THEODORE ABSURD FUNNERS.

The situation in Virginia continues mixed, and the unnecessary straining of strife in which the Democratic representatives of the two parties—Funder and Readjuster—are twirling their political spoons, gives some show of belief that the Old Dominion may be lost to the National ticket; at least that the Congressional ticket will be wonderfully complicated as to political complications.

The Readjusters advocate Hancock; the Funder support him with earnestness, but, as brothers, when they quarrel, fight with the most devilish vindictiveness, so these two parties may be worked into such a condition of local and State hate that the National issue will be overlooked in the sectional, and the Republicans, like Esop's wolf, step in and enjoy the antelope that the lion and bear killed each other about, and, while picking his teeth with the end of his tail, philosophically remark, "What fools these immortals be!"

The Funder Democrats are acting in an oddity absurd manner. They are doing more to advance the interests of the Republican party than could that party itself effect. They are driving National Democrats out of the field and into the Republican fold by their foolish manner and politically wicked defiance of circumstances and considerations that demand pacification, not violence. One State can locally be given up when the nation is at stake, and the same troubles should be locked up in the closet of domestic affairs, though they be a skeleton, and kept there; let the bones rattle as the wind blows, either way, when the great question of national supremacy shows up and is to be contested.

CHINAMAN ON HANCOCK AND GARFIELD.

"What's your opinion of the respective nominees for President?" asked the Argus reporter yesterday morning, while poking his head in the door of Uh La Ling's laundry.

The answer came bird-like and musical: "Me no calee damme what Melican man do. Him no likee Chinese man anyhow. Him go to Chicago and Pigginnalti and makee mucbee hulah. He makee Melican swood aloud President, which him callee platform. He blastee me in platform and callee him Chinese plank."

The reporter suggested that the Chinese plank was more for California than any other place.

"Newspaper lepote mucbee snake. Him can no fool me. Melican man he jealous by Chinaman. Chinaman no care for Melican President. Me see him picture of Hancock in Pluck (Puck). Him standee straight; up like looster and have coat bluttoned up all around neck, alle samee likee so (indicating with both hands tightly buttoned around neck). He no wearee shizee with coat likee that. Chinaman can no makee money out sheckee man. Glaffied him wear coat allee samee likee Hancock. Him skeye likee Chinaman—now he no skeye him more. He eatee food. Le-publican likee me; me no likee Le-publican. Diemoclact no likee me; me no likee Diemoclact. Chitniman wishee bloteh go to hellee."

"Good-by," said our man.

"Bye, bye," was the echo.

There are said to be no fewer than eighteen members of the Vanderbilt family now staying at the Hotel Bristol, Paris, and even the suite of apartments usually reserved for the Prince of Wales has been given up to the American Millionaire.

THE POLITICAL SITUATION IN VIRGINIA.

Editor Richmond Dispatch.—We agree as to the absurdity of any compromise idea on the part of our party—vide your leader of today and my article. That portion of your editorial, however, in which you consider all articles on the subject as "pleasing to the Mahoneites," &c., calls forth from me the following remarks in explanation and justification of my requesting the publication of said article. On last court day we had a very large ratification meeting. After endorsing Hancock and English, and expressing a determination to inaugurate and prosecute a vigorous and aggressive campaign, a resolution was offered by one of our party to the Mahoneites for a compromise ticket. As I stated in my letter to-day, "I was surprised to see so many of party favoring the idea"; and I will now add that had I not opposed it this resolution would have been carried. I will mention other facts: The sheriff of an adjoining county, a prominent lawyer of an adjoining county, and citizens of my own county, (and, mark, all Simon-pure Democrats) insisted upon my withdrawing my substitute for said resolution—the two first-mentioned parties declaring the people of their section to be heartily in favor of a compromise. Seeing this state of things I felt that the question should be discussed, with a view to prevent a repetition of this attempt at compromise elsewhere. Now I will say frankly that I have never believed that the compromise idea was universal enough to amount to anything and consequently have never feared it; but I did fear that probably a like move would be made in some other counties as was made here, and I feared that the result would be that the Mahoneites would make capital of it, and raise a cry that we considered ourselves whipped already and were begging a compromise. And now I must humbly submit that an article written to prevent this result will be less "pleasing to Mahone" than the adoption of a single resolution in the State by our party favoring a compromise.

So you will permit me very modestly to contend that "my theory" in this regard was "better than yours," and that my article was very pertinent. You undoubtedly endorsed its sentiments, and I think, after this explanation, you will endorse its pertinency. OLD DOMINION, LOUISA COURTHOUSE, July 19, 1880.

"No, no; a thousand times no; they are not Virginians that counsel us to dishonor, but aliens of some degraded race. They are mongrels, of mixed blood, and without principles, who have crept into the State, and now seek to breed corruption by their contagious leprosy. These men are not Virginians—they are anything and everything but that—neither in birth, breeding, nor education. Some of them may have been born on this soil, and have had fathers born here, but they have no past that is any other than their present, and their future will be equally vile and despicable. "Honor and duty" are the watchwords of Virginia's true sons, and only those who blaze their course by their guiding light are worthy to be called Virginians! He who halts on a mere question of dollars and cents or barters away the honor of his people for his own inglorious ease, that he may avoid a few of the burdens his condition imposes upon him, is altogether unworthy of the name not only of Virginia, but of man.

"Is there one true son of Virginia who is willing to sell his birthright, blacken the memory of his father, and forfeit all his hopes of fair renown by following after this wretched rabble, this mongrel crew of hucksters and tricksters?"—State.

Let every Readjuster in Wythe and in Virginia cut the above out, and paste it in his hat, and should any one ever ask you to vote for a Funder, pull it out and read it; and if after reading it you can do so, go at once to the nearest water-course and drown yourself.—Wytheville Dispatch.

Prince Ronald Bonaparte will soon marry Mile. Marie Blanc, the daughter of Monaco Blanc. Her income annually is $100,000. His property consists of his name and an old sword.

