine shoes, which they sell at lowest cash prices. They desire to call special attention to their large and complete assortment of fans, parasols, ladies ties, Hosiery, Hosiery and gloves. Young ladies wishing to complete their outfits for Commencement will do well to examine our stock before buying elsewhere, for we are confident we can supply their wants with better goods and cheaper prices than they can elsewhere obtain them.

Official Vote in Town Election.

The following is the official vote in the town election held on last Thursday:

For Mayor, Thos. M. Rider 91, B. Johnson 40. For Recorder, Jas. H. Francis 133. For Councilmen C. F. Lincoln 123, Jos. Atkins 122, T. H. Thurman 111, Jas. M. Jones 103, P. Johnson 103, P. J. Gregory 101, W. C. Pendleton 91, and P. F. Russell 50. Mr. Russell was the only Funder who made any race, though there were a number of them who received votes numbering from 5 to 25.

Public Debate.

The Clonian Literary Society will give a public debate in the court house on Tuesday next, June 6th at 7 1/2 o'clock P. M. The following is a portion of the programme: Salutatorian, H. L. Morgan; Debate: Question—"Has Nature or Education the Greater Influence in the Formation of Character?"

Affirmative. Negative. A. S. Britton, C. H. Maury, J. M. Luther, J. L. Thomas, Final Orator, J. B. Thomas, Subject, "The Bible—Its Mission." We trust a good crowd will attend and encourage the young men who are using such commendable energy and effort for their intellectual improvement.

Many wonder how Parker's Ginger Tonic can perform such varied cures, thinking it simply essence of ginger, when in fact it is made from many valuable medicines which act beneficially on every diseased organ. See other column.

Revitalizing the blood is absolutely necessary for the cure of general debility, weakness, lassitude, &c. The best enricher of the blood is Brown's Iron Bitters.

Upon a Himalayan Summit.

But the view that bursts upon me as I crown it is beyond the power of description. One may reduce to hard arithmetic the feet and inches of his great army of white-robed giants which stands marshaled in endless procession along the northern sky, delicate as an ivory carving, yet massive as the foundation of the world itself. One may map out with scientific dryness the outline of that mighty rampart whose ledges are provinces, and whose clefts hide whole kingdoms, but who can realize all that the name of "Himalaya" carries with it? Well might the noblest of Hindu superstitions choose these majestic solitudes as the abode of God Himself, from beneath whose throne flowed the life-giving waters of the sacred Ganges. But the poetic fancy of Heber, or Milman, or Keble, would have seen in the glories of the Himalaya another and a truer symbol, typifying the contrast between the brief and troubled span of human life and the repose that lies beyond the grave. The lower ridges rent, blasted, broken, stripped of all vegetation, stand like men scratched and seared by long years of sin and sorrow; but high overhead the everlasting snows soar up white and pure in the sunlight like redeemed souls lifted above all the stains and sorrows and troubles of earth for ever and ever.—New York Times.

The success of St. Jacobs Oil throughout the civilized world, is without a parallel.—Richmond (Va.) Southern Planter & Farmer.

An effort is being made for the erection of a Southern Methodist Church at Shenandoah Junction, Jefferson county, West Virginia.

Attention Young Men!

We are now receiving and opening a beautiful stock of gents collars and cuffs, 2 hose, shirts, socks, ties, bows etc., &c. Don't forget when you want such things to call on Geo. F. Crush & Co., and you can supply all your wants in this line for less money than you ever did before. A full line of gents' furnishing goods has been a long felt need in this place, and now that the need has been supplied, the enterprise should be patronized—Don't forget Geo. F. Crush & Co.

RESALE OF LAND.

Pursuant to the terms of a decree rendered on the 3rd day of October 1879 by the Circuit Court of Smyth County in the case of B. F. Aker, against F. P. Staley & al., I will as Commissioner proceed to resell at the front door of Smyth court house on Monday the 19th day of June 1882, (that being court day) the tract of land known as the Jonathan Aker farm, containing 334 acres more or less and being the same tract of land heretofore purchased by James A. Etter. Said land will be sold for balance of purchase money, costs and commissions. Said tract of land will be sold as a whole, except about 115 acres including the buildings heretofore decided to Mrs. Mary A. Etter.

The Secret

of the universal success of Brown's Iron Bitters is simply this: It is the best Iron preparation ever made; is compounded on thoroughly scientific, chemical and medicinal principles, and does just what is claimed for it—no more and no less.

By thorough and rapid assimilation with the blood, it reaches every part of the system, healing, purifying and strengthening. Commencing at the foundation it builds up and restores lost health—in no other way can lasting benefit be obtained.

I have been a great sufferer from a very weak stomach, heartburn, and dyspepsia in its worst form. Nearly everything I ate gave me distress, and I could eat but little. I have tried everything recommended, have taken the prescriptions of a dozen physicians, but got no relief until I took Brown's Iron Bitters. I feel now as if I could eat and sleep as well as a new man. I am getting much stronger, and feel first-rate. I am a railroad engineer, and now make my trips regularly. I can not say too much in praise of your wonderful medicine. D. C. MACC.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS does not contain whiskey or alcohol, and will not blacken the teeth, or cause headache and constipation. It will cure dyspepsia, indigestion, heartburn, sleeplessness, dizziness, nervous debility, weakness, &c.

