Dog Grieved for Horse.
A remarkable display of emotion on the part of a dog was given recently in the Bellevue hospital stables, New York, when Baby, the veteran favorite ambulance horse, died suddenly. Alice, a Boston bull, has been inseparable from Baby since her rescue by stablemen, three years ago. The grief and actions of the animal so impressed Dr. Gregory that they took snapshots of the scene. Baby was twenty-eight years old and drew ambulances to the Hotel Royal fire, Windsor hotel fire, Park Avenue hotel fire, Tarrant building fire and Triangle Waist company fire.

Leopard at Large in Mountains.
A full grown leopard on its way from Germany to a menagerie in Italy escaped from the train at Lecco, on the Swiss-Italian frontier and took to the mountains. Italian gendarmes and several sportsmen armed with rifles and assisted by dogs climbed through a forest without finding any trace of the leopard, which seems to have taken refuge on the higher slopes of the neighboring mountains, and will be a menace to the woodcutters when it finds no food.

Classification.
She found her dearest girl chum in tears. The situation was unexpected, being rather common and vulgar. But the patrician girl was sympathetic enough to inquire, just as any other girl might: "Why, dear, what on earth is the matter?" "Men are all stars!" sobbed the broken hearted one. "Oh, don't say that!" protested the other. "That's too broad a generalization." "Well, I suppose there are some good, honest fellows who are not. But all the really nice men are!"

Big Islands.
The four largest islands on the globe leaving Australia out of the reckoning, as an "island continent" rather than an island in the ordinary sense of the word) are: New Guinea, 723,000 square miles; Borneo, 284,000; Madagascar, 227,000, and Sumatra, 124,000. There are no other islands that even approximate the "Big Four." Great Britain, the next largest, having only 83,000 square miles.

Wastefulness.
The average wheat production per acre in Minnesota is about thirteen bushels. In Denmark it is 38; in Holland, 34; in England, 33 bushels. Politicians talk of the conservation of national resources. What of the conservation of soil values; the greatest asset the nation has? And what of the wastefulness which extracts from the soil but one-third of the riches it is capable of bearing? The prodigality of congress, the wanton carelessness of cities, the improvidence of our spendthrifts are of minimum importance compared with the agricultural waste in potential yields and the strange madness that changes annually thousands of prospectively good farmers into mediocre and sallow flat dwellers.—Public Ledger.

He Found "Good Reading."
A man came in and said to the other man: "Where does this quotation come, 'I said in my haste, all men are liars.' The other man wrinkled his forehead. "Bible." "Get a little closer." "How about the Psalms?" "That will do for a guess. Met a man outside who said it was something of Paul's. Nother man said Job. Couldn't find it in the concordance." "I'll look it up." "All right. So will I." The next morning the other man told the first man he had found it. "I spent two hours over it," he said. "Did it take you two hours to find it?" "No, I found it right away." He paused. "A mighty good reading, isn't it?"

Gilly to Be Postmaster at Big Stone Gap
Big Stone Gap, Va., Sept. 1.—In the postoffice primary held here on Saturday Gordon E. Gilly was nominated by a majority of 26 votes over W. S. Beverly. Two hundred and Sixty-two votes were cast out of a possible 300, and Gilly received 139 to 113 for Beverly. Mrs. Cora Benedict, who was also a candidate, received 5 votes and there was five votes thrown out.

The appointment is expected to be made at once. W. S. Rose, the present postmaster, has served for eight years up to last February, and has been holding over since then. Mr. Rose has made a fine postmaster and will retire with the good wishes of all our people.

On Tuning a Piano.
Many people think it is an easy matter to tune a piano, but this is not the case. As celebrated a musician as Hans von Bulow got into trouble in New York owing to this fallacious idea. He would not permit the instrument to be tuned in the wareroom, one of his whims being that even a short removal of a piano knocks it out of tune. There is, of course, a modicum of truth in the theory. So it was tuned upon the platform here he was to perform. He stood over the tuner all the time, at intervals emitting groans and strong German language. When the task was almost completed, he gave a shout and, seizing the wrench, began doing it all over again. In three minutes he had the piano so hopelessly out of gear that it took three hours to get it right again. Herr von Bulow had to pay dearly for this exhibition of ignorance.

