

The Barter Theatre Group Comes to Marion

The Barter Theatre—that recently transplanted group of New York players who for this summer are making Martha Washington College at Abingdon their headquarters and who are trading theatre fare for cabbages and kingfish—came to Marion on Wednesday evening, the 14th, bringing with them Mr. John Golden's "After Tomorrow," a three act comedy drama. It was their first offering of an eight week season and to about two hundred and fifty Marion people it gave a most pleasant evening.

The play itself wasn't much. It's hard for the legitimate drama to get as had in plot construction as the average movie, but sometimes it comes close. The acting was much better than the play. The whole idea of the Barter Theatre is fine.

However, it is to be hoped that future plays will hit a higher level than Mr. Golden's "After Tomorrow," which is, in an honest analysis, strictly ham material. The audience which turned out for Wednesday's performance—and this is the audience which, with additions, the Barter Theatre must play to—was worthy of better fare and would appreciate it. There are always copyright difficulties, and the Barter Theatre must of course take advantage of plays which are given royalty free, but perhaps better playrights that Mr. Golden was in "After Tomorrow" can be found who will be kind enough to let Southwest Virginians see their plays. A group like the Barter Theatre has its main strength in its lack of financial strength. It can afford to try plays that have some literary qualities. The audience which saw "After Tomorrow" didn't go to see Mr. Golden's play, they went to see the Barter Theatre group. That's a thing the Barter Theatre can afford to keep in mind.

It's an unusual pleasure here in southwestern Virginia to see again real players playing on a well set and nicely lighted stage. It's an unusual pleasure to see an acting group with capabilities doing plays which at least make some pretense of being good and demanding talent. And for these eight plays which are being brought to Marion—and five other towns in this section—this summer we have to thank Mr. Robert Porterfield and the thirty-five or so New Yorkers who are working with him.

"After Tomorrow" gave us two fine performances by Miss Eleanor Powers and Mr. Robert Thompson backed up by some supporting work by Miss Nell Harrison, Mr. H. H. McCullum and Miss Agnes Ives of rather uneven quality but in its best spots very much all right. And quite possibly the unevenness wasn't due so much to the playing as to what the players had to work with. "After Tomorrow" gave us—and this really is the main thing—and honest-to-goodness evening in the theatre. And the Barter Theatre will shortly give us more.

This week, on Thursday instead of Wednesday evening—the calendar date will be June 22nd—the group will be back with Miss Rachel Crothers' three act mystery comedy, "Caught Wet." Succeeding weeks will bring us several more plays which have had Broadway runs of long or short duration and several tryouts of new plays. And so, in preparation for next Thursday, all good citizens who like to see the drama in the flesh will accumulate thirty cents in eggs, butter, spinach, strawberry preserves or pennies and wait the next coming of the Barter Theatre.

Virginia - Lincoln Makes 10 to 15 Per Cent Pay Raise

Every man in the Virginia-Lincoln Furniture Corporation plants—more than 500 in all—has received an increase in pay of between 10 and 15 per cent, it was announced by President Charles Lincoln, Tuesday.

At five minutes to noon on Tuesday the local plant whistle sounded and the men trooped out. They were met by Charles Lincoln, aloft on a wood-pile. Briefly he made the raise increase announcement. The same announcement was made Tuesday afternoon at the Bristol plant.

It means from a tenth to a seventh greater income for more than 400 families in Marion and more than 100 families in Bristol.

The announcement was, naturally, greeted with pleasure by the whole force.

"Virginia-Lincoln has made this increase in expectation of increasingly better business conditions, in view of the fact that living costs are going up, and because it has on hand a bunch of orders which assures full time production for at least six weeks," Charles Lincoln said in explanation of the move.

The pay raise was effective not Tuesday but Monday morning, although the announcement was delayed a day. This means that when Virginia-Lincoln pay checks are distributed next Tuesday, the increase for a full week will be included in every one.

Dan Jones, former Marion boy serving a life sentence at the state penitentiary, is reported showing signs of recovering from a triple fracture of the skull he received Saturday, June 10th, when another prisoner slugged him from behind with an iron pipe.