GLADSTONE'S MINISTRY.

The condition of the Ministry and of the Ministerial majority at the present moment resembles, in the opinion of the London Standard, nothing so much as those legendary victims of witchcraft who were smitten from the cradle with premature old age. Before the first session, which should be the spring-tide of its youth and vigor, is two months old, Mr. Gladstone's government is involved in embarrassments which we have been hitherto accustomed to associate with periods of Parliamentary decrepitude. In 1872 and 1873 the phenomena which are now visible were noted and interpreted as consequences of what was past and as portents of what was to come. In those days, as one of his own colleagues long afterward explained, Mr. Gladstone had "spent his majority" with a fine froelanded contempt for the result. But this explanation, in itself not entirely a satisfactory one, can hardly apply to the present case. The liberal government has only just come into its inheritance; it has had as yet no opportunities for indulging in political prodigality, and even Mr. Goschen would not venture to tell us that it has outrun the constable already. Nevertheless, difficulties are thickening around Mr. Gladstone and his colleagues, and the temper in which they are met serves only to increase them. In the first place, modest as was the programme of legislation presented in the speech from the throne, there seems to be as little probability of carrying it out as if Temple Bar had been blocked by the crowd of omnibuses familiar to us during the heyday of liberal legislation eleven years ago. None of the Ministerial measures have excited enthusiasm; nearly all of them have stirred up more or less openly avowed suspicion.

ANOTHER STORY ABOUT MORGAN.

The celebrated William Morgan, of Masonic fame, who, a great many years ago, became, it is said, a victim to the horrors of Masonic fury, has a second cousin now residing in Clyde, and from him it is learned that the said Morgan was not murdered (as believed by many) but that to this cousin's personal knowledge he left the country of his own free will, going directly to Australia and receiving there his passage money and $200. Morgan published a newspaper in Australia until his death. His son is now there and in the same business.

STEPHENS ON TAXATION.

In the course of a recent speech, in his own State, Hon. A. H. Stephens made some remarks on the subject of taxation. He thought our system of taxation was the worst in the world—worse even than that of down-trodden Ireland. Taxes should be equal. In his judgment the internal revenue system should be abolished. Stamp duties were what our fathers fought against. The internal revenue was levied principally against tobacco and corn, more than two-thirds of the $105,000,000. He said tobacco and corn, he might say tobacco and whiskey. He said levy taxes upon foreign luxuries pay for them. Gen. Garfield said: "Let us alone." So said the devil when our Saviour drove them out. He thought our system of internal revenue was possessed by devils. Let us turn them out. We must not let them alone.

Mme. Nilsson has had a great success in the London representation of Boito's opera of Mefistofele. She took the Margaret of the first part, and the Helen of Troy of the second part, combining says the London Times, "the simple sweetness of the former with the classic dignity of the latter, in a manner which only artists of the highest order could equal."

The directors of the Manhattan elevated railroad, in New York, yesterday, considered the proposition for a consolidation of all the elevated railroad interests in New York, but no agreement was reached.

GERMAN WALKING MATCH.

Considerable interest has recently been awakened in the many gymnastic and athletic societies of the German capital, by a walking-match arranged between the celebrated pedestrian Freeman and one Kaepernick, a private in the fifth company of the Kaiser Franz Grenadier Guards. The distance agreed upon—270 English miles—was one calculated to test the powers of endurance of both competitors; and the match was brilliantly won by the Prussian grenadier who strode past the winning post nearly three hours before E Freeman gave in, the latter having walked 258 miles in 54 hours. Kaepernick now occupies the proud position of "Centennial Walking Champion." Besides winning the stakes he has been presented with £25 by his backers as a Sieger-Honorar, or "reward of victory," but the other wise perfect joy of his success has been somewhat dashed by the infliction of three days' pack-drill, imposed upon him by the commanding officer upon the technical ground that "a Prussian soldier may not make a public exhibition of himself." Kaepernick has already undergone his punishment, which cannot have caused much inconvenience to a man of his they and sinew, and is doubtless more than balanced in his favor by the glory of having beaten so renowned an Anglo-Saxon pedestrian as Freeman.

A HORSE AND A DOG FRIENDS.

Mr. Adams, of Van Schaick Island, is the possessor of a bay horse and a black Newfoundland dog, who have formed a wonderful attachment for each other. They are inseparable companions, and one is not easy when the other is out of sight for a moment. Whether in the stable or the pasture the dog sleeps with his equine friend. If the horse is harnessed the dog is on the alert and follows wherever driven, and when the horse stops the dog is close at his head, and it is a pleasure to witness them exchange caresses. The horse will scratch the dog's back with his teeth, which delights him greatly, and in return, the horse's face gets a thorough smoothing from the tongue of the dog. Sometimes to sport the horse will seize the dog by the nape of the neck with his teeth and raise him in the air but the dog does not whimper, but retorts by winking his opportunity to give the horse a pinch with his teeth. They will fight for each other wickedly. If the dog is attacked by other canines he seeks shelter under the horse, and the teeth and feet of that animal are active in his defence.

No, gentlemen, you could heal this whole matter and have it laid over in a few days by letting that coupon you lizzard Virginian out of in 1871, when she was tied by this Garfield crew. Even now you swear you would rather let Hancock go than "drap" that little whiskey skin, called the coupon.—Bristol News.

A BLUE LOOKOUT FOR THE NORTHERN FARMER.

A New York letter says: "It is pleasant to read about the prosperity of the country, and there can be little doubt but that, viewed as a whole, our working people are as generally employed, and at better prices, than for the past seven years. But it cannot be said that the farming class in the middle and eastern States are making money.

The competition with the west and the cheap rates of transportation, have injured the whole farming industry of the East. Col. Richard E Freeman gave in, the latter having walked 258 miles in 54 hours. Kaepernick now occupies the proud position of "Centennial Walking Champion." Besides winning the stakes he has been presented with £25 by his backers as a Sieger-Honorar, or "reward of victory," but the other wise perfect joy of his success has been somewhat dashed by the infliction of three days' pack-drill, imposed upon him by the commanding officer upon the technical ground that "a Prussian soldier may not make a public exhibition of himself." A NEW YORK RUMOR.