Nutmeg Poison.
A German medical journal, the Münch Medizinische Wochenschrift, gives a curious story of two cases of poisoning from nutmeg, an article in daily use in food and drink. Two servant girls partook of a mixture made up of two ground nutmegs, a small quantity of powdered cinnamon and half a liter, about one pint, of hot wine. One girl drank the greater part, the other but a small portion. Both were taken to the hospital unconscious. The one who drank the greater part remained in a stupor for three days and it was not until the fifth day that she recovered her senses. The other, who like the first developed failure of memory, vertigo and somnolence, was not so long in recovery. Nutmeg contains an ethereal oil that is a recognized poison.

He Reached His Limit.
The delightful southern gentleman of the old school, under whose insinuating tones and gracious bows the social barometer rose to summer heat, was not without his little prejudices when it came to outside barbarians: "I'll give you my notion of things," repeatedly declared a sturdy old planter of Civil war time who bestowed much of his wisdom on a contributor to Harper's Magazine. "I go first for Greenville, then for Greenville district, then for the urcountry, then for North Carolina, then for the South, then for the United States—and after that I don't go for anything. I've no use for Englishmen, Turks and Chinese."

Motorcycle as Chaff Cutter.
A farmer at Pantnall, Salop, England, has fixed his motorcycle on a stand against the wall of the farm buildings, and it drives a chaff-cutter and turnip cutter at the same time. It does not cost much to work it. The turnip cutter is on the same level as the cycle, and is connected by a kind of bicycle chain. The chaff-cutter is above the turnip-cutter on an angle and connected by two-inch chain. It has been on some of the best crops and gets hot, so a fan is used for cooling.

Why Sugar Has Advanced.
Lynchburg, Va., Sept. 1.—Sugar has advanced in price nearly 100 per cent on account of the European war, and unless the beet crops of Europe are saved from destruction there is little relief in sight, according to a local man who is a large purchaser of that commodity and who has a letter from the American Sugar Refining Company of New York, in an effort to explain the state of affairs.

The letter states that in normal times Europe has a beet crop producing each year about eight millions tons of sugar. Germany produces 2,738,000 tons of sugar each year; Austria, 1,710,000 tons; France 800,000 tons, Russia 1,750,000 tons; Belgium 230,000 tons; Holland 230,000 tons; other countries, 796,000 tons. This constitutes about 45 per cent of the world's total supply, according to the letter.

The letter continues as follows: "The war will mean a serious loss to the European crop, and has brought about a tremendous advance in sugar prices in European ports and an unprecedented demand for raw and refined sugars in this country and its sources of production. We have been compelled to raise our price for refined sugar to an amount corresponding to the increased price which we have to pay for raws."

The Quarry correspondent to the Glade Spring Vidette says: S. B. Vaught, of Abingdon, and Rev. Arendall, of the First Baptist Church, Portsmouth, Va., delivered three very interesting addresses in behalf of Statewide Prohibition at this place Saturday night. The house was well filled and we are glad to note that several who had formerly favored local option have changed their minds since being enlightened as to the real facts in the case.

Letter From Smyth County Boy.
Bacon, Wash., Aug. 27.—Editor News, Marion, Va., Dear Editor:— I am sending you $1.00 for renewal to the News. I love to read the news of old Virginia, especially Parker's Branch, Piedmont, Stony Battery and Valley View letters.

Probably you would like to hear something from this country. I am about 190 miles east of the Cascade Mountains in the wheat belt and am working on the farm of J. H. White. He is farming 1700 acres; had 1000 acres sowed in wheat this year, but the crop is not so very good. Wheat will average about 15 bushels per acre. Harvest is over now and you can hear the threshing machine humming.