Relatives who arrived home this week-end after being at his bedside in a Richmond hospital, said that, after first despairing of his life, doctors now give him a chance to recover.

Mrs. W. H. Jones, his mother, and Mrs. D. D. Jones, his wife, were with him a large part of the week.

Mrs. Jones states that prison officials told her that no trouble led up to the assault except that Dan, as time keeper and checker in the chair factory, had been forced to report the assaulter for faulty workmanship. She states that guards and officials agreed that in the past two years Dan has been a model prisoner.

He was struck three times from behind as he stood in line about to enter the mess hall. All three blows created serious fractures and one of them necessitated the removal of a small portion of brain matter, torn loose by the blow. If Dan recovers, the doctors say they do not know how this removal may affect him.

Mrs. Roosevelt May Come To White Top

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt has announced that she hopes to attend the music festival at White Top Mountain August 11th and 12th. She emphasized that her plan is only tentative since she does not want to disappoint anyone in case it should be impossible for her to go.

She said she had a very special interest in White Top Mountain because the Douglas Robinson family once owned land of the mountain and her own father, Elliott Roosevelt, lived at Abingdon.

Mrs. Roosevelt, in a recent letter to Mrs. W. W. Hurt, says: "I am looking forward very much to coming and hope nothing will prevent my doing so."

Since the revolutionary war a vast tract of timberland, 60,000 acres on and around White Top Mountain has belonged to the Douglas Land Company, principally Mr. Douglas Robinson who married Miss Corinne Roosevelt, youngest sister of President Theodore Roosevelt. It was the custom of Mr. and Mrs. Robinson to spend the month of May in their cottage, "Laurel Farm," (named from the Laurel River which flows nearby) always bringing several friends with them on the merry house parties. They never tired of riding over the mountains and fishing and picnicking were the chief interests. It was Mr. Hurt's business to arrange the amusement program and provide an abundance of excellent food.

One year the mother of Mrs. J. C. Greenway accompanied them. She was an expert horsewoman and was always ready for the mountain trail. Mr. Monroe Robinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Robinson, accompanied by his college classmate, Mr. Oliver Harriman, and his cousin, Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., spent two weeks at Damascus, Va., as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hurt. Mr. Roosevelt remarked on leaving, "I have had a bully time, the happiest two weeks for a long time, no cares no hurry, no bustle, just relax and feel free."

In the little Episcopal Chapel at Damascus, which has since been destroyed by fire, there was a beautiful Morocco bound Bible with this inscription written on the fly leaf in the handwriting of the giver: "Presented by Elliott Roosevelt in loving memory of my dear wife, Anna Eleanor Roosevelt."

Big Jack Strike at Bristol Breaks Loose Again

The more than 900 Big Jack Overall workers at Bristol who went on strike May 18 and back to work June 13, struck again Friday, the 16th.

They went out again, they announced, because the company had fired five men and one woman who helped lead the first strike and fired them after a "no malice" agreement.

The company replied that those let go were extras for whom there wasn't enough work. The strikers replied that to their knowledge five of the group were among the older employees in their respective departments.

Strikers, in this second walk out, renewed all their demands, including abolition of the "minute system." They had previously gone back on a compromise agreement which permitted retention of the system. They are also demanding a return to the 1932 scale of pay.

Saturday 32 state troopers descended on Bristol to patrol the strike area, together with local officers and deputies. Strikers protested to Governor Pollard, saying "There is no violence." The Governor replied, "I will withdraw the patrolmen when your local officers, who asked for them, ask me to."

The mills were opened Saturday and Monday mornings. In all, only about 30 men and women went back in. There was some disorder along the picket lines, consisting mostly of pushing and shoving. For the most part strikers and patrolmen fraternized and loafed in the hot sun, waiting for something to happen.

Mr. Ralph Quisenberry, of Montgomery, Alabama, is visiting his sister, Mrs. Elva Robinson.

Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Urquhart, of Lynchburg are visiting Mr. and Mrs. E. B. McConnell.

Poke Hutton is reported quite sick at his home on Pendleton St.

WHOOPEE!

Marion Comes To Life And Trims Fries And Mt. Airy

Marion's Blue Ridge Baseball league team came to life last week and after four straight defeats, slammed Fries on Thursday for a 9-1 decision and on Saturday took a great ball game from Mt. Airy, rated perhaps strongest in the league, 6-5.

The story of Thursday's game should be titled "Local Boy Makes Good." For the first time this season a Marion boy went to the mound. He was Warren Wright, just back from W. & L. When the dust of battle had settled, Warren had a four hit game to his credit and a broken wrist on the debit side of things.

The story of Thursday's games was a story of swell pitching—only one man reached second after the first inning, plus brilliant support and a barrage of hits which ran two visiting hurlers out of the game. Just how good the Marion team was defensively is indicated by the fact that they got four double plays. And here it is pertinent to remark that young Mr. Johnny Wingfield, out there the first time this year on second base, started or participated in every double, fielded one that looked impossible and contributed a triple over center field that in a fenced park would have been a neat homer.

Fries got their run in the first inning on a walk, a hit-by-pitched ball and a single by Pettie, center fielder. Marion got four in the first when George Wright doubled with Williams, Stone and Miller on the sacks and after Hutton had been forced in when Miller walked. Marion got two in the third on Wingfield's triple. Hutton's single, Williams triple and Stone's single. Hutton was thrown out by a catcher's throw which got him off first. Marion got another in the seventh when Wingfield got on by an error, Hutton sacrificed and Stone doubled.

Warren broke a bone in his left wrist in the 7th inning, trying to stretch a two base play into three, when he slid into third. He finished the game in spite. He will probably be out three or four weeks.

Saturday's game at Mt. Airy should be titled, "Revenge is Sweet." On Wednesday preceding Mt. Airy's polished group of gents made Marion look pretty bad. Things were evened up neatly Saturday when, with Mt. Airy supporters offering two to one on the home boys, Spud Query held them to five runs, to which errors contributed, got six strike outs and kept their ten hits pretty well scattered. Marion landed on Livengood so hard in the 8th that he was pulled for Big Andy Anderson, who did the dirty work last week, and Big Andy was shortly thereafter also on the way to the showers, having started the ninth with a triple by Williams, a base on balls for Stone and a single by Miller, which scored the tying run.

With Stone on third and Miller on first, George Wright rapped a hard one to the second baseman, who ran to second for a force out but failed to get George at first for a double. Meanwhile, Stone was safely over the plate with the winning run.

Mt. Airy had last bats. First man flied to Stud Miller. Second man hit a hard grounder to Wingfield which hit Johnny in the ear on a bad hop and addled him for a minute. The next man singled. Marion supporters were tense. Manager Frank Moffet ordered the next man walked. Bases loaded now, and one gone. Query pitched carefully to the next man for a strike out. The last man flied a drive to O'Connor in left field after Williams, Marion catcher, had placed Mr. O'Connor just at the spot to which the Mt. Airy slugger had previously slammed a triple. Williams then called for the same kind of ball that the previous hit had been made on, the Mt. Airy man connected solidly and the game was over.

Johnny Wingfield led the Marion offense, getting a home run, a double and a single in three trips up. Major Hutton contributed the first homer of his life in the 8th inning and he's still grinning. Bax Williams and Lefty Flick were right on Johnny Wingfield's heels each with a triple and a single.

Warren Wright, who has been in poor health for a long time, has taken a turn for the worse and is in a serious condition.

