

THE PATRIOT AND HERALD.

THURSDAY, MARCH 24, 1881.

IVY GLEN.

"To let?" said the agent. "Ready furnished? For a month? Real? Ladies, I'm very much afraid I haven't any property in my hands—not at present, at least—that will meet your expectations. I've plenty of unfurnished houses, and plenty to rent for a year. But for a month? There isn't any such real estate in the market—there isn't, indeed."

"We don't want an unfurnished house," said Angela Frost.

"And we have no occasion to use a house for a year," added Josephine, her tall, blooming young sister.

The agent bit the end of his quill-pen, and looked at them dubiously, from behind the ink-splashed rails of his desk.

"We are schoolteachers," Miss Angela explained, "and we have just a month's vacation; and we want to spend it in a healthful country resort, where I can botanize, and where my sister can sketch in water-colors from nature."

"Ah!" said the agent—"ah!" Indeed I'm very sorry, ladies, but I don't think there's any property in the market hereabouts that will meet your ideas."

"What time does the evening stage leave the hotel?" Josephine asked, rather despondently.

"At five, I believe," the agent replied.

And the two ladies went slowly out of the stuffy little room with its high desk, its floor covered with cheap oil-cloth, and its general atmosphere of stale tobacco smoke.

"I'm so sorry, Angel," said the younger. "The air of these pine-wooded glens is the very thing for your asthma."

"And the little river in the deep gorge is such an exquisite study for your paintings, Jo," said Miss Frost, fondly.

"Couldn't we live in a barn?" suggested Jo, with a comical arch of her eyebrows.

"I'm afraid not," sighed Angela. The real estate agent, in the meanwhile, had hardly smoked a pipe and read the local paper before the door burst open and a short, stout lady in a pink hat and feathers came in.

"Mr. Muggerridge," said she, handing him a key, "you may let Ivy Glen or you may sell it—ready furnished, with a cow, a poultry-house and the pony chaise thrown in."

"Madam," said Muggerridge, bewildered.

"I'm tired of it," said the lady. "Stitch and Jennie are homesick to get back to the city, and so am I. I've been without a servant since Monday, and now I'm going to take the evening stage to town and meet my husband before he starts for Ivy Glen. I dare say he'll be vexed, but I can't help it. And I've left word at the dairy farmhouse for my brother Duke to follow us."

"You couldn't let it for a month?" experimentally hazarded Mr. Muggerridge.

"I'd let it for three days," said the lady.

"I could find you tenants for a month," said the agent. "And perhaps at the end of that time something else might offer."

"Very well," said the lady. "There is the key."

And away she went; and Mr. Muggerridge clapped his hat on the back of his head and set off, in hot haste, to the hotel, for an interview with the two young ladies who had so recently left his office.

And so it happened that Jo and Angela Frost took triumphant possession of Ivy Glen, a romantic cottage, half covered with the dark green, glossy leaves of the vine from which it derived its name, with a buoird piano, all the pictures garlanded with pressed ferns and dried autumn leaves, and a library of novels.

"Mrs. Fitch must have been a very literary person," said Jo.

"And musical," added Angela.

"As for a servant, one would only be a nuisance," said Jo.

"I'll groom the pony myself," said Angela. "He's no bigger than a Newfoundland dog—the darling."

"And I'll milk the cow and feed the dear little chickens," declared pretty Jo.

"It's really an earthly paradise," said the elder sister.

"So it is," assented Jo.

The two sisters passed three days of unmitigated happiness in the deep ravines and cool, flower-enameled woods that surrounded Ivy Glen.

Angela made various valuable additions to her herbarium, and Jo sketched leafy nooks, bits of falling water and sunsets to her heart's content, until finally a good, old-fashioned rain-storm set in, of a July afternoon, and prisoned them in the cottage parlor.

"How stupid this is!" said Jo, starting up from her book, as the twilight shadows brooded darker and darker in the room. "Let's go down to the barn, and talk to Dick and Frizzle. Poor dears! they must be as lonesome as we are."

(Now Dick was the pony, and Frizzle was the cow; and Jo and Angela were already upon the most affectionate terms of intimacy with them.)

It was quite dusk, when Marmaduke Framingham opened the hall door and stood in, shaking the rain-drops from his shoulders, as if he had been a huge Newfoundland dog, and flinging his fishing-creel and tackle on the table.

"Lou!" he called, all over the house, in a cheery, stentorian voice—"Louisa!"

But, as might be expected, no answer was returned; and he went up to a certain pretty little circular-walled room, where he had been wont to keep his slippers, gun-case, and sundry other masculine appurtenances, when sojourning with his sister, Mrs. Fitch, at Ivy Glen.

"It's as quiet here," he muttered, under his breath, "as an uncharted castle. Where is Lou!—where are the children?"

But he paused on the threshold. Even by the waning twilight he could perceive that a general transformation had taken place.

A pretty easel stood near the window, the tall standards of the old-fashioned dressing-bureau were knotted with blue ribbons, the chairs were freshly draped with chintz, and a fairy work-basket stood beside the sofa, while upon the table lay a flower-twined gypsy-hat, a bunch of wild flowers, and a pair of the tiniest gauntlet-gloves that Mr. Framingham had ever set eyes upon.

"Hello!" said Marmaduke; "Lou's got girl company. And she's put 'em in here, by Jove!"

He struck a match, lighted the prettily-painted candles in the brass sconces, and stared blankly around him. At the same moment, a clear, flute-like voice sounded below stairs.