We are having lots of dry weather and wind. I do not think so much of this country; it is a good place for wages, but I expect to make the East my home where you can raise everything. If we get a season here for produce there is something to destroy it. The grasshoppers was bad this year. They destroyed everything that looked green.

Washington Progressives Not Behind Rose.

Bristo, Va., Sept. 1.—Progressives of Washington county are divided as to who they favor for Congress. Following the conference of men of that party at Abingdon last Tuesday, who favor the candidacy of J. L. Rose, the nominee of the divided Progressive convention, held here on July 9th, a meeting of the county committee who declare themselves opposed to Mr. Rose's candidacy and in favor of fusing with the Republicans in support of Slem, was held. These men contend that more than 10 per cent of the Progressive voters of Washington county are favorable to the candidacy of Rose. The following statement was issued following the anti-Rose meeting, the same being signed by J. H. Vail, H. P. Phelps, Wm. M. Phelps, T. L. Hayter, J. C. Sisk, N. W. Mann, A. A. McFadden and W. B. Barkley:

"To the members of the Progressive Party of the Ninth District of Virginia: In view of the fact that a citizen of this county, John L. Rose, of Abingdon, is claiming to be the nominee of our party for Congress from this district, we deem it proper that you should know our attitude towards his candidacy."

"Mr. Rose was, by appointment, acting secretary of our committee, and was opposed to fusion with the Republicans of the district in the coming election. Therefore, at a regular mass meeting of our party, held at Abingdon, pursuant to the call of O. L. James, then county chairman, we, on June 20th, re-organized our party by the election of Dr. H. L. Pippin as county chairman and ourselves as the county committee for said county, and we elected a full set of delegates to our convention at Bristol, held on July 9, 1914. Our people were overwhelmingly in favor of fusion with the Republicans of the district, if they nominated a good man and endorsed our leader, Colonel Roosevelt, both of which they did, and 90 per cent of our delegates participated in the nomination of the Hon. C. B. Slem for Congress from the district. Therefore, we, the members of the Progressive organization of Washington county, do declare to you that the said Rose is not the nominee of our people for Congress, but that Mr. Slem is our candidate, and will receive the support of fully 90 per cent of all our people in this county. Following the action of our leaders, we take this action and call upon the progressive in this district to support Slem their undivided view to prevent misrepresent us in the United States."

 There is no better argument against "Local Self Government" than that found in the inebriate ward at the Hospital in our town. In that Institution are men of families, who were brought here unable to control their thirst for whiskey until their minds were destroyed and they were walking fiends. Treatment and restraint have done wonders for them, but they are afraid to leave those protecting walls, knowing they have not the self control that would enable them to resist temptation. Tell you agonizing tales suffering, when the battle with them began. Ye Local Option People learn of them.

GIVING UP LIQUOR BARGAIN FOR STATE

Millions to be Gained Through Success of Temperance Forces -- Question of Taxation Thoroughly Discussed.

A Mere Bugaboo.
 Mr. Walter E. Addison, editor of the Lynchburg News: Comes along Mr. Smith, an old friend, to say: "A month ago I had made up my mind to vote for statewide prohibition, but in the last few days I have become a bit uncertain about what I will do."

Q. May I ask, Mr. Smith, why you had decided to vote for prohibition?
 A. Because I thought it was right.
 Q. Do you think it less right now than you did a while ago?
 A. No, I can't say that.
 Q. Your reason, then, for a change of purpose?—what is it?
 A. Well, truth to tell, I have been lately flooded with literature telling that if the state is deprived of its liquor revenue, my taxes will be raised—this is what is disturbing me.