Archaeological Notes On Smyth County

By Nathan M. Brisco

One of the richest finds ever made in this county was in a cave located about one mile above North Holston. This cave is situated on a hill above and near a camp ground which lies in a bend of the North Fork of the Holston River about a quarter mile away. This cave had been known for years but until a man who lived nearby actually found human remains in the floor of the cave, nobody had suspected it of being a burying ground for the Indians. The cave opens near the top of the hill and the entrance is a circular vertical passage above twelve feet deep and just large enough to permit the passage of one person at a time. When one has let himself down to the floor of the cave, he finds a chamber shaped roughly like an inverted bowl and larger than an ordinary room. The floor consists of dirt and stone which has evidently been brought in from the outside. I was not present when the cave was excavated for remains, but I had the story from the person who first discovered that this place was used as a burial cave by the Indians. He, unfortunately, failed to keep this information quiet and the cave was soon rifled and much valuable material destroyed. He found several stone pipes, skinning knives (celts), tomahawks, and other articles used by the Indians. Out of that cave has been taken I do not know how much material. I do know, however, that of all the skeletons found there (and there must have been several) only a few fragments of bone remain. Possibly one or two skulls were removed, the remainder were destroyed by the picks and shovels of overzealous relic hunters. Much of this material has found its way into private collections. No data of this find can be obtained that would aid science materially. The floor of this cave has been partially excavated to a depth of about ten or twelve feet and a few articles may still be found. The most valuable portion has been completely destroyed. I believe that if a detailed report could have been made on this burial, much light might have been thrown upon the former inhabitants of this section. Such a report would only have necessitated the presence of someone fit to record the data. The possession of the articles could have remained with the finders. One page of Smyth County history lost.

Upon a hill commanding a view of miles of bottom land near here is a curious man made mound. This mound is approximately five feet high, five feet wide, and ten feet long. North of this mound at its base is a hole in the ground some eight feet deep filled with bits of rock. The hole, or pit, looks strangely as though it might be a sealed or filled in opening to a cave. The hill itself has several sink holes in it which may indicate the presence of a cave underneath. Last fall a young man and I examined the mound and found that it contained nothing. We did, however, form an opinion as to how the mound got there. It is possible and probable, we think, that the mound was built of stone removed from the cave at its base by the Indians for burial purposes. The location of the cave (if it is indeed a cave) above a camp ground and the commanding position of the hill would indicate a good place to bury and a situation easily accessible. We have dug down about eight feet in the pit and as yet have not come to a cave opening. I am almost sure that there is a burial cave there but only time will tell. If this proves to be a burial cave, it should be a very interesting and valuable one for the camp ground near which it is located has shown signs of having been long occupied.

In the southwestern corner of this county is a very large cave which has its small opening on the side of a mountain at the foot of which is a large spring. The owner of the property related to me how, when a youth, he explored a small passage near the roof of a large chamber of the cave and encountered a complete skeleton of an Indian adorned with a string of beads. He explained that there were no signs of the body having been buried. The skeleton just lay there in a cleft in the rock. This cave will, I think, bear investigation. It has the appearance of a cave of great age and may contain remains of yet earlier people. Remains of prehistoric animals have been found here. Why not pre-Indian human remains?

Quite often in the case of cave burials the openings of the burial chamber, or even of the cave itself, were sealed with stone or other material. I recall the case of a group of skeletons found placed on the floor of a cave near Saltville. The investigator entered a cave and proceeded to examine the floor of the main chamber for human remains. His search was unsuccessful. He noticed a rather false looking portion of the wall and upon examination found it to be a sealed entrance to a smaller chamber which contained skeletal remains of several Indians and a mass of artifacts. The Indian seems never to have reached a very high stage of culture. Yet he did conceal in a rather crafty way the entrances to many of his burial chambers.

Closely related to cave burials we find rock shelter burials. These were usually made upon the side of a mountain, where rock shelters are commonly found, under a projecting ledge of rock or in a semi-cave formation. One of the finest stone pipes ever found in Smyth County was found in such a rock shelter immediately above the skeleton of a very large Indian. In the early accounts of Indian burial customs, one find frequent references to transporting the dead to the sides and tops of the surrounding hills and mountains for burial.