There is a rumor now that Collector Merritt, of New York, is in danger of being stepped down and out, but it is probably only a rumor. It is said that he is not sufficiently active in behalf of the Garfield and Arthur ticket; but it would be a new feature in the civil-service policy of this Administration to find a backwardness in coming forward to the support of any candidate for office an objection with the powers that be. It is highly probable that Madam Remor is on a wrong scent, and hence her speculations are at fault. General Merritt has the reputation of being a very capable and efficient collector, and this ought to insure him against anything like an attack upon his position, so far as the appointing power is concerned. It is very probable nevertheless, that the placing of his predecessor on the ticket does not enthrone him to a high degree, as those things work very queerly sometimes. It is not an uncommon thing for a successful candidate for a position to become rather unforgiving towards his predecessor and this may be a case of that kind. It is doubtful whether the President will remove for such a cause.—National Republican.

Mr. Robt. J. Jump, a well-known lawyer of Denton, Caroline county, Md., who was assaulted on Monday last by Mr. Jas. F. Melvin, Jr., of the Denton Journal, is in a critical condition. The assault grew out of an alleged intimacy which, it is claimed, had been discovered to have existed for some time between a sister of young Melvin and Mr. Jump, who is fifty years of age and married.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

The fourteenth annual Convention of the Baltimore Conference M. E. Church South Sunday-School Society began at Wesley Grove, Baltimore, yesterday. A freight train was thrown off the track of the Connecticut Valley railroad, near Hartford, Conn., yesterday, by the carelessness of the night watchman who adjusted the switch. Conductor Julius S. Bacon was killed. Engineer Frank Skillman had his ribs broken, and Fireman Wm. Stanton was badly bruised. Conductor Bacon, who was crushed under the wheels, leaves a wife and daughter.

Court Louis Francois de Pourtales died Monday in Beverly, Mass. The Count was a native of Neuchatel. He was born March 4, 1823, was educated as an engineer, and came to this country about the same time as Agassiz, whose pupil and fellow worker he became. After the death of Agassiz he was appointed keeper of the Museum of Comparative Zoology, which position he retained to the close of his life.

The investigation of the Narragansett steamboat disaster was continued at Bristol, Conn., yesterday. A number of witnesses made statements, but nothing was elicited which was of a character to throw further light upon the cause of the disaster. It seems quite evident that neither steamer understood the other and hence the collision. The loss of life is perhaps largely accounted for by the panic of many of the passengers to use the life-preservers that were at hand.

"It is a shame to publish such things about Garfield," said a Republican the other day to a Democratic friend of ours, referring to some passages from the candidates Congressional record. Whereupon the Democrat remarked that he was reminded what a Supervisor from one of the south towns once said at a meeting of the board. The subject of discussion was the old jail. Several members enlarged on the "beastly accommodations of the old rookery—it was a shame to put prisoners in such a place." "Well," said the supervisor, "perhaps it is a shame, but if prisoners don't like that jail why don't they keep out of it?" The application is obvious. If our Republican friends dislike to have Garfield's record ventilated why did they nominate him, and why did he make such a record?—Buffalo Courier (Dem.) July 16.

A TERRIBLE ACCIDENT.

A part of the Hudson River Tunnel collapsed yesterday.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., July 21.—At 5 o'clock this morning the tunnel, situated at the entrance of the Hudson River Tunnel now in course of construction at the foot of 15th street in this city, caved in, carrying with it an immense quantity of earth. Twenty-one men were buried under the mass, of whom seven were soon after taken out alive. The water from the river flowed in rapidly, and the steam engines were set to work to save men from drowning, if possible, those who might still be alive. The workmen residing in the vicinity of the tunnel, and a very large and excited crowd of persons soon gathered.

The night gang of thirty men, including Assistant-Superintendent Woodward and two firemen, entered the shaft at midnight, the hours of work for this gang being from 12 to 6 o'clock, a. m. The depth of the shaft is sixty-six feet, at the bottom of the shaft, about one-third of them were engaged on the brick wall of the arch, twenty-five feet higher; it was the latter squad, who were all brick-layers, that escaped—except two. The main arch of the tunnel was out from the shaft a distance of about thirty feet, when it opens into two distinct arches, that are to form the tunnel. Through some negligence of the men, it is supposed, the arch was not properly adjusted when the process of shifting commenced. The brick wall connecting the two arches gave way, and the water rushed into the cave.

The Superintendent thinks the compressed air in the tunnel must have escaped through the slit. He has not a gang of one hundred men at work to dig new passages to the tunnel, but they will not be able to reach the imprisoned men in less than three days.

OFFICIAL REPORT. The following is the official report of the Hudson River Tunnel Company, through its engineers Messrs. Spielman and Brush, relating to the accident to the Hudson River Tunnel, which occurred at the foot of 15th street, Jersey City, this morning about 4:30:

"While the men were changing shafts, that portion of the iron roof adjoining the shafts of the connecting chambers between the two tunnels and the sinking shafts, fell in. Twenty-eight men were in the tunnel at the time, of whom eight escaped through the air lock, and twenty were killed. The accident occurred at the connection of the iron plates with the brick wall of the working shaft, which during the changing of shafts was probably not watched by the men as closely as it should have been; and compressed air is relied upon to support the roof, which is also sustained by strong timber bracing; and the escape of air has always been prevented by stopping any leaks with waste silt. As the roof fell the plate closed the door of the air lock into the tunnel, and the water raising rapidly, cut off the escape of the twenty men who were killed."

ICE ON THE KENNEBEC RIVER.

