Centennial Parade Is Triumph for Whole County; Thousands Line Rialto

Smyth county out-did itself Friday morning when the long awaited Centennial Parade opened the second day of Smyth county's Centennial and passed in colorful review between cheering thousands who lined the old Rialto.

Since 6 a. m. state and local officers had kept the street clear of parked cars. The thousands who banked the sidewalks had a clear view. Hundreds saw the parade from upper windows. Some climbed to the tops of buildings. Estimates placed the number of people along the line of march at 7,000.

They saw gorgeous floats, three splendid bands, marching veterans, marching children and prancing horses. There was humor, too, and history.

Clouds cut off the heat of the sun as the floats and riders left the Norfolk and Western passenger station behind the N. & W. band, marching resplendent in blue and gold.

Band, floats and riders moved up the Rialto to the College. There they were joined by the marching contingent and the whole parade swept down the hill and to the fair grounds.

Handclaps or laughter came from the crowd as the floats went by. The American Legion led the march. The boys were out in strength, a splendid array, swinging along in khaki. Behind them rode Dr. E. A. Holmes, Smyth county's only medical officer in the World War. Then came the 30 piece Norfolk and Western band with a prancing drum major.

Loud cheers and applause rippled along the street as a huge white swan, the Miss Smyth County float, cruised by. "Miss Smyth County," who was Miss Eleanor Fairman Sheffey, sat enthroned, surrounded by her maids-of-honor, the Misses Sally Holmes, Bessie Wolfe and Kathrynne Fewell. They were all dressed in white. Miss Sheffey carried a bouquet of red roses. In the center of the float stood a tall white candle, signifying the glory of Miss Smyth County and her court.

Beside the float walked six pages in pink and white satin. These were the Misses Marian Eller, Rachel Sanders, Ruby Jones, Nancy Sexton Taylor, Ellen Meade Wilson and Virginia Sheffey.

Behind this float rode Governor Spottswood and his Knights of the Golden Horseshoe in plumed hats, cloaks and boots. They were Leon Beville, Stuart Ellis and Robert Lane Anderson.

Next came the Seven Mile Ford float, a mountain greenery creation representing life in pioneer days. On the front of the float rode John Morgan in pioneer dress and beside him stood a semi-historic Abingdon relic, a wooden horse which for years advertised a harness shop in that town. On the rear of the float a pioneer family was represented, with a cabin, women sewing, boys grinding meal.

W. C. Seaver & Sons were represented by a float bedecked in purple and white and bearing the legend, "Seaver's since 1844." Purity Flour Chilhowie Milling Co., made a brave display in patriotic colors and a collection of this company's products.

Marion's Girl Scouts effectively portrayed camp life on the next float, a camp scene built up on a background of forest green. Virginia Lincoln Furniture Company followed with two floats, one of furniture of today, the second the furniture of pioneer days. Both floats were decorated in red, yellow and white.

F. W. Berry & Co. of Chilhowie had an interesting float displaying farm produce with a good old Virginia ham the center piece.

The Atkins Leather Company showed an imitation cow, built up with the finished skins which are one of their products.

Then came the white and green Kiwanis float, the Marion Kiwanis club's contribution, the Peery Grocery Company float and the Service Dry Cleaner's float, all three colorful and effective.

A. L. Bonham's prize winning float followed, a masterpiece of apples, apples, apples, topped by a great ball made of dozens of luscious apples. Then came the Marion Kiwanis Band, the truck decorated

Seven Mile Ford, Chilhowie and Saltville Entertain Thousands in First Day of Celebration

The first day of the Great Smyth County Centennial Celebration saw thousands of visitors and homefolks entertained with three splendid programs at Seven Mile Ford, Chilhowie and Saltville.

Seven Mile Ford, with its delicata of the Smyth County Memorial Bridge over the Middle Fork of the Holston, opened the celebration promptly at ten a. m. last Friday. Perhaps two thousand people were gathered on the beautiful white cement structure when the Marion Kiwanis Band struck up the first notes of the opening air.

Harley Davidson, at the microphone for the broadcasting, made a brief introduction of the program and then presented the Rev. J. Tyler Frazier III, who made an opening prayer. Then T. B. Rector of Seven Mile Ford made a glowing introductory speech in which he presented Judge Redmond S. Cole of Tulsa, Okla.

Judge Cole spoke on "The Pioneers of this valley."

None is better prepared than he to speak on this subject, and he gave a masterly review of the early history of the Holston Valley and mentioned by name the many early settlers.

Mr. Robert Dungan presented ex-Governor Henry C. Stuart of Russell County. At this time the sun was beating down with summer fierceness and Dan Hoge did emergency duty by holding an umbrella over the speaker's head.