There have been accounts of mummified Indian bodies which were found in caves containing natural preservative salts. I have seen several such bodies. In the national museum at Washington, D. C., there are more than one example of mummified remains. It is very interesting to note the manner in which the bodies were prepared. Wrapped in winding sheets, then fine tanned hides, and finally encased (quite often after having been dislocated at the hips) in baskets loosely woven of a split material. It is not without the bound of reason that such preserved examples may be found in some of our caves.

The articles buried with the bodies in caves are usually perfect. Splendid pipes, arrow and spear points, celts, tomahawks, knives of flint, beads, awls, and ceremonial stones lie undisturbed for centuries until the trowel of the archaeologist uncovers them. Having last seen light in an ancient world of primitive people, they now emerge to be gazed upon by a race pitifully ignorant of life in their own day.

A COMPANY THIRTY YEARS OLD

Last Friday the Ford Motor Company completed 30 years of automobile making.

It is also my fortieth year at the same job. I made my first engine in 1893, and it still runs. This is the engine that won the Selden Patent Suit—which took the motor car out of the exclusive class, and opened the automobile industry to hundreds of manufacturers who started during the last 30 years.

Some of the men who began with me that June day in 1903, are working here yet. All of the principles we laid down then, are still operative; we find that they have great survival value for the future. To date they have produced and sold over 21,000,000 Ford cars.

Although we created the automobile market we have never thought it was good for anyone to monopolize it. We have always believed that before business could be good for one, it must be good for all. Our discoveries and improvements have always been open to other manufacturers without patent restrictions.

Of course, there is one thing we cannot share—everyone must get it for himself—and that is experience. Money could duplicate our buildings and machines, but it cannot duplicate 40 years of experience. And it is experience that makes a motor car.

But the past does not especially concern me; it has all been a preparation for the future. For myself, I feel that I have just been gathering the tools to do something worth while, and that my real task is still ahead.

Great changes are upon the world. False ideas of every kind are vanishing in the general upheaval. Those who built truly on principle will survive—their service will carry over. Business integrity and commodity honor will be fully justified. And newer and better ways of living will appear.

That is the outlook for this young thirty-year old Company of ours.

A New Deal For Liver Sufferers

Don't be misled any longer. Calomel, salts, oils, mineral waters, laxative pills, herb teas, powders, etc., have no effect whatever on the liver. There are only two generally recognized substances which actually cause a sluggish liver to increase its production of bile. Sargon Soft Mass Pills contain both of them. You can't feel well and strong unless your liver furnishes plenty of fresh bile every day. Without bile food doesn't digest properly—it just ferments and decays—Constipation, gas, sour stomach, headaches and nervousness follow. Unless you have tried Sargon Soft Mass Pills you can have no idea of their effect—You feel stronger, healthier, happier—life and color return to faded eyes and cheeks—appetite and digestion improve rapidly. Only 60c for a full 30-day treatment. Ask your druggist, or write G. F. Wills, Inc., Atlanta, Georgia.—(adv.)

Where They Play Saturday
June 24th
Lebanon at Saltville
North Holston at Meadowview.
Tazewell at Damascus.

Meadowview Defeated Saltville On
The Emory College Grounds
Saltville and Meadowview played a postponed game last Wednesday, the 14th, and Saltville had to be content with the smaller end of the argument. The score of 6 to 2 in Meadowview's favor tells of a good game. Helton and Casteel for Mea-dowview put up a good game as did Sullins and Hurt for the Saltville battery. The game was devoid of anything sensational.

On Thursday, Meadowview came to Saltville for an independent game and took a defeat of 1 to 0. This was a fine game and the score tells the story. Casteel to Casteel for the visitors and Sullins to Arnold
all played first class ball.

Friday the 16th the Saltville Red Devils, the colored aggregation of ball tossers played their first game of the season and fell under the Chilhowie production of ball to the tune of 17 to 12. Saltville was not up to its capacity ball. Several bad plays aided the Chilhowie hunch in their defeat of the locals while the heavy hitting Saltville boys did not seem to have the necessary punch.
John Wes Bailey to Reese Austin
made a pretty good team as did Campbell to Long for Chilhowie.
Jack Campbell of Chilhowie hit for circuit run and this was the outstanding article of stick work. The Red Devils expect to play Bristol
the latter's grounds next Tuesday.
(This Tuesday the 30th) and will have a game at Saltville later in the week.