Mr. George Weeks has shipped this season from this city eighteen cargoes of ice, containing 5,000 tons and as agent of the Consumers' Ice Company of New York city, he has shipped from their houses in South Gardner thirty cargoes, containing 12,000 tons of ice. He still has on hand for the company 15,000 tons, which will be shipped this season. The Centennial Company have finished shipping their Newark contract and are now shipping to Clauson & Co., of New York. D. C. Shepard agent for the Knickerbocker Ice Company of Philadelphia, has recently purchased about 12,000 tons of ice as follows: Of the Dresden Ice Company, 3,000 tons; of a Rich 2,600; of Atkins & McCausland, 3,000 tons, and all the unsold ice the Lincoln Company had about 3,000 tons. The price paid was $4 per ton. There is probably less than 60,000 tons of ice for sale on the Kennebec, and very little, if any, elsewhere in the State, and if the warm weather holds, "ice will be ice."—Augusta (Me.) Journal.

ANOTHER FUNDERSISM.

In the last issue of the Abingdon Standard a communication, dated at Ellendale, Smyth county, was published, to which was signed the name of one J. WINTON LOUTHAN. The production was evidently not that of Mr. LOUTHAN but of a sore-head Funder, who did not choose to write over his own name. The allusions to the editor of this paper were as uncalculated for and groundless as many of the statements of the writer, as to public sentiment in Smyth, are fabulous. This paper has not claimed that three-fourths of the people of Smyth are Readjusters, but that we have always had a good, resolute majority. We don't know whether the writer of the above referred to communication was present when the Readjusters of Smyth held a meeting to select delegates to the 7th of July Convention. If he was, and proclaims it a fizzle, he is either very ignorant as to what constitutes a good meeting, or is greatly disposed to misrepresent things. We think the sore-head Funder, who wrote from Ellendale, had better confine himself to facts in the future, and write over his own name.

To the People of the 9th Congressional District.

A Convention of the Readjusters of the Ninth Congressional District of Virginia, to nominate a candidate for Congress, is hereby called to assemble at Abingdon on Wednesday the 1st of September next.

Delegates and alternates of equal numbers will be appointed by the Readjusters of the respective counties composing the district, by the schedule of representation given below, and the chairman of county committees are requested to call meetings of the party in their several counties for the appointment of same.

SCHEDULE—Bland 2, Buchanan 2, Craig 2, Giles 3, Lee 7, Montgomery 6, Pulaski 3, Roanoke 5, Russell 5, Scott 6, Smyth 4, Tazewell 5, Wise 2, Wythe 6, Washington 8. Total number 66, and an equal number of alternates.

The pastor of the Methodist Church at North Adams, Mass., in explaining to his Sunday School the meaning of "original sin," said that Adam's fall did not morally affect anybody now. The superintendent assured the children that the pastor was mistaken, and endeavored to prove it by argument. The discussion lasted two hours, and finally became heated as he accusing the superintendent of "neither a gentleman nor a Christian." The children did not get any very clear idea of that day's lesson.

THE VALLEY RAILROAD.

BALTIMORE, July 21.—The committee appointed by the stockholders to secure the necessary means to finish the Valley road to Salem, finding that the total amount could not be obtained in New York on satisfactory terms, concluded to negotiate a serial mortgage, and by this means secure at the outset the sum required to complete the road to Lexington. More than half of the amount necessary to construct the extension between Staunton and Lexington, thirty-four miles, has already been expended, and that of the work had so far progressed at the time when the suspension was ordered that the chief engineer estimates that, in addition to the assets on hand, the sum of $600,000 or $700,000 will be sufficient to complete this portion and thus finish the line to Lexington. The Committee have been in negotiation with several prominent banking houses in Baltimore, and had every reason to be confident that this amount could be secured promptly and on favorable terms. The unexpected delay in reorganizing the Washington City and Virginia Midland road has made the moneyed interest of this city a little chary of further investments in Virginia.

The Virginia Midland case now, however, is before the Court of Appeals at Wytheville, having been further argued yesterday and continued until to-day, and, it is thought, at an early day will be set for trial, in which event the friends of that road feel confident the reorganization scheme will be completed, and this valuable property again placed in the hands of its owners. It is learned that the Virginia Midland road, like most of the roads in the country is reaping the advantages of an increased volume of business, and that its receipts show gratifying increase. If the Virginia Midland case is settled as promptly as it is thought it will be, the friends of the Valley road anticipate no difficulty in negotiating their proposed loan.

A correspondent of the New York Herald at Columbus, Ohio, reviewing the political situation, says the "most significant fact in connection with national politics in the State at present is the wavering of the Germans who have been voting the Republican ticket for the past few years. The thread which has held them to the party has been slender and it now seems likely to break. Garfield is not popular with the Germans, while Hancock is, and a stampede to him seems imminent." The correspondent adds that the "Wachter am Erie, the most influential German paper in the northern part of the State, has deserted the Republicans and will support the Democratic national and State tickets. In the likely event of a further defection of Germans this influence on the State and congressional campaigns will be decidedly unfavorable to the Republicans." It is quite from this that Mr. Garfield will not have a walk over in his own State.—Baltimore Gazette.

Terrible and Fatal Accident. Mrs. Morehead, wife of Giles Morehead, living about five miles below Newburn, on the McAdam road, was burned to death last Monday evening. She was alone at the time. It seems that she attempted to start a fire by the use of kerosene oil, a portion of which she spilled on her clothes and caught from the fire she had started. [Virginia People (Pulaski).

Miss Oliver of Waco, Texas, painted a mythological picture, and the Rev. Dr. Barleson in a sermon denounced it as indecent. The artist has obtained the signatures of two hundred citizens who entertain a contrary opinion.

A negro barber at St. Louis studied law at night for several years, and was finally admitted to the bar. He now works in the shop on Saturdays and Sundays, and practises with considerable success in the courts on other days.

Henry McIntosh and his wife were travelling on the steamer Old Colony. She carried all the money. He asked for ten cents to buy a drink, and declared that he would commit suicide if he did not get it. She refused, and he jumped overboard, but was rescued.