"Come in, Angel, quick! Goodness, how the rain drives in at the door! What's this in the hall? A—man's coat!"

"Burglars!" shrieked Miss Angela, who was not strong-minded in practice as she was in theory.

"And there's a light up stairs!" cried Jo.

"Preserve us!" said Angela, beginning to tremble; "the house is on fire! Jo, Jo! don't stir a step! I insist that you shall not go up stairs!"

But Miss Josephine deftly evaded her sister's grasp, and rushed directly up to the little apartment which she had confiscated to her own use.

"Who are you, sir?" she sternly demanded, as, standing in the doorway, her gaze fell upon Mr. Marmaduke Framingham.

"I beg your pardon," began that gentleman.

"Leave the house!" said Jo, in the imperial accents of Queen Elizabeth condemning one of her courtiers to death.

"Jo, Jo, don't," pleaded Angela, who had crept up in her sister's shadow and was now weakly tugging at her dress. "Perhaps he's got a band of accomplices outside—perhaps he's a crazy man!"

"Ladies," said Mr. Framingham, "if you will only permit me to explain—"

"Nothing can explain an intrusion like this!" declared Josephine.

"My sister, Mrs. Fitch, the occupant of this house—"

"We are the occupants of this house," inexorably interposed Miss Frost. "Mrs. Fitch has left the premises these three days ago."

"I assure you," said Marmaduke, "that I was quite ignorant of any such change of arrangements. I have been on a fishing excursion up the hill, and supposed, of course, that my sister was here—"

"I'm quite sure she's a crazy man," interposed Angela, sotto voce.

"And it is such a stormy night, I beg only to be allowed to pass the night in the barn," concluded the suppliant.

"Your sister left word for you at the Dairy farm," said Jo.

"But I came around by the other road," said Mr. F. abjectly.

The humor of the thing was too much for Jo—she burst out laughing.

"Angel, do stop twitching, my dear," said she. "Yes, you may sleep in the barn, Mr.—"

"Framingham, ladies, at your service," said the disciple of Izaak Walton.

"Mr. Framingham, then," said Jo. "But you must have some tea with us first. I am going to eat some cold tongue, and Angel will make fritters and we have Blot's receipt for chocolate. I am really sorry that I mistook you for a burglar."

"Or a crazy man," said Angel, apologetically.

"And we will entertain you as hospitably as in us lies," added Jo with a mischievous sparkle in her eyes.

Mr. Marmaduke Framingham was afterwards heard to say that he never spent so delightful an evening in his life. He engaged board at the dairy farm the next day, and instead of following his sister to the city stayed down among the glens and braes.

And when Josephine Frost's month of vacation had expired she went back to the city to resign her position in the grammar school.

"I am going to be married," she confessed, blushing very prettily, when the mistress asked the reason why.

So Angela Frost went on alone with her career in life, and Mrs. M. Framingham settled down for life in Ivy Glen.

"For," said she "I think it is the sweetest spot in all the world."

And so said her young husband.

HOW OFFICIALS WERE ONCE PAID.

It is not a generally known historical fact that from 1797 to 1772 the territory now known as Tennessee formed a part of North Carolina, and that in 1775 the Tennesseans, becoming dissatisfied with their government, organized a State government under the name of "Franklyn," which was maintained for some years. The organization afterward disbanded, and Territorial Tennessee was again annexed to North Carolina. The following is among the laws passed by the legislature of the State of Franklyn. We copy as found in a speech by Daniel Webster on the currency in 1838:

"Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Franklyn, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same: That from the first day of January, 1770, the salaries of the officers of this Commonwealth be as follows, to-wit:

"His Excellency the Governor, per annum, 1,000 deer skins;
"The Treasurer of the State, 450 raccoon skins;
"Each County Clerk, 300 beaver skins;
"Clerk of the House of Commons, 200 raccoon skins;
"Member of Assembly, per diem, three raccoon skins;
"Justice" fee for signing a warrant, one muskrat skin;

"To the Constable for serving a warrant, one mink, skin;
"Entered into a law the 18th day of October, 1779, under the great seal of the State."

The origin of blue-tinted paper came about by the mere slip of the hand. The wife of William East, an English paper maker, accidentally let a blue-bag fall into one of vats of pulp. The workmen were astonished at the peculiar color of the paper when they saw it, while East was gravely incensed at what he considered a grave pecuniary loss. His wife was so frightened that she would not confess her agency in the matter. After storing the damaged paper for four years, he sent it to his agent in London, with instructions to sell it for what it would bring. The paper was accepted as a proposed novelty and was disposed of at quite an advance over the market price. East was astonished at receiving an order from his agent for another large invoice of the paper. He was without the secret and found himself in a dilemma. Upon mentioning it to his wife she told him of the accident. He kept the secret, and the demand for the novel paper far exceeded his ability to supply it.

WHY IT PAYS TO READ.

One's physical frame—his body, his muscles, his feet, his hands—is only a living machine. It is his mind, controlling and directing that machine that gives it power and efficiency. The successful use of the body depends wholly upon the mind—upon its ability to direct the will. If one ties his arm in a sling it becomes weak and finally powerless. Keep it in active exercise, and it acquires vigor and strength, and is disciplined to use this strength as desired, just as one's mind, by active exercise in thinking, reasoning, studying, observing, acquires vigor, strength, power of concentration and direction. Plainly, then, the man who exercises his mind in reading and thinking gives it greater power and efficiency, and greater ability to direct the efforts of the physical frame—his work—to better results than he can who merely or mainly uses his muscles. If a man reads a book or paper, even one he knows to be erroneous, it helps him by the effort to combat the errors. The combat invigorates his mind.