Damascus Defeats North Holston
8-6

Two out of town teams Saturday afternoon furnished Saltville fans with one of the best games of the season here, Damasus winning a well played contest from North Holston 8 to 6.

Going into the eighth inning with a one-run lead, Damasus counted
three times but saw its edge go back to one as the North Holston lads duplicated the trick in their half. Another run in the ninth put the game on ice for Damasus.

Rosenbaum struck out seven and Davidson one. The North Holston hurler was slightly wilder than Rosenbaum, granting three bases on balls to the Damasus moundsman's
two.

Score by innings:
Damasus 000 130 031 8 9 1
N. Holston 003 000 030 6 6 3

Tazewell Defeated By Saltville
12 to 4

On almost even terms the greater part of the game, Saltville defeated Tazewell at Tazewell Saturday afternoon, 1 to 4, by going on a scoring spree in the later innings.

The count was 4 to 3 for Saltville until the sixth inning when the local infield started booting them making a total of five errors before the game was over. The visitors miscued twice.

Tazewell collected eight hits and Saltville twelve.

Lebanon defeated Meadowview at Lebanon Saturday, 7 to 1 going into undisputed possession of second place in the Blue Grass League.

Harding of Lebanon and Thomas of Meadowview both put up excellent pitching exhibitions but the game was put on ice for the locals
in the eighth when three errors;
two walks and two hits scored five runs.
Likens and Thompson of the visitors and Gilmer of Lebanon led the day's batting.

What Makes a Safe Tire?
... I KNOW!

ARE you willing to risk your life on advertising statements claiming blowout-proof and unblowable tires? One manufacturer gives as the reason for claiming blowout-proof tires—the use of one ply of another color—another, a patented “no breaker” construction—a mail order house, high stretch “elastic” cords, etc., etc. Actually the fundamental cause of a tire blowout is the flexing of the tire which causes friction of the fibers in the cord, resulting in heat and causing the rubber to soften and the cords to deteriorate.

There is a reason why Firestone Tires have won the 500-mile Indianapolis race for 14 consecutive years, the most gruelling tire test. The reason is the Firestone patented extra process of Gum-Dipping which saturates every fiber and insulates every cord with pure rubber—which gives strength to the cords and prevents friction and heat in the fibers. This year 42 drivers in this race equipped their cars with Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires and not a single driver had any tire trouble.

Race drivers know why Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires are safer and not subject to blowout and will not risk their lives on ordinary tires. Your life and the lives of your family are often in danger at the high road speeds of today and you should not take greater risks than the race drivers who make sure that they have the best and safest tires they can buy—Firestone.

THE MASTERPIECE
OF TIRE CONSTRUCTION

Come in today. We will give you a liberal trade-in allowance for your old tires on new Firestone High Speed Tires—the safest tires in the world.

ing at “A Century of Progress,” Chicago.

decision in an extra inning game last Friday and Methodists and Legion tied for second just one game back.

This week Methodists and Printers meet on Wednesday at 4:30 p. m. at Wright field and Clinic and Legion hook up in the other game.

In the first game last week the Methodists out slugged the Legion on Tuesday, the 13th, in a loosely played game that ended 20-16. Davidson to Peterson was the winning battery, and Goodpasture to Fisher the losing.

Friday Printers and Clinic played the tightest game yet played in the league. Clinic scored first in the second, when Bas Brockman got home just in time to avoid a double killing. The Printers evened matter in the first of the seventh when Bob Williams stole home after two Clinicians had grabbed an infield fly and one made a high heave. The game went one extra inning and was ended in the last of the eighth when with two out and two strikes on him, Bill McCarty hit a pretty liner over third and scored a man from that base. Hits were few, errors were few and runs were fewer. It was a real ball game with both pitchers, Red Hoover for the winners and John Anderson for the losers, turning in good performances.