In Observatory Bay, in the Island of Kerguelen, Capt. Fairfax, who was in charge of the "Transit of Venus" expedition in 1874, turned off a few couples of wild rabbits. They have now increased to such an unheard-of extent that they run about in flocks, and must number hundreds of thousands.

A yawl containing a man and a boy was picked up on Lake Ontario. The man sat in the stern with an axe in his hands, and was glaring wildly at the boy, who was cowering in terror at the bow. They had been afloat several days without food, and the man, becoming crazed, had threatened to kill his companion.

Religious services were held in Edinburgh and other parts of Scotland on a recent Sunday in commemoration of the struggles of the Covenanters of the 17th century, and of the declaration of religious liberty made by the Cameronians in 1680. There was an open air service in Edinburgh attended by 10,000 or 15,000 people.

Fannie Ross, a pretty but thievish young woman, was discharged from custody at Paducah, Ky., within a block of the jail she met John Mathias, a respectable farmer, who was visiting the city. Their acquaintance began on the spot, and before night they were married. In addition to the usual ceremony, the bride took a solemn oath of reformation.

August Ludeke was so enraged by a blow from a neighbor at Morrow, Ohio that he swore to kill him. Having no available weapon at hand, he drove to a store five miles away, bought powder and shot, returned home, loaded a gun heavily, walked across the street to his enemy's house and fired at him through a window wounding him seriously.

Grant and Hancock.

One of the busiest streets to-day in St. Louis is Fourth. Millions of dollars change hands each day in the places of business fronting the curb-stones. There are many notable business houses and localities of interest upon Fourth street, among which it is only necessary to mention the Globe Democrat office, the Planters' House and the Court-house. It is, however, but a few years, comparatively, since this great highway of traffic was the site of the residences of the young aristocracy of St. Louis; who, in those days, had no thought of the great and prosperous city which was soon to spring up, and tearing away their homesteads, erect in the places once occupied by them business blocks and grand marts of commerce. If they had thought of it they would have bought more land. Fourth street is historical. There lived in the years gone by the Harneys, the Deuts, the Russells, the Bennetts, and many other families, members of which have since arrived at distinction. Upon the street two of the most notable men of the country as present—Grant and Hancock—were married. In those days Grant, the greatest general of the age, was regarded of small account, while Gen. Hancock was extremely popular. While old man Dent confidentially informed his friends that he had the most singular son-in-law in seven States, the Russells were immensely proud of the acquisition to their family of Lieut. Hancock. The Russells were very high-toned people in those days; the Deuts, while eminently respectable, were not of the class that wore claw-hammer coats every day.

A reporter of the Globe Democrat dropped around yesterday into the office of John F. Darby, a gentleman who was living in St. Louis when the children of the forest were begging fine-cut of De Soto, and requested him to refresh his memory in regard to those two notable marriages. "I remember Grant's wedding well," said Mr. Darby. "Old man Dent met me on Third street and asked me to come around, as Julia was going to be married to a fellow named Grant. I knew Grant, and so when I got home I asked my wife if she wanted to go to a wedding. 'Whose?' said she. 'Julia Dent's,' said I; 'she's going to marry a man named Grant.' 'I suppose you might as well go,' says she. It wasn't much of a wedding. A Methodist preacher performed the ceremony. 'Where was the Dent residence?' 'Corner of Fourth and Cerre streets.' 'The way of it was,' continued Mr. Darby, 'young Lewis Dent went to West Point as a cadet. He there became acquainted with Grant, and on one of his vacations brought the future President home to make a visit. He thus became acquainted with Julia, and they were shortly afterward married.' 'You remember Hancock's wedding, also, do you?' 'I do, distinctly. It was a notable event in St. Louis society. The couple were married by Dr. Eliot. The Russells were Unitarians then. Nearly all of that sect were present.' 'Where was the house?' 'On Fourth between Walnut and Elm.' 'The Russells were quite high-toned people then?' 'Yes, quite so; they were very genteel; no shoddy about the Russells.'—St. Louis Globe Democrat.

Irish Gratitude to Americans.

The Connaught Telegraph of the 10th of July states that a large meeting of tenant farmers was held in Bohola (County Mayo), Sunday, July 4th. A number of speeches were made and the following resolution adopted: "That we hereby tender our gratitude to the people of the great Republic of the West, the anniversary of whose independence we this day celebrate, for the timely and generous assistance rendered by them to the starving people of Ireland; and we appeal to them to continue the good work by giving us their sympathy in our efforts to overthrow the vicious system of landlordism which has been the cause of these periodical famines, and has cursed, humiliated, and degraded our race."

Divorce practice is very common in the English courts. Here is a lady who fifteen months after marriage appears as a respondent in the Divorce Court, judgement being given against her. A few months after she marries the gentleman who appeared as correspondent. Recently she appeared in the same court this time as plaintiff, and her husband having little or no defence to offer, she obtained her decree nisi. Now that the application has been made to render the decree absolute the Queen's Proctor intervenes to hinder the pleasant little arrangement, for it appears that one of the witnesses is only waiting for the court to release the lady from her present matrimonial ties in order that he may marry her himself. This witness is indeed exonerated from guilt by the verdict of the jury, but there is another gentleman, who was not called as a witness, against whom judgement was given, and according to the evidence of the plaintiff herself, this person was engaged to marry a young lady who was at that time the wife of a noble lord. A magistrate must have the wisdom of Solomon if he can reduce so complex a question to simple equity.—Exchange.