Of all men, the farmer, the cultivator, needs to read more to strengthen his reasoning powers, so that they will help out and make more effective his hard toil.

According to Dr. Edward Smith, an egg contains 15.1-4 per cent. of nitrogen. Another writer estimates that the value of one pound of eggs as food for sustaining the active forces of the body is to the value of one pound of lean beef as 1,584 to 900. As a flesh produces one pound of eggs is about equal to one pound of beef.

Storm warnings are a distinct branch of the forecasts of meteorology. Their objects is to give to seamen notice of an approaching gale. They have been now in operation for more than ten years, and during that period at least seventy-five per cent. of the warnings issued have been justified by the gales or strong winds which followed.

HOW IT IS REGARDED.

The action of Gen. MAHONE in the United States Senate is now the most general subject for thought and talk with our people. His course there meets with the highest censure from those who have differed with him in State politics; and they indulge in the hope that it will create enough dissension among the Readjusters to cause a disintegration of the party.

The Debt-Payers, or Democrats, or Funders, claim that MAHONE has gone over to the Republican party, though the "Little General" pronounces such an accusation false, and wisely refrains from taking any part in the caucus of either the Republican or Democratic Senators.

The Flanders say that MAHONE has sold himself to secure the Federal patronage in Virginia, while the Readjusters assert that he is only acting in the interests of his State and section, and the Readjustment party of Virginia. There can be no question that the Readjusters, as a mass, endorse his action, and will stand by him next fall, unless something more should be done or developed to cause them to lose confidence in him.

TOO MUCH POLITICS.

It is now a common expression, with every one we meet, that we have too much politics in the South; and to no State in the South does the expression apply more correctly than to Virginia. Perhaps it would be more appropriate to say that we of the South are too extreme in our political opinions. It is right and proper that every citizen should have his political convictions, and stand by them like a man; but there is no earthly reason why men should try to force their opinions upon others.

Foreign News.

LONDON, March 19.—The town of Ireball on the Black Sea in Anatolia was nearly destroyed by fire. Three hundred and fifteen houses including the custom house and foreign consulates were burned. The houseless inhabitants are destitute.

The Oldham Cotton Spinning Companies have resolved in favor of Garston as the cotton receiving port instead of Liverpool owing to the lighter harbor dues at the first named port. Two ships with American cotton have already arrived at Garston.

A St. Petersburg dispatch says: "As at present arranged the coronation of the Czar will take place at Moscow on the expiration of the period of deep mourning. The imperial party will remain in Moscow until the end of the year."

When the customs officers of the port boarded a vessel loaded with oil cake from New Orleans, a box was discovered containing several thousand cartridges. It is stated that it was originally intended to discharge the cargo at Queenstown. The police have taken charge of the cartridges.

The leading manufacturing industries of the country, under a prohibitory tariff styled "protective" during the ten years between 1860 and 1870, yielded an average profit of 36.56 per cent, on the capital employed, while the wages of employees of such industries were an average of $6.96 per week. During the last ten years the profits (flat) of the manufactures have been increasing, but the wages have not increased, but have decreased.

An Extra Session Decided Upon.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—The Star says: The opinion seems to be now that the President has made up his mind to call an extra session of Congress, the only debatable point being whether to call it in April or May. If called in April it is urged the business of the session can be completed before the hot weather comes on. There seems to be but little doubt that the President will issue his proclamation on Tuesday next, and that some day in April will be the day designated.

The Yorktown Centennial Association.

The Yorktown Centennial Association, which has recently been incorporated under the laws of Virginia, and which was organized to promote and secure the proper celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of the surrender of Cornwallis at Yorktown, have established headquarters at the Exchange Hotel, Richmond, Va. On Thursday night next the association will formally open their rooms and fling to the breeze the French and American flags.

An Indignant Denial.

Mr. D. Sheffey Lewis, one of the deputy United States marshals for the western district of Virginia, pronounces the reference to him in the report of Special Agent C. C. Lancaster as "wild and malicious falsehood," and submits a lengthy vindication in his own defence. Mr. Lewis further says: "Part of Lancaster's malignity towards me is accounted for by the fact that he attempted while here a little game of bullying, which I at once stopped him in without the least ceremony, and succeeded in vastly improving his manners for the time being, though, as the result proved, I can lay no claim to having improved his morals—at least so far as veracity goes."

Gen. Imboden has returned from North Carolina. He was successful in purchasing the State's interest in the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railroad, and it will now become a part of the South Atlantic & Ohio Railway. The North Carolina part of this line is to be completed to the Tennessee line, west, and to Wilmington, east, by the first day of July, 1881. By that time we trust the entire line from the Ohio river to the Atlantic will be in running order.

More Talk About an Extra Session.

The talk of an extra session of Congress seems to have broken out anew. It is now claimed by those who really wish a session to be called that the activity with which De Lesseps is pushing his isthmian canal should call for an expression from Congress before next winter that the canal, if completed, must be under American control. This, it is agreed, is a declaration which should have been made by the last Congress, and to have it made by a special session of the new Republican Congress will be a feather in the cap of both the administration and the party.

Gen. Grant and the World's Fair.

