NAN AND SIM.

STORY OF AN ENFORCED XMAS PRESENT.

'Nan, come here er winit,' said old Bob Horner, addressing his daughter. The girl, who stood spreading the covers on an old-fashioned bed, pretended not to hear her father's demand.

should find her greatest pleasure in hovering over the sizzling bacon and watching the hoe-cape. Nan, the girl, was a beautiful blonde, full of life, but afraid of her father. Sim Buck, to whom Nan was secretly engaged to be married, was, the neighbors said, 'a rip snortin sort uv er feller that mout or mount ter suthun ef he would try, but the chances wuz ergin him.'

Mrs. Horner took up the supper, and, sighing wearily, said: 'Come, pap, an eat er snack.' The old man drew up his chair, waited, with an air of impatience, until the other members of the family were seated and then asked a blessing, beginning with an elongated 'gracious Lord' and ending with an unintelligible sigh.

About one month later, on the day before Christmas, old Horner, while splitting a 'rail cut' some distance from home, accidentally stepped in the opening of the log just as one of the 'gluts' flew out. The two sections of the log closed on the old man's foot and ankle, and but for the thick sole of his boot, would have crushed his foot.

'Hello, old man?' Looking up with a start of joy, the old man beheld Sim Buck leisurely approaching. 'Far the Lawd's sake, Simmie, run here!

'What's the matter, Nan?' 'Nuthin.'

'You air a brute,' the old man raved. 'Yes, that's what they said down in the holler, but the branch kep on er runnin.'

'That's me, an ter morrer will be Christmas, too. Loved that I'd come over an take dinner with yer, but I hearn that yer didn't want nobody but preachers ter come round yer.'

'This thing is er bout ter pinch my foot off.' 'Ah, hah, hnt I must go?' 'Say, Sim.'

'Old man,' said Sim, 'it won't be many hours now till Christmas, an I tell yer what I loved was best. Jest ez ther first rooster crows aiter ther clock strikes twelve I'm goin out an git a strike uv ther piece an git married.'

'When the clock struck twelve Sim said: 'Now, lesson for the rooster! Ding him, will he never crow; thar he is! Git yer nag, ole man.'

'How'd yer slip up on me?' 'W'y, Sim he fessed 'gigion tuther day, has jined the church an the confunce has dun made er preacher outen him, an he had gone ter tell yer the good news when he found yer crotch by er log.'

'Wall, wall,' said the old man, 'Sim er preacher, wall, er haw! haw! the joke is him.'

A Lesson for Sarah.

When our young friend first left her country home, with its quiet, simple ways, for a year in a fashionable boarding school, she signed her name 'Sarah Jane Smith,' and took no offence at being called Sally.

Mourning and Color.

Black expresses the privation of light and joy, the midnight gloom for the loss sustained. The color of mourning in Europe. It was also the color of mourning in ancient Greece and in the Roman Empire.

Pale brown, the color of withered leaves. The mourning of Persia. Sky blue expressed the assured hope that the deceased is gone to heaven. The color of mourning in Syria, Cappadocia and Armenia.

Something New in Gloves.

The leading innovation in the line of kid gloves is the introduction of heavy embroidery upon the backs of gloves worn for dress in contrasting colors.

Black upon white; white upon black; black upon delicate pearl colors; mauve upon black, and so on. Where the two shades of the dress are combined in the embroidery upon the glove, or where the glove carries out the design of dress in its contrast of colors, it is less marked.

An End to Bone Scraping. Edward Shepherd, of Harrisburg, Ill., says: 'Having received so much benefit from Electric Bitters, I feel it my duty to let suffering humanity know it. I have had a running sore on my leg for eight years; my doctors told me I would have to have the bone scraped or leg amputated. I used, instead, three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and my leg is now sound and well.'

God's Children are Gathering Home.

Mrs. Mary Copenhaver, wife of Jno. Copenhaver, died at her home on last Saturday night. The deceased's maiden name was Brown and she was the sister of Mrs. Goolsby and Mrs. Cole, both of whom are now dead. Mrs. Copenhaver was born in this county on January 1823 at the old Goolsby place, and at the age of 22 was united in marriage to Mr. Jno. Copenhaver, of this county. She was the mother of ten loving and obedient children, three sons and seven daughters, all of whom are now living witnesses of the Scripture saying—Honor thy father and thy mother that thy days may be long in the land which the Lord, thy God giveth thee.—Mrs. Copenhaver united herself with the Lutheran church when of a tender age and since then has devoted herself to the glory and interest of her Master's cause. Her hospitable house was always open to her friends whose name was legion. She was taken sick about two years ago and had been confined to her room for eight or ten months. The funeral services took place Monday, Rev. Greiner conducting, and the remains were interred at Ebenezer.

CITY OF CHARLESTON, EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, DEC. 31ST, 1886.

To the Contributors to the Relief of the Earthquake Sufferers:

At the close of this year, memorable by our sudden and terrible affliction from the mysterious visitation of Earthquake, the Corporation of the City of Charleston, in grateful memory of the blessed bounty that quickly came from all parts of this land, and even from beyond the seas, for the needy sufferers in this stricken city, sends to each and all these generous givers, this city's heartfelt gratitude and glad greetings in the new hopes of the New Year.