Q. From what source comes this information?
 A. From the Local Government League at Richmond.
 Q. Do you think this league is working and expending thousands of dollars with a view of saving you from increased taxation?
 A. No.
 Q. For what end is it working, then?
 A. To defeat statewide prohibition.
 Q. And the meaning of the tax agitation is to influence your convictions on a moral issue by a dollar and cents consideration?
 A. Come, come, now—I am not being offered anything for my vote.
 Q. But are you not asked to cast your vote against prohibition because if prohibition is defeated you can keep money which otherwise you would have to pay in taxes?—does not the suggested abatement of a money charge reach directly the pocket nerves?
 A. Perhaps so.
 Q. Having come to this point of agreement, then, let us see how much money is involved in this matter so far as you are concerned? How much do you now pay in taxes?
 A. My property is assessed at $3000, and my tax rate is $1.30 on the $100. Hence, I pay $13.00 each year.
 Q. How much more would you have to pay if prohibition were in force?
 A. I don't know.
 Q. Is it not a fact that the liquor revenue of the state amounted last year to $502,682.79?
 A. Something like that.
 Q. Is it not also likely to be a fact under prohibition the state's charges would be heavily decreased, the number of patients in asylums would be large?

 A. Something like that.
 Q. Is it not also likely to be a fact under prohibition the state's charges would be heavily decreased, the number of patients in asylums would be large?

A. Yes.
 Q. Hence, viewing the result from broad economic standpoint, the state would make a good bargain if by giving up her half million of liquor revenue, she would thereby make her people better off by several millions of dollars?
 A. Yes, it looks that way.
 Q. Now, coming again to your own case—let us repeat the question: How much higher would your taxes be on a $3000 assessment in order to meet the half million loss in state revenue from liquor?
 A. I am unable to say.
 Q. Suppose, then, that you let Senator Keesell, who is thoroughly familiar with state finances, answer for you. He says that to make up the deficit, admitting that it will all have to be supplied, an increase of five and three-fifths cents—not per cent—on the hundred dollars, will be required—hence you would be affected on a $3000 assessment to the extent of about 54 cents a year—that is to say, your taxes instead of totalling $13, would amount to $13.54.

A. This surprises me, somewhat. I had gathered the impression from wet sources that my taxes would be doubled if prohibition prevailed. But you have overlooked something. The wets claim that prohibition will cause the state to lose $200,000 in revenue that is now collected on the plants and capital invested in the manufacture of liquor?
 Q. Let's grant that contention—let's grant that every dollar of the capital and plants now devoted to the liquor business would forever disappear from Virginia, should prohibition prevail—how much would it cost you to pay your pro rata of the $200,000 in revenue thus lost?
 A. I cannot say.
 Q. Let Senator Keezel again reply. The supposed condition would involve an increase at most of 27 cents a year—not 27 per cent—or your tax ticket on a $3000 assessment would be $13.81 instead of $13—taking both the $531,000 of the state's liquor revenue and the $200,000 invested in liquor plants into consideration. What do you think about it, now that you see the matter in its true light?
 A. Silence.

Q. Surely you would not permit your convictions on the liquor issue to be influenced by 81 cents a year?
 A. The question is offensive.
 Q. Of course it is—but we do not mean it to be, nor do the officers of the local government league, good men that they are, intend it to be offensive—it is not believed that they would consciously employ arguments that betake of that significance, to further their cause. But coming down to brass tacks—reducing the question to its last analysis, isn't it so you are now confronted with the question: which should most control your vote—honest convictions upon a moral question or 81 cents?
 A. ???

Do not let it be understood from the above that we think any increase of taxation whatever will be required should the state go upon prohibition basis. We believe earnestly that this will not happen—that the next legislature will so revise and readjust the crazy-quilt scheme of taxation that now exists as to reduce the tax burdens of the people whether the state goes dry or continues wet. But our effort has been to show in the Question and Answer dialogue that even conceding the anti-prohibition leaders all that they claim, they have yet presented a mere bugaboo—a plea that ought not to influence so much as a single vote in the state on the prohibition question.