The New York Evening Post of yesterday says: "Before leaving this city for Mexico on Monday next, Gen. U. S. Grant will formally resign the presidency of the World's Fair Commission. The report that he has already done so is untrue, but he has intimated his intention to members of the commission. In explaining his reasons for resigning, Gen. Grant said yesterday that he wished the fair success, but that as he could not give his personal attention to it he would make way for somebody who could. With regard to the question of site, he said that he thought that it should be left open until the necessary amount of money is subscribed, and then determined by the vote of the subscribers. He still thought the Central Park site the only one to which no exception could be made on the score of its position."

Mr. William Burton killed a large beaver the other day on Hagan's Creek. A gentleman informs us that the beavers built three dams across one of his ditches. They were unknown in this section until a few years back.—Danville Time.

Thursday afternoon a special constable and a posse of citizens went after John Thomas, a negro fugitive, who some time ago escaped from Henrico county jail by knocking down the jailer. He was found near this city and pursued, and failing to stop, was shot and killed. His pursuers shot three balls in him.

The Alabama river is higher than was known before. No damage to railroads is yet reported.

NEWARK, N. J., March 21.—A trifling fire occurred this morning in the barn and carriage-house of E. A. Wilkinson, 135 Brunswick street. Wilson E. Henricson, a fireman, while working at the fire, was overcome by the smoke and died.

MOBILE, Ala., March 21.—A man named R. Williams, from St. Stephens, Washington county, has come here to continue his search for his wife, Lizzie Williams, and six children, who have disappeared. They left Meridian, Miss., for San Francisco December 18th, and nothing has been heard of them since.

SALE OF VALUABLE LAND.

On the 18th day of April, 1881 (that being the first day of the Circuit Court), we will proceed to sell to the highest bidder, in front of the Court-house, at Marion, Smyth county, Virginia, a valuable parcel of land, consisting of 32 acres more or less, situated on the E. Adam road, about seven miles east of Marion. One-half of it is cleared and is good bottom land. The other half is in good timber, and all in good repair. It is a part of the Michael Aker farm, and is valuable land.

TERMS OF SALE.—One-third cash on day of sale, balance in equal installments of 1 and 2 years, bonds to be executed for the deferred payments with approved security and to bear interest from day of sale, and vendor's lien retained until purchase money is all paid.

m24 JOHN P. and LUCRETIA PEREGOY.

MARK THESE FACTS

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.

Exercise your judgment.—A newer and better philosophy.—To pull down all abuses and antiquated notions of disease, and to establish a rational system on the ruins, has been the chief endeavor of Dr. Holloway through life. Hence the origin of his celebrated Pills and Ointment—remedies in keeping with common sense, because subservient to nature, rather than antagonistic to her laws, like those in general use. To the stomach we trace dyspepsia, headache and general debility; to the liver, bile, jaundice, and yellow fever; to the bowels, diarrhoea, dysentery, constipation, piles and fistula; to the lungs, consumption, etc.; to the blood, scrofula, seamy, and all cutaneous eruptions. By keeping these organs and vital fluid pure and healthy we may safely defy the attacks of disease, and no medicine yet prepared for this purpose can equal the action of these Pills and Ointment, as they drive to the seat of the disorder, and expelling its cause, destroy its effect.

IMPORTANT CAUTION.—None are genuine unless the signature of J. HAYDOCK, as agent for the United States, surrounds each box of Pills and Ointment. Boxes at 25 cents, 62 cents, and $1 each.

There is considerable saving by taking the larger sizes.

HOLLOWAY & Co., New York.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT

Possessed of this REMEDY, every man may be his own Doctor. It may be rubbed into the system, so as to reach any internal complaint; by these means it cures Sore Throat, GONORRHOEA, SPRAUCH, GYVER, SPINE, or other parts. It is an infallible Remedy for BAD LEGS, BAD BREASTS, Contracted or Stiff Joints, GOUT, RHEUMATISM, and all Skin Diseases.

IMPORTANT CAUTION.—None are genuine unless the signature of J. HAYDOCK, as agent for the United States, surrounds each box of Pills and Ointment. Boxes at 25 cents, 62 cents, and $1 each.

There is considerable saving by taking the larger sizes.

RENTING OF VALUABLE LAND!

By virtue of a decree of the Circuit Court of Smyth county, Virginia rendered in the cause of W. A. Stuart & al., vs. Robert Goodly on the 23d day of April 1880, I will rent to the highest bidder on the 1st day of the April term, next, of the County Court of said county at the front door of the Court-house in Marion, the land of the said Robert Goodly in the bill mentioned, lying three miles west of the town of Marion on the Meadom road. The renting will be for so long a time, not exceeding five years, as will be necessary to pay the debt, interest and costs in the above mentioned cause, and the parties renting will be required to pay cash to settle the costs and commission, and to give bond with good security for the rent payable at the end of each rental year. The terms of sale must be complied with as soon as the property is knocked off.

154 REMOVAL 156

GUGGENHEIMER & CO.

154-6 MAIN STREET,

LYNCHBURG, VA.

We take pleasure in announcing that we have removed our Retail Department into our New, Commodious and conveniently arranged Establishments, and intend, with our increased accommodations, to carry a much larger variety of items and articles, as well as a much larger variety in all the lines we have kept. And as we shall not only aim to, but will do, a much larger business than heretofore, will be able to sell goods even lower.