The families in more than two thousand homes restored, the multitude of the poor fed and sheltered, the orphan, the sick, the aged and the needy in their rebuilt hospital and places of refuge will always cherish this gracious and unselfish giving and in the heart of this city the memory of it shall be precious as a charity, the fruit of which is on earth and its growth in heaven.

To all our brothers far and near who have been touched by our woe, our heartfelt wish is that, as unto us in this human springtime of peace and good will, so unto them may come in God's good providence, "The charities that soothe and heal and bless."

Voted unanimously in City Council 28th December, 1886.

W. W. Simons, Clerk. W. A. Courtenay, Mayor.

The above was received by D. C. Miller, who forwarded the contribution of Marion.

Rheumatism and Neuralgia Cured in Two Days.

The Indiana Chemical Co. have discovered a compound which acts with truly marvelous rapidity in the cure of Rheumatism and Neuralgia. We guarantee it to cure any and every case of acute Inflammatory Rheumatism and Neuralgia in two days, and to give immediate relief in chronic cases and effect a speedy cure.

On receipt of 30 cents, in two cent stamps, we will send to any address the prescription for this wonderful compound, which can be filled by your home druggist at small cost. We take this means of giving our discovery to the public instead of putting it out as a patent medicine, it being much less expensive. We will gladly refund money if satisfaction is not given.

A Brave Young Woman.

A special from Helena, Ark., says: The doughty burglar who has been doing a hand office business the past few days came near having a stop put to his burgling days last night. He entered the houses of S. Watson, Eugene Bertou and C. L. Moore. At the latter place he found his way up stairs to a room occupied by Miss Imogene Thompson, a niece of Mr. Lawson Moore. Miss Thompson was awakened and called out to know who was there, whereupon the fellow left the room. The young lady's invalid father's room is just across the hall, and thinking it might possibly be he she sat up in the bed and listened for some sign that would indicate who the prowler was. While thus waiting the door again opened and the burglar entered on all-fours. Miss Thompson then drew a pistol from beneath her pillow and pulled on him. Only one chamber was loaded, and after firing this and snapping four times the brave young woman hastily reloaded her pistol and followed the retreating figure down the stairway. He had made his exit, though, and no trace of him could be found. Miss Thompson's courageous conduct is highly commended, and many regrets were expressed that she did not hit him. She speaks very coolly of the affair, and says that if she could she would have shot him the first time he entered the room.

It is said that the fate of Cluverius has had decided effect upon the mind of Holmes E. Puyer, who is confined in jail at Petersburg under sentence of death for the murder of his wife nearly two years ago. Puyer has appealed to the Supreme court for a new trial, but this case has not yet got before that tribunal by reason of its delay in printing the voluminous record. Meanwhile one of the counsel who so ably defended him has died. Naturally, the action of the Supreme court in refusing to grant Cluverius a new trial, and of the Governor in refusing to commute sentence, has had a depressing effect upon Puyer.

The Republicans of the Nebraska Legislature have disposed of Senator Van Wyck, whom the Democrats so confidently calculated on to annoy the Republicans in the Senate in the Fiftyeth Congress. They have laid him on the shelf and in his place elected ex Senator Paddock to succeed Van Wyck after the 4th of March next. Paddock is a straight-out Republican and will not be any comfort to the Democrats when party questions are at issue.—Valley Virginian.

Winter Care of Pigs.

Crowd the fattening pigs. As long as they will eat another ounce of corn and it is not given to them, time is lost, and time is money.

Keep young pigs warm. There is no better bed for growing pigs than a clear earth floor, in a partly underground pen, if necessary provision is made for them; pigs are very clean animals, and their sleeping place is always kept clean when they can do it.

Food that is somewhat acid, but not very sour, is better for store pigs than quite sweet food. The best and cheapest pork we ever made was fed with potatoes and corn ears boiled together until the former were soft, when the whole was mashed and cooled and reduced to a thick mush.

Ward's Woes.

For twelve or fourteen years I have been a great sufferer from a terrible form of blood poison which ran into the secondary, and finally it was pronounced a tertiary form. My head, face and shoulders became almost a mass of corruption, and finally the disease commenced eating away my skull bones.

I chanced to see an advertisement of B. B. B. and sent one dollar to W. C. Brehm and Co., merchants of our place, and they procured one bottle for me. It was used with decided benefit, and when eight or ten bottles had been used I was pronounced sound and well.

Hundreds of scars can now be seen on me, looking like a man who had been burned and then restored. My case was well known in this county, and for the benefit of others who may be similarly affected, I think it my duty to give the facts to the public, and to extend my heartfelt thanks for so valuable a remedy.

Mayer's, Ga., Jan. 1886.—We, the undersigned, know Robert Ward, and take pleasure in saying that the facts above stated by him are true, and that his was one of the worse cases of Blood Poison we ever knew in our country and that he has been cured by the use of B. B. B.—Botanic Blood Balm.