Terrible Accident on the Detroit River. DETROIT, July 23.—A terrible accident occurred about 10 o'clock last night on the Detroit river, some nine miles below this city. The excursion steamer Garland, with 1,200 persons on board, under the auspices of the Detroit Moulder's Union, while going down the river, collided with the steam yacht Mamie coming up, cutting her in two so that she almost instantly sank. The latter had on board twenty-four persons, consisting mainly of Father Bleyenbergh, pastor of Trinity Roman Catholic Church, of this city, and a number of acolytes and boys officiating in various capacities in the services of the church. They had been on their annual excursion to Monroe and were returning home. The night was bright with moonlight, and there would seem to have been no reason save that of criminal neglect, why the accident should have occurred. Of those on board the Mamie, the following were drowned: Mrs. Fred Martin, wife of the engineer; Miss Lizzie Murphy, housekeeper of Father Bleyenbergh; Miss Mary Hohn, of the Domestic Parochial School, of Trinity Church, and nine altar boys of the church, aged from 11 to 14 years. Thomas Kelley, sexton of the church; James Kelley, organ blower, and Andrew Doran, a boy who was invited to accompany the excursion; Thomas McLogan and another boy are missing and are doubtless lost. Captain Hoffman, Engineer Martin, Father Bleyenbergh, Miss Lizzie Dusean, of Monroe, and four others, were saved and reached this city about two o'clock this morning. None of the bodies of the drowned have yet been recovered.

Solution of Virginia's Problem.

Our special correspondence from Virginia this morning contains gratifying intelligence to true Democrats all over the country. Acting upon The Gazette's suggestion for a compromise between the Readjusters and Funders, a large number of representative men have united in a call for a mass meeting at Woodstock on the 31st instant, and have even gone further in agreeing upon the basis of a settlement, by which it is proposed to heal all State dissensions in the Democratic ranks and secure Virginia's electoral vote beyond peradventure for Hancock and English. Upon the occasion of the assembling speech-making is to be dispensed with, and it is simply proposed, in order to test the sentiment of those present, to register the names of all voters who favor this action in Shenandoah county. The other counties are urgently requested to take similar action and thus show to the world that the Democrats of Virginia are united on national issues. The proposition for a compromise, which has already been agreed upon by leading members of both wings of the party, recommends the placing in the field of an electoral ticket to be composed of five electors from each wing of the party, the eleventh elector to be chosen by the National Democratic Committee of the United States. This will, of course, necessitate the withdrawal of six electors from each electoral ticket, leaving five from each pledged to the support of Hancock and English, the eleventh member to be selected as already indicated. This suggestion is eminently wise and patriotic, and we trust and feel assured that at the coming Democratic gathering at Woodstock it will be so heartily and strongly endorsed that the other counties of the State will speedily lend their official approval to this simple and effectual solution of the political problem in Virginia. There should be no unnecessary delay in closing up the ranks. The Democrats of Virginia owe it to themselves and to the country at large to so adjust their local differences that the State may be safely counted in the Democratic column in the coming campaign.—Baltimore Gazette.

A Duel Between Boys.

The London Telegraph says: A very novel description of a duel which is reported from France tends to show that the rage for fighting is attaining to inconvenient proportions. Two lads, each about sixteen years of age, were, it seems, breakfasting together in a factory near the Rue Notre Dame de Nazareth, Paris, and, having quarrelled, agreed to settle their dispute in what is now the prevalent fashion. They were not, however, in possession of foils, and, as a consequence, determined to fight with knives, throwing them at each other in the Spanish fashion. Standing three paces apart, they began the battle, and soon one of them fell covered with blood. Thereupon the victor descended to the basement of the building for medical aid, and brought a doctor upon the scene just in time to witness the death of the wounded lad. Dumont—for that is the name of the survivor—is now incarcerated at the Police Depot, while the body of his friend has been taken to the Morgue for examination. It is noted that the whole affair is more than ordinarily sad, since the father of the boy who now awaits his trial has only just lost his wife and a daughter; and has been deprived of reason by this fresh misfortune.

The Coming Event at Madrid.

LONDON, July 24.—A Madrid dispatch says: "It is now considered certain in official circles that Premier Canovas de Castillo has overruled the objections raised by the Queen's Austrian physician against the return of the court to Madrid in the heat of August. The State apartments in the palace at Madrid are being sumptuously prepared for the Queen's accouchment, which is expected at the end of August. The Queen's mother, the Archduchess Elizabeth of Austria, will arrive in Madrid next week. Ex-Queen Isabella will visit the capital later?"

General Grant's New Position.

BOSTON, July 24.—General U. S. Grant has been elected president of the San Pedro and Canon de L'Aqua Company, which owns 40,000 acres of land in New Mexico, including copper and gold mines. Boston and New York capitalists are largely interested in the enterprise. While in New York, General Grant will make his headquarters at the banking-house of George William Ballou & Co.

A case is mentioned, as a curiosity, where a young Methodist preacher of Boston declined the degree of Doctor of Divinity, tendered him by a certain university.

The Presbyterian Board of Education raises "the question whether the time has not come for seriously examining into the existing condition of the ministry, and inquiring what evils there may be in it regarding its proper development, and for taking earnest measures for their removal."

The Democratic party had just as well look the following facts squarely in the face. General MAHONE is a United States Senator from Virginia. He takes his seat in March 1881. We predict that General MAHONE will not have been in his seat all of one session before he puts out to the world a scheme for "Re-adjusting" the National debt. You need not pool pool this, it will be done, and it will have a far stronger backing than you think on a superficial observation. He will have this apparent equity. He will say that the bonds were sold during the war and that the Government got only about forty cents in the dollar for them, and that is therefore all that it ought to be required in justice to pay, and that it is entitled to "eliminate" all the rest. This proposition will sweep Virginia and all the other Southern States. Although the National debt is the price of the negro's emancipation, they will to a man vote to repudiate it. Every white man in Virginia who has voted to repudiate the National debt, and the movement to repudiate that will not meet with the resistance in Virginia which the movement to repudiate our State debt has met with. One we contracted voluntarily and have a sentiment of honor involved in, the other was contracted to overthrow and subdue us.

The entire Greenback and Commune element of the West and North will vote for it and when it is agitated and the people are made to understand that the Government only got four hundred dollars for its present obligation to pay one thousand dollars, it will be found that the farmers of Illinois and Ohio will take the same view of the subject that many farmers of Virginia have taken of our State debt.—Richmond Commonwealth.