The more we can scatter expenses upon a large amount of sales, the less is the percentage of the same. On that theory those large retail establishments in New York, whose expenses are apparently enormous, are not only maintained, but are enabled in many cases to make money, get rich, and still sell at a profit, at which a small Lynchburg establishment would starve. We assert as a fact that our percentage of expenses is much less than any other Dry Goods concern in the city, and we shall do our utmost to decrease them further, by enlarging our sales, and through the adoption of the same thorough system that all the large Houses of the East are forced to do.

We ask the patience and indulgence of our patrons, until they and our employees become familiar with our system, which we assure them is for their protection, as it avoids mistakes, secures one price to all and saves expense. We call especial attention to our New Dept's—namely

LADIES' UNDERWARE & HOSIERY

Our aim will be to handle in the former all qualities, from a garment at 25 cents to the very finest. Our cheapest will be as well made as the best, and we will GUARANTEE OUR PRICES TO BE AS LOW AS THE LARGEST EASTERN ESTABLISHMENTS WHO KEEP AS WELL MADE GOODS AS OURS.

This is no mere newspaper advertisement and talk, but we mean what we say, and only ask at least a look through the Department, ere your judgment is formed.

OUR HOSIERY DEPARTMENT

For Ladies, Misses, and Children, Gents and Boys, has never been equalled by any establishment South, and we believe that it cannot be excelled in the East. Our prices shall be lower than the lowest. Ere you form an opinion satisfy yourself.

Alexander & Co. had an opening of fashionable millinery on last Saturday. A number of ladies attended.

Candidates were very thick on court day; and there was more cordial hand shaking than we have seen for a long time.

A valuable parcel of land is advertised for sale by Jno. P. and Lucretia Peregrin. It is a nice little home for some one.

Dr. G. B. WOOD, late Professor University of Penn., says: Cod Liver Oil far exceeds all other remedies for the cure of Consumption.

Mrs. E. N. Spinkie is now receiving a nice stock of millinery &c., for the spring trade, to which she calls the attention of the public.

Venor, the weather prophet, hit the nail on the head when he said we would have a snow storm on Tuesday. It snowed muchly that day.

There were no services in any of the churches on Sunday, except in the Presbyterian. That pulpit was filled by Rev. Mr. Frieson, pastor.

Both of our hotels had a fine run on Monday, and both of them deserved it. They feed better than the hotels of any town in the State.

We received a considerable number of new subscribers on Monday. It is very pleasant to know that the PATRIOT AND HERALD is growing in favor.

Mr. W. J. Chishenall made sixty-two pounds of maple sugar from 14 trees, on his place in Rye Valley, in five days. This is hard to beat. He made some syrup besides.

Our farmer friends have done a good deal of plowing for their summer crops. The wheat is looking very well, and we trust the agriculturists of the county will have a good year.

There were quite a number of men in town on Monday who were under the influence of liquor. Why will good, respectable men so lower themselves as to become slaves to foul drink?

The authorities have taken a strong hand at last against the illicit whiskey sellers around town, and say they intend to break up the obnoxious traffic. We hope they will succeed.

Cullen & Newman, of Knoxville, Tenn., are the largest wholesale dealers in the South, in Glass, China and Crockery ware &c. Our merchants can make money by sending to them for prices.

Mr. P. J. Spraker, one of the worthy young men of this vicinity, took the train on Tuesday night for Blair City, Nebraska. It is very unfortunate that so many of our young men are seeking homes in the west.

On Monday morning we received a postal card from Mr. B. F. Sprinkle, who recently went to Texas. He informs us he has met with splendid luck, and has secured a position in a large wholesale grocery house in Fort Worth. We are glad he has done so well.

Bazar Patterns.

Any lady sending her address on a postal card will receive my Spring Catalogue of Fashions. S. C. Angel, Knoxville, Tenn.

Personal.

Mr. E. S. Cardozo, who is with the large dry goods house of S. M. & M. Rosenbaum, of Richmond, spent Saturday, Sunday and Monday in Marion. He is a most excellent salesman, and while here booked some fine orders for several of our merchants.

For Treasurer.

We announce this week another candidate for County Treasurer in the person of Mr. H. F. Brooks. Mr. B. is a young man who has by energy built up his own fortune, and if elected will discharge the duties of the office most worthily, no doubt.

Notice to Trespassers.

All persons are hereby warned not to trespass on my lands situated in Smyth County, on Bear Creek, either by cutting or hauling off timber, or otherwise. The law will be enforced against all violators.

ADAM GROSECLOSE. March 24th, 1881.

A Fine Yield of Sugar.

Mrs. Joseph C. McGhee, of this county opened 6 trees at the beginning of the season, and at the time of finishing she had 15 trees in all open. She made 156 pounds of maple sugar and 12 gallons of molasses. This is an extraordinary season, and Mrs. McGhee has beat any one we have heard from. We have tried some of the sugar and it is of the most excellent kind.

A Real Remedy.

There are many so-called remedies in the market which are really not remedies at all, but serve only to cover up and ease pains for a time. Hart's Antibilious Discovery is a remedy, and roots out the disease and puts the system in a condition to ward off new attacks. Persons subject to headaches, costiveness, biliousness, &c., should take a note of this.

Not a Lunatic.

On Monday Mary Shelton, a white woman about sixty years old, was brought before a Commission composed of Justices Iron, Snavely and Sullivan to be examined as a lunatic. Dr. J. F. Pendleton was summoned as examining physician. After a full examination, the Commission concluded that she was not insane, but she was sent to the poor house as a pauper.