A. T. Brightwell, Merchant, W. C. Brehm & Co., Merchants, J. H. Brightwell, M. D., John T. Hart, W. B. Campbell.

All who desire full information about the cause and cure of Blood Poison, Scrofula and Scrofulous Swellings, Ulcers, Sores, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaints, Catarrh, etc., can secure by mail, free, a copy of our 22 page illustrated Book of wonders, filled with the most wonderful and startling proof ever before known.

It is not to be denied that a good sewing machine is one of the most important appurtenances of the modern household.

We thought we had a good machine until one day the agent of the New Home presented himself at our door and proceeded to deliver an oration upon its characteristic merits.

"But," we answered, "our machine suits us well and we do not care for another."

The agent, however, begged the privilege of leaving one of his machines with us for the ladies to try.

The request was not unreasonable so we granted it—but more to oblige the agent than anything else; for we really we did not want the machine, and had not the remotest idea of buying it.

The machine once in the house, it was natural that the ladies should look it over; they did so, and as a consequence fell in love with it.

They say that without the slightest wish to deery or disparage any other machine, this, all things considered, is, in their opinion, the most desirable one to be had.

This unrivalled machine is manufactured by the New Home Sewing Machine Company, Orange, Massachusetts, and thirty Union Square New York.

A physician was called whose prescriptions were useless, and the pain increased. Upon the advice of a neighbor the little sufferer was taken to a hospital in Eighth street, New York, founded by Mrs. Oswald Ottendorfer.

Most Excellent.

J. J. Atkins, Chief of Police, Knoxville, Tenn., writes: "My family and I are beneficiaries of your most excellent medicine, Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption; having found it to be all that you claim for it, desire to testify to its virtues. My friends to whom I have recommended it, praise it at every opportunity."

For young people is what the papers call ST. NICHOLAS. Do you know about it—how good it is, how clean and pure and helpful? If there are any boys or girls in your house will you not try a number, or try it for a year, and see if it isn't just the element you need in the household?

ST. NICHOLAS for 1886-87.

Stories by Louis M. Alcott and Frank R. Stockton, several by each author. A Short Serial Story by Mrs. Burnett, whose charming "Little Lord Fauntleroy" has been a great feature in the past year of ST. NICHOLAS.

The Serial Stories include "Juan and Juanita," an admirably written story of Mexican life, by Frances Courtenay Baylor, author of "On Both Sides," also, "Jenny's Boarding-House," by James Otis, a story of life in a great city. Short Stories, instructive and entertaining, will abound. Among these are: "How a Great Panorama is Made," by Theodore R. Davis, with profuse illustrations; "Winning a Commission at the Naval Academy," and "Recollections of the Naval Academy;" "Boring for Oil;" and "Among the Gas Wells," with a number of striking pictures; "Child-Sketches from George Elliot," by Julia Magruder; "Victor Hugo's Tales to his Grandchildren," recounted by Brand Matthews; "Historical Girls," by E. S. Brooks; Also interesting contributions from Nora Perry, Harriet Prescott Spofford, Joaquin Miller, H. H. Boyesen, Washington Gladden, Alice Wellington Rollins, J. T. Crowbridge, Lieutenant Frederick Schwatka, Noah Brooks, Grace Deane Litchfield, Rose Hawthorne Lathrop, Mrs. S. M. B. Platt, Mary Mapes Dodge, and many others, etc., etc.

The subscription price of ST. NICHOLAS is $3.00 a year; 25 cents a number. Subscriptions are received by booksellers and newsdealers everywhere, or by the publishers, New York, at the following rates: Single number, 10 cents; three numbers, 25 cents; six numbers, 50 cents; twelve numbers, $1.00. Send for our beautifully illustrated catalogue (free) containing full prospectus, etc., etc.

THE CENTURY FOR 1886-87.

THE CENTURY is an illustrated monthly magazine, having a regular circulation of about two hundred thousand copies, reaching and sometimes exceeding hundred and twenty-five thousand, among its many attractions for 1886-87 is a serial which has been prepared for sixteen years. Its history of our own country in its monthly issue, as set forth in

THE LIFE OF LINCOLN.

BY HIS CONFIDENTIAL SECRETARY, John C. Nicolay and Col. John Hay.

This great work, begun with the sanction of President Lincoln, and continued under the authority of his son, the Hon. Robert T. Lincoln, is the only full and authoritative record of the life of Abraham Lincoln. Its authors were friends of Lincoln before his presidency; they were most intimately associated with him as private secretaries throughout his term of office, and to them were transferred upon Lincoln's death all his private papers. Here will be told the inside history of the civil war and of President Lincoln's administration—important details of which by hitherto remained unrecorded, that might first appear in this authentic history. By reason of the publication of this work, which has been followed with a deep interest by a great audience, will occupy less space during the coming year. Gettysburg will be described by Gen. G. B. H. Hill, Sherman's, by Gen. G. H. Howard, and 31 numbers. "Julian Hawglen" and other pretentious titles will be printed.