Notice to Overseers of Roads. At the last sitting of the County Court for Smyth County, the attention of the Grand Jury was called to the numerous violators of the Road Laws by Overseers and others. But the jury informed me that it would be an endless matter at most to go into such an inquiry at that time, and suggested to the Court that notice be published in the newspapers of the county, that the road law will be vigorously enforced against all trespassers hereafter. This view was also concurred in by the Commonwealth's attorney. The Road Boards and Road Overseers must look into this matter and see that the road law is fully executed.

District Conferences. The District Conference which was held at this place for the Wytheville district of the Holston Conference, was a pleasant and profitable meeting to all the christian people of the community. There were about sixty ministers and lay delegates present, and on Saturday and Sunday a very large number of visitors were in attendance.

On Thursday night, Rev. Mr. Weaver preached an excellent sermon to a large congregation in the Methodist church. On Friday night, Rev. Geo. W. Green, who was once a resident of this place, preached a good, logical sermon in the same church. On Saturday night, Rev. Mr. Frazier, presiding elder of the Tazewell district, preached a fine sermon in the Methodist church. On Sunday morning, at 11 o'clock, Dr. McFerrer preached a magnificent gospel sermon to as large a congregation as the Methodist church would hold. At the same hour Dr. Wiley preached to a full congregation in the Episcopal church, and Rev. Mr. Lyon to a good congregation in the Baptist church. On Sunday night, Dr. Wiley preached at the Methodist church, Rev. Henry Neal at the Baptist church, Rev. Geo. W. Green at the colored Methodist church, and Rev. Mr. Brown at the colored Baptist church.

On Saturday evening, at 3 o'clock, a re-union meeting of former students of Emory and Henry College of Martha Washington College, and of Sullins College, was held at the Methodist church. The meeting was very entertaining and much interest was manifested for the future success and prosperity of these institutions. Very fine addresses were made by Prof. Wm. E. Peters, of the University of Virginia, Drs. Sullins and Wiley, of Emory and Henry; President Hoss, of Martha Washington; President Hearon, of Sullins College, and others. The address of Prof. Peters was spoken of by all who heard it as one of much force and ability.

On Sunday afternoon, a Jubilee meeting of the Methodist Sunday School was held, and addresses made by Rev. Lyon and Dr. McFerrer. Over twenty-five dollars, made up by the various classes of the Sunday school, were collected for Missionary purposes. The exercises of the Conference terminated Sunday night.

Heavy Rain. A heavy rain fell in the neighborhood of town yesterday, and much harm was done to the corn crop.

Work Commenced. Work has been commenced on the new Presbyterian Church. The brick work is being done by Jim Cooley.

Personal. Mr. E. P. Pendleton starts for Richmond to-morrow, to enter the Wholesale Drug House of R. W. Powers & Co. Doc is a popular young man and will build up a good trade for this house in the South-west.

Fine Turnouts. Nearly all our men of means are providing themselves with handsome buggies and Jerseys, and we are pleased to say all drive good stock.

Improvements. Mr. Mills, our supt. of streets is making some good improvements of the streets in the neighborhood of the bridge and on some of the back streets.

Sad Calamity. Last Tuesday, a little 12 year old son of Mr. James H. Johnson, living near Barnesville, in this county, was riding on top of a load of rye, when the wagon upset, throwing the little fellow on a four pronged fork, which was run through his heart, killing him instantly. The parents and relatives have our sympathies, in this, their sore affliction.—Petersburg True Issue.

The Fairs. The Southwest Virginia Agricultural Association, at Wytheville, will hold their twelfth annual exhibition on the 6th, 7th and 8th of October. The Abingdon Fair will come off September 29th and 30th and October 1st. The Jonesboro Fair will embrace September 29th and 30th and October 1st. The Lynchburg Agricultural and Mechanical Society has decided to hold their next Fair on the 18th, 19th, 20th and 21st of October. The Border Fair will hold its Annual Exhibition September 22nd, 23rd and 24th.

Postpone your State issue of fourteen millions of dollars till 1881 says the Funder. We'll do it, replies the Readjuster. Here is a ticket that will support Hancock and English to a man. There is no doubtful man on it. But, replies Mr. Funder, you can only postpone by voting our ticket. Isn't that passing strange? Nobody but a fool can be caught with such stuff.—Woodstock Virginian.

Contested Judgeships. There are three cases of contested County Judgeships awaiting decision of the Court of Appeals, now in session at Wytheville, viz: Alderson vs. McBroome, Russell County; Wylie vs. Easley, Bland and Giles counties; and Barksdale vs. Armistead, Hall, fax. Argument in the first named case has been heard, and the case submitted.

Sale of the A. M. & O. Railroad. By virtue of and pursuant to a judgment and decree of foreclosure and sale, rendered and entered at the April term, 1879, of the Circuit Court of the United States for the Fourth Judicial Circuit and the Eastern District of Virginia in the action of William Butler Duncan and Samuel L. M. Barlow vs. the Atlantic, Mississippi and Ohio Railroad Company and others, M. F. Pleasants, appointed, advertises to sell on Monday, November 1st, 1880, all the mortgaged premises franchises and property, both real, personal and mixed, of the said Atlantic, Mississippi and Ohio Railroad Company. The sale will take place at noon, in the courtroom of the United States Circuit Court, at Richmond.

Blaine Warning up Towards Garfield.

Blaine has written Garfield a very cordial letter. General C. H. Grosvenor, of Ohio, who was at Garfield's home when the letter arrived, says of it: "I don't believe one American ever wrote a stronger letter to another than Blaine to Garfield, and I don't remember ever to have heard a letter passing between public men which so impressed me with the greatness of the writer. It affected every one who heard it, and will be prized by General Garfield, no doubt, as one of the most precious mementoes that will come to him in this remarkable struggle. From first to last the letter showed how earnestly Blaine was ready to labor for the success of the Republican candidate. It was the noblest, most manly, courageous and whole-souled presentation of the position of Mr. Blaine that could have been possibly put into English language. If all of Blaine's friends could read that letter it would not only increase their admiration for the man, but give them new spirit for the contest."