Market Reports.

We publish this week the market reports for both Richmond and Lynchburg. They will be corrected weekly. The Richmond report will be corrected by J. R. Hockaday, and the Lynchburg report by Nowlin Bros. & Co. Both of these houses are strictly correct and reliable, and persons may rely upon reports made by them.

County Court.

Judge Miller opened his Court on Monday, and has not yet closed the term. The special grand jury, summoned for the term, is still in session. No private cases of importance have been engaging the attention of the court, but it has chiefly been occupied with those who have been violating the penal laws of the State. On Monday the usual number of visiting lawyers were in attendance.

Arm Broken.

On last Saturday evening Mr. James Baldwin and Jno. H. Jones, were coming from Rye Valley to Marion in a buggy, and while descending the mountain on the north side by a sudden jerk they were thrown from the buggy and Jones sustained a fracture of the left arm just above the wrist. They came to Marion, and Dr. Pendleton was called in, rendering the necessary surgical attention.

The Normal School.

Dr. Ruffner, has determined to hold the Normal School at Martha Washington College, near which the antiquated town of Abingdon is located. The school will be held in July next, and our neighbor of the Standard seems to feel that sympathy should be extended to the little towns of Marion and Wytheville over their disappointment at not getting the school. Don't flatter yourself, neighbor, that the school was given to Abingdon. Oh no! Martha Washington College, of which Abingdon is an adjunct, secured it.

Beautiful and Excellent Fabrics.

Mr. E. S. Cardozo while here, had on exhibition about 125 samples of mens wear or pants goods; and we were pleased to see that the most beautiful and best goods he was showing were samples of fabrics made at the Holstein Mills. These Mills are now gaining considerable reputation. We have been told by several wholesale dealers in the east that the Holstein fabrics give the very best satisfaction to all customers. We are glad to chronicle the success of this manufacturing enterprise. The day is not far distant when Southern manufactures, both in cotton and woolen goods, will chase all others out of our market.

Not a Circus.

The small boys, the large boys, and the usual crowd of loafers were very much agitated on Tuesday about noon, by a string of six or seven showy painted wagons that were drawn into town by nice pairs of horses and mules, attached to each. They thought some kind of a show was coming, but it turned out that the wagons and teams belonged to a company that is engaged in the manufacture of wheat fans. They were on their way to Bristol, where the company intends to open shops for manufacturing the machines.

Indictments by the Wholesale.

The special grand jury, summoned for the present term of the County Court, commenced work on Monday, and has been in session each day this week up to the present writing. It has already made more than a hundred indictments and presentments, and is still at work. The indictments are mostly found for selling liquor without license. The revenue laws have been violated constantly in this particular for years; and the authorities say they are determined to put an end to it. By all means let it be done, if possible.

After Many Years.

We had a pleasant call Tuesday from Mr. Adam Groseclose, who is now a resident of Pulaski County, Va. Mr. Groseclose lived at Marion soon after the town was located, his father being the owner of the mill and water-power now owned and occupied by Luther & Goodell, as well as a good deal of the land on which the town is now built. Mr. Groseclose has not visited Marion before for thirty-five years, and, therefore, there are but few persons whom he remembers. He says he will come again before so many years elapse.

Death of an Estimable Loyal.

Our community has been saddened during the last week by the death of the aged and estimable Mrs. Rhoda George, widow of the late Colonel John B. George, of this county. Our readers will remember that some weeks ago we noticed a serious injury she received from a fall. Since that time she has been almost helpless and a constant sufferer. Mrs. George has been for many years a zealous member of the Methodist Church, and died full of faith and surrounded by many sorrowing friends. Her death occurred Sunday night, the 6th inst., and she was buried in the family burying-ground, at her late home, on Monday. Rev. Mr. Carter conducted the funeral services. —Clinch Valley News.

An Incident at the Bristol Revival.

A few weeks ago a very successful revival of religion was being carried on in Bristol. There was an old Methodist brother, who is noted for his piety and zeal on such occasions, taking part in the meetings, also a young preacher who was new in the harness. One night the young minister was called upon to pray. Like all the people in and around the "Border City," he was greatly afflicted with the "railroad craze or fever." The young brother got down on his knees, and opened his prayer thus: "O Lord we thank thee for the development of the material resources of our country. We thank thee for the railroads that are being constructed."

Just then the enthusiastic old Methodist cried out: "Never mind the railroads, brother. Pray for these poor dying sinners." The young preacher, it is said, changed the tone of his prayer without much delay.

LYNCHBURG.

A Live Virginia City Pushing Ahead.

There is nothing which will do so much in restoring Virginia to wealth and prosperity as the building up of large and active cities and towns in the State. It is gratifying to know that most of our cities are rapidly increasing in population and steadily enlarging their commercial and manufacturing interests. In none of the cities of the State has improvement in these particulars been more decided and healthy than in the "Mill City."

Since the close of the civil war it has more than doubled its population, and it now not only enjoys the reputation of being the equal, if not the superior, of any tobacco market in the State, or the world, but in mercantile and manufacturing industry and enterprise it is assuming very considerable proportions. The business streets are being adorned with elegant new structures, some of them as handsome as can be found in any city, while the other streets and hills are being filled with beautiful private residences, erected from the heavy purses of the active men of the city who have made fortunes by business skill and application. Each year the rugged marks of nature are being leveled and diminished, and less attention can be justly called to the rough appearance of the place.