 A new Comet is now visible in the northeastern sky. It is known as the Delavan comet, and is about the same size and brightness as Haley's Comet a few years ago. It can be seen best about three o'clock a. m. at this time. The comet will continue to grow brighter until October 26, after which time it will commence to grow fainter. It is now easily visible to the naked eye, and shows a tail extending several degrees towards the southwest. Some connect the appearance of this comet with the great European war.

TAKE DODSON'S AND STAY ON YOUR FEET
 Taking Calomel means staying home for the day—take Dodson's Liver Tonic and save a day's work. If an attack of constipation or biliousness hits you, there's no need to take a dose of calomel and spend at least a day getting over the effects of it. D. M. Smith Drug Co. and Marion Drug Co. sell Dodson's Liver Tonic, which they guarantee takes the place of calomel and starts a lazy liver without bad after-effects.

Dodson's Liver Tonic does all the good that calomel can do, yet it is absolutely harmless to young people and old. It is a pleasant tasting vegetable liquid that will relieve constipation or sour stomach or other troubles that go along with a lazy liver, without restriction of habit or diet. You don't leave off any of the things you regularly do when you take Liver Tonic.

A large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tonic sells for 50 cents. Get the genuine and if you are not pleased with it the druggist from whom you bought it will give your money back with a smile.

Resolutions.

With sad hearts we bow in submission to an all wise Providence in the taking away of our brother D. C. Shinnault, who had been a faithful honorary member of our W. C. T. U. of Mt. Carmel since its organization. Having been interested and voted for prohibition for some twenty years. He was always at his place when the Union met in the regular monthly meetings and was ever ready to aid us in any way possible. His seat in the S. S. and at preaching was never vacated unless caused by sickness. His neighbors did everything it was possible to do to express their appreciation of the devoted life he lived and greatly comforted him in his triumphant passage to fairer climes on high. Resolved; 1. That the members of W. C. T. U. express their deepest sympathy to the bereft wife, and pray God's comforting grace upon her. Resolved, 2nd. That we as christian people try to live as close to God as we believe our departed brother did and show to the world by our daily walk, we are striving for things higher and noble. Resolved, 3rd. That a copy of these resolutions be given his wife and a copy be furnished the papers for publication.

Death of Mrs. E. C. Wassum.

Mrs. Edward C. Wassum, of Sugar Grove, died Tuesday morning at Jefferson Hospital, Roanoke, Va., where she had been taken for treatment about two weeks ago. The deceased was about 48 years old and a good christian woman, having been a member of the Methodist church for a number of years. She is survived by her husband and four children—one son, Eugene, and three daughters, Mrs. L. L. Hutton, Mrs. C. E. Goodpasture and Miss Josie Wassum. The remains were brought to Marion Tuesday night on No. 13 and taken to Mt. Zion cemetery on Wednesday for burial. Rev. S. T. M. McPherson, of Sugar Grove, conducted the funeral service. We join many friends in extending sympathy to the husband and bereft family.

Radford Normal Notes.

The second regular session of the Radford Normal school opens Sept. 9th. The attendance promises to be very large. The Young Women's Christian Association is planning to receive all the new girls and give them a hearty welcome to the Normal School. The officers of this Association have sent out handbooks to the prospective students and will receive the new students and assist them in various ways on their arrival at Radford next week.

Prof. W. E. Gilbert has conducted an educational campaign through Dickenson and Buchanan counties during the last week. Meetings held at six different places. Gilbert was accompanied by Brumfield, of the State Department, and Dr. Crawford. H. K. McConnel, Scott county, who visited Dr. J. P. McConnel of the week have returned home.

The tower and Artesian well will be ready in a week. The electric has been installed and the Artesian well is all ready for use in the building standing on the high Normal School grounds above the ground level is of the purest quality.