The Tunnel Disaster.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., July 24.—The work at the tunnel was resumed at an early hour this morning. The water was up to within a few feet of the engine, which was working in a fitful sort of way, and kept the water from overflowing it, the water in the shaft being higher than at any time since the accident. Work was resumed on the cribbing this morning and all the men who were discharged yesterday were put to work again, and will be kept at work night and day until the crib work is completed. Three divers are now preparing to go down to try and close the door of the air-lock, one who went down last night not being able to accomplish anything. He was unable to tell whether there was a body wedged between the outer doors of the air-lock or not.

The Health of Memphis.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—A report having been published that cholera prevailed at Memphis, Tenn., Dr. Turner, secretary of the National Board of Health, telegraphed to Dr. Thornton, president of the Memphis Board of Health, concerning the truthfulness of the report. Dr. Thornton's reply states that there is no truth whatever in the report, and that Memphis is unusually healthy.

F. M. McMullen, one of the Funder electors, made a gloomy speech to a gloomy audience, lighted by a tallow dip, in Alexandria a few months ago. McMullen then taught his small audience that the country was going to the devil under Republican and Democratic rule, and unless the people voted for Greenback candidates they would go to the devil with it. Mr. McMullen is a good deal like some of the so-called Readjusters, who are so bent upon official position of some sort that they are willing to accept the slightest recognition from any party. They would sooner reign in hell than to serve in Heaven.—Sunday Picayune.

The Minnesota wheat crop is panning out splendidly. The army worm has made its appearance in the cornfields near Pittsburgh, Penn.

The yellow fever this summer has given Memphis a wide berth. The city is now unusually healthy. A man named Seruggs and a boy of ten years named Joseph Watson were drowned near Denver, Col., on Sunday, by the upsetting of a boat.

General Grant has accepted an invitation to visit Boston the last of September, as the guest of the Middlesex Club. A grand banquet and reception will be given in his honor, at which the New England Governors and many other distinguished men will be present.

The Baltimore American of Saturday says: "One of the Baltimore county papers informs the Democrats that General Bradley T. Johnson is about to become a resident of Baltimore county, as he will likely purchase the residence of General Trimble on North Boundary avenue, and warns them that he may interfere with the aspirations of some of them." An eruption of Mount Vesuvius began Sunday.

Readjuster Hancock and English Club. The Readjusters of the city met last night in German's Hall, which they have rented until the third of next November, with D. A. Windsor in the chair, and Samuel J. Wimsatt, secretary, for the purpose of organizing a Hancock and English club, pledged to the support of the Independent Elector ticket. The club was organized with a membership of fifty-four white voters, by the election of Col. Turner W. Ashby, as president, and Samuel J. Wimsatt, as secretary. Col. Ashby, in accepting the presidency of the club, made a few remarks, in which he said that he was in full accord with the Readjusters of the State; that he was with them heart and soul.—Alex. Gazette, 23d.

Chambers' Encyclopaedia.

15 VOLS. OVER 18,000 PAGES. PRICE DURING JULY, $6.25. Among the many wonderful things which have been accomplished for lovers of good books by the "Literary Revolution," perhaps the most wonderful is the reproduction of this great Encyclopaedia at a mere nominal cost. It is a veritable reprint of the last English edition in 15 beautiful volumes, clear non-parallel type, handsomely bound in cloth, for $7.50, the same printed on finer, heavier paper, wide margins, and bound in half Russia, gilt top, price $12.00. The first ten volumes are ready for delivery. Vol. 11 will be ready July 10. The remaining volumes will be completed by October next.

An Amazing Offer. The more widely and rapidly these volumes are scattered, the greater is their influence in inducing other purchasers of this and our many standard publications. Accordingly we give special terms to early subscribers. To all, whose orders and money are received during the month of July, we will supply the 15 volumes in cloth for $6.25, and in half Russia, gilt top, for $12.50. To any one sending from any place, where we have no special agent (usually the leading bookseller of the town) a club of five orders, we will allow a commission of 10 per cent. The volumes issued will be sent at once by express, and the remaining volumes when completed.

A specimen volume in cloth will be sent, post paid for 50 cents, or in half Russia, gilt top for 81 and may be returned at once if not satisfactory. THE "CHAMBERS' ENCYCLOPAEDIA" comprising the first 15 volumes of our "Library of Universal Knowledge," and the remaining volumes, complete in themselves, will be sold separately when published.

COMMISSIONERS NOTICE.

Pursuant to a decree of the Circuit Court of Smyth County pronounced on the 3rd day of October 1879 in the chancery cause of B. F. Aker and others against F. P. Stealey and others, the undersigned as Commissioners appointed by said decree will proceed on the 16th day of August 1880 that being court day, at the front door of the court house of Smyth county, to re-sell to the highest bidder the tract of land mentioned in said cause, being the tract of land known as the Johnathan Aker farm, containing about 350 acres situated on the McArdam road about 12 miles east of Marion.

MARK THESE FACTS HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.

Exercise your judgment—no newer and better philosophy.—To pull down all absurd and antiquated notions of diseases and its cures, and to establish a rational system on the ruins, has been the chief endeavor of Dr. Holloway through life. Hence the origin of his celebrated Pills and their success, commences in keeping with common sense, because subservient to nature, rather than at variance with her laws, like those in general use. To the stomach we trace dyspepsia, headache and general debility; to the liver, bile, jaundice, and yellow fever; to the bowels, diarrhoea, dysentery, constipation, piles and fistula; to the lungs, consumption, etc., to the blood, scrofula, syphilis, and all cutaneous eruptions. By keeping these organs and vital fluid pure and healthy we may safely defy the attacks of disease, and no medicine yet prepared for this purpose can equal the action of these Pills and Ointment, as they drive to the seat of the disorder, and extracting its cause, destroy its effect.