Use only Brown's Iron Bitters made by Brown Chemical Co., Baltimore, Crossed red lines and trade-mark on wrapper.

OPIMUM & MORPHINE EATING

A Treatise on their Effects on the Human

FARM AND HOUSEHOLD.

Oats grown on clay land make the best meal; keep longest and bring the highest price.

Do not wrap knives and forks in woollens. Wrap them in good strong paper. Steel is injured by wrapping in woollens.

It is said that if food is kept from the sheep twenty-four hours before killing the mutton will have a better flavor.

Save the soot from the chimneys and the stove pipes. A pint of soot in a pailful of water will make a liquid manure of the greatest value for flowers and plants of all kinds.

Many mistakes are made in gardening by planting all kinds of seed at nearly the same time without regard to their natural habits or time of maturity. Vegetables, like field crops, should be planted at different times.

An application of a bushel and a half of plaster to the acre on clover early will infuse new life into it. If wood ashes are added it will be still better. Ashes and plaster are special fertilizers for clover.

Test your onion seed by placing a little in moist sand, cotton or moss in a warmish room. If fresh they will sprout in about three days. Onion seed should not be more than a year old.

Success in raising pigs depends upon feeding liberally until the pigs are three or four months old. Let them have the run of a grass or a clover pasture, and after harvest they will do well on the wheat stubble. The cost of raising in this way is very little. In the winter they will need richer food. They should have warm quarters with plenty of straw.

When corn on the ear is fed to horses they masticate it much more slowly than if it was shelled. As a consequence that on the ear is better digested. A horse requires more time to eat corn on the ear than if fed either meal or shelled corn. If the horse cannot have time to masticate a full feed of shelled corn then it is best to feed something else.

Soak your stale bread in water two hours before using it (it may soak all night if you wish it for breakfast,) break it thoroughly with a potato masher. Add to each quart of the batter one egg, one table spoonful of flour, two table spoonful of Indian meal, a little salt and a dessert spoonful of baking powder. Bake on a griddle as you do buckwheat cakes. If desired milk may be used instead of water, and the egg omitted.

"The best thing for potato bugs," says the agricultural editor, "is carbonate of lime. It makes the potato bugs hold their noses and walk off to the pig-pen to get a breath of fresh air."

Grace Badd, a Maine girl, recently stood first and passed the best examination in a class of 195 at the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy. This is supposed to have prompted Harvard College in refusing to admit girl students to the medical course.

Examine your sweetmeats, pickles and everything put away.

Wash your tea trays with cold suds, polish with a little flour and rub with a dry cloth.

Stir Poland starch with common candle, and it will not stick to the iron and will be much nicer.

No man knows what a ministering angel his wife is until he comes home one day, suffering with a dreadful cold and she happens to have a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup in the house.

Parents who allow their children to grow up with scrofulous humors bursting from every pore are guilty of great wrong. Think of them pointed out as branded with a loathsome disease, and you will readily procure them the Cuticura Remedies.

A pure wholesome distillation of hazel, American pine, Canada fir, marigold, clover blossoms; etc, fragrant with the healing essences of balsam and pine. Such is Sandford's Radical Cure for Catarrh. Complete treatment for $1.

RESALE OF LAND: Pursuant to the terms of a decree rendered on the 3rd day of October 1879 by the Circuit Court of Smyth County in the case of B. F. Aker, against F. P. Staley & al., I will as Commissioner proceed to re-sell at the front door of Smyth court house on Monday the 19th day of June 1882, (that being court day) the tract of land known as the Jonathan Aker farm, containing 354 acres more or less and being the same tract of land heretofore purchased by James A. Ector. Said land will be sold for balance of purchase money, costs and commissions. Said tract of land will be sold as a whole, except about 115 acres including the buildings heretofore deeded to Mrs. Mary Litz.

TERMS OF SALE:—One fourth cash in hand will be required, and for the residue bonds with good personal security will be required from the purchaser, payable in 9 and 18 months with interest from day of sale. JNO. S. COOPER, Commissioner. may18-4w.

Use Lawrence & Martin's TOLU ROCK & RYE. For COUGHS, COLDS, SORE THROAT, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA, PNEUMONIA, CONSUMPTION, Discharge of THROAT, CHEST AND LUNGS. Has always been one of the most important weapons used by the MEDICAL FACULTY against the above mentioned AFFECTIONS OF THE THROAT, CHEST AND LUNGS, but it has never been so advantageously compounded as in the TOLU, ROCK AND RYE. Its soothing Baskemic properties afford a delicate stimulant and tonic to build up the system after the cough has been relieved. Quart size bottles. Price $1.00. CAUTION! Do not be deceived by dealers who try to palm off Rock and Rye in place of our TOLU, ROCK AND RYE, which is the ONLY MEDICATED article—the genuine has a Private Dis Proprietary Stamp on each bottle, which permits it to be sold by Druggists, Grocers and Dealers Everywhere. WITHOUT SPECIAL TAX OR LICENSE. The TOLU, ROCK AND RYE CO., Proprietors, 41 River St., Chicago, Ill.