Consuls Have Troubles.
 The stranded American is the bane of the consul. His office is invaded by persons claiming his good offices after their plans have gone askew. Those in better circumstances demand that the consul indorse their notes at the bank, those in poorer circumstances demand to be sent home. It is apparently a fixed idea that a consul can draw on the treasury for the relief of stranded Americans. Many cases of distress are pitiable and consuls, not even equipped against the social expenses incidental to their position, have to give relief out of their private means and to stand the inevitable loss. The only persons whom consuls are authorized by law to aid are sailors on the articles of a vessel of American registry wrecked within their consular districts, and in this case only to the extent of immediate aid and passage to the next Amer-

Grief-Stricken Horse.
 An extraordinary story of a horse's sorrow for the death of his master comes from a village in the north of County Antrim, Ireland. When the man died the animal was out at grass. One evening a few days ago it broke out of the field and went to the graveyard, a mile and a half away. The animal endeavored to get in, but was unsuccessful. It then broke into a field adjoining the sides of the cemetery, and made desperate efforts to climb the wall separating it from its master's grave. It was taken away, and locked in the stable, where it was found dead the following morning.

How to Carry a Suitcase.
 Travelers will be interested to learn how to carry a suitcase or valise a long distance without becoming fatigued. A French savant, reasoning that the tired feeling is induced by the fact that the action of carrying such an object hinders the movement of the legs, makes a suggestion that is said to work like a charm. The Frenchman's way to prevent the inconvenience is to put under the arm a bulky packet made of a dozen newspapers folded. The handbag, in this way, is far removed from the legs, allowing walking without hindrance.

WHAT BUSINESS COLLEGE?

The selection is vital. It makes or mars a start in life. No two business colleges are alike. They differ widely. You want the best. Many young people throw away their time and money attending a cheap, new or inefficient business college or the so-called commercial or shorthand department of a preparatory or literary school. No school advertises its weak points. Careful investigation alone will bring them out. The

MARION COLLEGE

AND SCHOOL OF MUSIC
 A Junior College For Young Women

1874—"Cultured Christian Womanhood."—1914

Situated in the mountains of Virginia, famed for health and charm of scenery, Marion College offers young women a thorough education, comprising the two lower classes of standard college work. Its Christian teachings, influence and discipline, select faculty, requirements for thorough scholarship and the low expense, make this an ideal homeschool. New building, just completed, provides every modern dormitory convenience. Ample class-room and laboratory facilities. Preparatory department and literary and science courses, co-ordinating with standard colleges. Valuable practical training in sewing, cooking and serving foods, in department of Domestic Science. Every encouragement for outdoor sports and physical development. Refined associates and pleasant social life.

School of Music offers superior advantages for complete musical education; piano, voice organs, and voice culture. Thorough courses in Art and Expression.

Expenses, made possible by support of friends of the institution. Expenses for year, $15; with music, $22. Session begins Sept. 16. Request for catalogue will have prompt response.

 WALK ABOUT

And For Three Summers Mrs. Vincent Was Unable to Attend to Any of Her Housework.

Pleasant Hill, N. C.—"I suffered for three summers," writes Mrs. Walter Vincent, of this town, "and the third and last time, was my worst. I had dreadful nervous headaches and prostration, and was scarcely able to walk about. Could not do any of my housework. I also had dreadful pains in my back and sides and when one of those weak, sinking spells would come on me, I would have to give up and lie down, until it wore off. I was certainly in a dreadful state of health, when I finally decided to try Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I firmly believe I would have died if I hadn't taken it. After I began taking Cardui, I was greatly helped, and all three bottles relieved me entirely. I fattened up, and grew so much stronger in three months, I felt like another person altogether."

Cardui is purely vegetable and gentle-acting. Its ingredients have a mild, tonic effect, on the womanly constitution. Cardui makes for increased strength, improves the appetite, tones up the nervous system, and helps to make pale, sallow cheeks, fresh and rosy. Cardui has helped more than a million weak women, during the past 50 years. It will surely do for you, what it has done for them. Try Cardui today.