Lynchburg, we really believe, has a grand future before it as a manufacturing place. Its peculiar central location gives it a great advantage; its railroad facilities are now large and increasing; the very finest deposits of iron ore are adjacent on all sides; and with the cheap coal that can be had when the Richmond and Alleghany Railroad is completed, there is nothing to retard the growth of the place, but want of enterprise in its citizens; and no one can prefer such a charge against Lynchburgers.

Last week we made a brief visit to Lynchburg and were not only impressed with the above expressed facts in regard to the growth and progress of the city; but we were received with so much cordiality by a number of the business men and houses of the place that we feel like calling special attention to them, not only on account of the kind treatment we have received at their hands, but from the further fact that we know them to be the leading business men of the town, and houses that should become even more popular in the South-west.

WHOLESALE BOOTS AND SHOES

Though comparatively a new firm, having been in existence only two years, the wholesale boot and shoe house of Wilt, Watkins & Co., is now doing the best business of any house in Va. We are informed that the statistics show that they have received this year more cases of boots and shoes than any house in the State. Their stock is varied and finely selected, and they are not only willing to duplicate any bills bought in New York or any eastern city, but claim that they can and will sell the same class of goods lower, thus saving in the item of freight alone a good profit. To prove that they are selling lower than eastern houses, they can refer to a most substantial merchant who visited the eastern markets this Spring and returned to Lynchburg to buy his shoes. Merchants from our section would do well to stop and examine for themselves. They will sell to you on regular time, and the amount saved in freight and prices will be equal to discounts given for cash. These are stern facts but true.

HARDWARE.

This branch of trade is most completely represented by the old reliable firm of Jones, Watts & Co. They now occupy two large buildings that adjoin, and are three stories high, each; and still they haven't enough room. Their trade is so large and increasing so rapidly that more room and additional facilities have become necessary to accommodate it. They sell largely to merchants in the Southwest, and fully merit the confidence and patronage they are receiving.

STOVES AND TINWARE.

In this branch of trade Mr. R. L. Waldron is a large and successful dealer. He sells goods at wholesale as cheap as they can be bought anywhere, and manufactures most of the tinware he handles. He carries a complete stock of house-furnishing goods, and among the many stoves he handles is the celebrated Enterprise Cook, which is popular wherever it has been tried and is known. Mr. Waldron only asks the country merchants to give him a trial and they will surely be satisfied.

CLOTHING.

Joseph Cohn is truly the "Star-Clothier" in Va. He is so well known to most of our readers that it is hardly necessary to speak much of him. He has a magnificent stock which he is offering to the Spring trade at guaranteed prices.

MILINERY AND FANCY GOODS.

In this beautiful business Mr. Samuel Matthias is the leading dealer of the city. His wholesale and retail departments are complete. Mr. M. is a judicious and tasty buyer, and would like for our merchants and others to give him a trial. He is now receiving constant additions to his already large assortment.

CHINA AND GLASSWARE.

Wm. Kimmer & Co., have recently moved into a new and elegant iron front building prepared especially for them; and where they will be able to accommodate their large and increasing trade. They are Importers and purchasers from first hands, and therefore can sell on the most advantageous terms.

SILVERWARE AND JEWELRY.

Every body ought to know that the place to buy goods in the above line is at the house of H. Silvertorn. His goods are reliable, and his stock elegant.

DRUGS AND MEDICINES.

There are two excellent houses engaged in the wholesale drug trade in Lynchburg. W. A. Strother has for many years been engaged in the business, and is thoroughly identified with the progress of the city. He is building up an extensive trade with this section of the State, and is the manufacturer of a number of popular and valuable "Proprietary Preparations." His "Aromatic Dentaline" is said to be the best preparation of the kind known to the trade. Send for his price lists.

Faulkner & Craighill have long been known to our readers, and most favorably. They are doing a splendid wholesale business, and are making a great reputation with their "Proprietary Preparations." The demand for their Camm's Emulsion can hardly be supplied.

FURNITURE.

J. L. Thompson, the furniture man of Lynchburg, well deserves his name. He has succeeded in establishing a magnificent trade. He has two large warehouses, as shown by his advertisement, that are filled with choice selections of furniture, from the handsomest suites down to the plainest articles.

SPORTSMEN'S GOODS.

Sportsmen can find anything they want at S. O. Fisher's. He has the finest and cheapest guns. His stock of fishing tackle can not be excelled this side of New York.

DRY GOODS.

Guggenheimer & Co., represent this line of trade fully, and in our next issue we will give a full description of their splendid new establishment.

Trespass Notice.

All persons are hereby warned not to trespass on my lands situated in Rye Valley by hunting, cutting timber or otherwise. I shall enforce the law against all persons who shall disregard this notice.

Twenty-two years in the town of Marion and to-day my custom is as good as it was at the end of the first year. Just think of this. Is this not square dealing with all mankind. See what the late James W. Shepley said of my work during his lifetime: Marion, Va. April 18, 1874.—I acknowledge the receipt of a very elegant pair of boots from P. J. Gregory "Fashionable Boot and Shoe Maker," Marion, Va. The material is of the best quality, and the fit comfortable, and the workmanship and style superior to any boots I have ever worn. I do not think that for neatness and elegance as well as durability they can be excelled by the best Northern manufacturer. I am glad to see our mechanics and manufacturers striving to make Marion, what it will be, a manufacturing town of considerable importance.

THE FARM AND HOUSEHOLD.

LEARNED BY EXPERIENCE.

If your coal fire is low, throw on a tablespoonful of salt, and it will help it very much. A little ginger put into sausage meat improves its flavor. In icing cakes, dip the knife frequently into cold water. In boiling meat for soup, use cold water to extract the juices; if the meat is wanted for itself alone, plunge in boiling water at once. You can get a bottle or barrel of oil out of any carpet or woolen stuff by applying dry buckwheat plentifully and playfully; never put water to such a grease spot, or liquid of any kind. Broil steak without salting. Salt draws the juices in cooking; it is desirable to keep these in if possible. Cook over a hot fire, turning frequently, searing on both sides. Place on a platter; salt and pepper to taste. Beef having a tendency to be tough can be made very palatable by stewing very gently for two hours, pepper and salt taking out about a pint of liquid when done, letting the rest boil into the meat. Brown the meat in the pot. After taking up make a gravy of the liquid saved. A small piece of charcoal put in the pot with boiling cabbage removes the smell. Clean oilcloth with milk and water; a brush and soap will ruin them. Tumblers that have had milk in them should never be put in hot water. A spoonful of stewed tomatoes in the gravy of either roasted or fried meats is an improvement. The skin of a boiled egg is the most efficacious remedy that can be applied to a boil. Peel it carefully, wet and apply to the part affected. It will draw off the matter and relieve the soreness in a few hours.

A CURE FOR SICK HEADACHE

This complaint is the result of eating too much and exercising too little. Often the cause is that the stomach is not able to digest the food last introduced into it, either from its having been unsuitable or excessive in quantity. It is said a diet of bread and butter, with ripe fruits or berries, with moderate, continuous exercise in the open air sufficient to keep up a gentle perspiration, would cure almost every case in a short time. To drink two teaspoonfuls of powdered charcoal in half a glass of water generally gives instant relief. The above sovereign remedies may do in some, but not in all cases. A sovereign remedy for this ailment is not easily found. Sick headache is periodical, and is the signal of distress which the stomach raises to inform us that there is an over-alkaline condition of its fluids; that it needs a natural acid to restore the battery to its normal working condition. When the first symptoms of a headache appear, take a teaspoonful of clear lemon juice fifteen minutes before each meal and the same dose at bedtime; follow this up until all symptoms are passed; taking no other remedies, and you will soon be able to go free from your unwelcome nuisance. Many will object to this because the remedy is too simple, but many cures have been effected in this way.—Boston Transcript.

WHEN TO TRIM PEACH TREES.

At a recent meeting of the Elmira (N. Y.) Farmers' Club the subject, "When to Trim Peach Trees," was introduced. Members who expressed opinions concerning the matter agreed that young peach trees at time of setting out should have the limbs all cut back, in fact trimmed like whips in most cases, and little or no trimming after that, except to cut off dead limbs or twigs and to remove limbs that may be in the way. If growth starts from the body near the ground it was advised to pinch off such buds when they are soft. Peach trees do not sprout from the ground a great deal, but when they do, that growth should be checked. Peach trees should grow low with thick heavy-tops.

Plants, as well as animals, must have pure air. In house culture of plants, the windows must be raised every day in winter, even when the temperature is almost freezing, or some other mode of ventilation must be devised, in all cases avoiding a direct draft of cold air upon the plant.

Butter, cream, milk and flour are peculiarly liable to absorb effluvia, and should therefore never be kept in mouldy rooms or places where there are sour liquids or green vegetables, such as onions, cabbage and turnips, smoked fish or bacon, or any kind of food of a strong flavor.

One of my children was recently attacked with a severe case of Croup which really assumed a distressing phase; I was recommended to try Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, after other remedies had failed. The effect was most happy and speedy, causing an entire cure. F. ARBRECHT, 241 S. Sharp St. Baltimore.

48 GENUINE STEEL SPRINGS

FIVE DOLLARS

BROWNS PATENT SELF FASTENING SPRING

Patented, Nov. 21, 1870. No. 18498.

EQUAL TO ANY SPRING NOW IN USE!

This is without doubt the cheapest, best and most durable Spring ever offered to the public and is far superior to any bed in the market as a smooth Nicholson patent is superior to the Corlroy road of our fathers. Some of the advantages of this Spring over all others are—1st It is clean, noiseless and strong. 2nd Each Spring is made of the best Bessemer Spring Steel, and having an individual strength of sixty pounds. 3d The body rests so smoothly and evenly upon this Spring as a swan floats upon the water, and a light and heavy person sleeping in the same bed does not cause it to sag, as with slat or woven wire beds. 4th This is the only Spring in the market that can be adjusted to any bed, and moved from one bed to another with the same ease that you can move ordinary slats. 5th It makes a smooth, even surface for the mattress to rest upon, with no ends to chafe and wear the mattress. 6th This bed we guarantee to be noiseless, elastic and adjustable; to be hard or soft at the will of the occupant (by simply adding or removing a few springs, which can be done in five minutes) and to fit the body in all its parts and positions, and to give way under any strain; each spring being severally tested before sold. No backache on this bed. County and State rights for sale by T. G. HANBERRY & CO., WYTHEVILLE, VA.

References:—Having purchased and are now using the above Spring Bed, we cheerfully recommend it to our friends. Respectfully, E. L. Stanley, G. W. Ward, Jr., S. G. Keller, Chas. Harris, D. H.