Governor Stuart spoke on "The Pioneer Woman."

His address was a striking tribute to those early women who so heroically stood beside their men in the conquest of the wilderness. In closing he made a splendid suggestion that the next Memorial directed in Southwest Virginia be raised to these unsung heroines.

E. H. Copenhaver of Seven Mile Ford introduced the Chairman of the State Highway Commission, the Hon. Henry G. Shirley. Mr. Shirley spoke on "Memorial Bridges." His address was clear and forceful. He said that our country is far behind other countries of the world in erecting memorial structures. He congratulated the people of Smyth County on their desire for a bridge both useful and commemorative and said that the Highway Commission was glad of the opportunity to build the structure being dedicated.

Mr. A. L. Calfee of Seven Mile Ford presented the Hon. Henry Gilmer of Wise, member of the Highway Commission for Southwest Virginia, whose duty it was to present the bridge to the people. In his speech, Mr. Calfee also paid tribute to the work of Miss Nell Preston of Seven Mile Ford in securing the bridge and putting over the dedication ceremonies.

Mr. Shirley made the presentation in a clever and amusing talk in which he also introduced his fellow members of the Highway Commission, the Hon. Messrs Truxton, Messie and East, who had come from their homes in central and eastern Virginia to honor the occasion.

Haynes L. Morgan of Seven Mile Ford presented Hon. V. L. Sexton of Bluefield, Virginia, who made the dedication address. Mr. Sexton reviewed the history of the past three hundred years and dedicated the bridge in fine style.

Illness prevented the Rev. Cochran Preston from being present to make the Dedicatory Prayer and his place was taken by the Rev. G. A. Wilson of Marion. Then the two splendid bronze memorial tablets were unveiled by Jimmy Dungan, Mary Amelia Copenhaver, Leroy Hull, Elizabeth Judkins, each representing the descendants of early pioneer families.

Then the motorcade, which by this time consisted of hundreds of cars, swept down the highway to the ceremonies at Chilhowie, guided by a corps of State Highway Policemen in white roadsters or on white motorcycles.

At Chilhowie

At Chilhowie most of the visitors and townsfolk swarmed up on historic Town House hill and in the Town House yard lunched as the Marion Kiwanis Band, in gay white band costumes, handed out its best. Hundreds poured through the old

CONGRATULATIONS, SMYTH COUNTY!

Smyth County's 100th birthday was celebrated last Thursday and Friday with a county-wide celebration unrivaled in the past and one that will be hard to beat in the future.

Smyth county did itself proud. Visitors who came here for the celebration marveled at the completeness, the finish, the magnificent display. Home folks, and there were plenty of these, were pleasantly surprised, the celebration turned out to be so much more in every way than any but its most devoted boosters had expected.

A hardworking group of citizens from all parts of the county—the Centennial Committee—put the celebration over. They solved many difficulties. They worked hard. The celebration they produced is one they can long be proud of.

It is impossible here to give thanks to every one who participated in the Centennial and its celebration. Many there were Thursday and Friday who deeply missed the first Centennial General Chairman, who launched for it so many successful plans—the late B. F. Buchanan. Mayor R. T. Greer of Marion took up the job and carried it to a splendid conclusion. His right and left hand men were Ralph Repass, general secretary, and Paul Bird, program chairman. A dozen other committee chairman handled the local celebrations over the county and their own sections of the main celebration. To every one of them, thanks and congratulations!

Particular mention should also be made of the Roeller Public Address system of Pottstown, Pa., whose two men gave the most splendid co-operation and aid at every point in the celebration, and the Intermountain Telephone Company, which generously contributed the free use of its lines for hours on end in order that the celebration might be broadcast.

Particular thanks are due, too, the many speakers who came back to their old home county from distant points to help given the fine finish the celebration had all through to the local people who worked so hard on the pageants and other features, to those who took part in the pageants, and to Miss Jean Craddock, who was so seriously injured at rehearsal.

And not the smallest contribution was that of the Norfolk & Western Railroad, which sent its band at no expense to the Centennial.

The celebration proved that a small town and rural county can accomplish wonders when people work together. Pride and universal satisfaction have been the reactions of the thousands of fortunate ones who saw the whole celebration.

They are justly proud, too, of their county. We also are proud of Smyth County and its men and women. They set a high mark for our great-grandchildren to shoot at in 2032.

John W. McGhee Takes To the People of Smyth County

On Wednesday, the 1st, Mr. John W. McGhee of Seven Mile Ford took over the position as jailor at the Smyth county jail, succeeding Mr. Bill Hopkins. Mr. McGhee is now in the hospital at Abingdon, where he underwent an appendicitis operation of Tuesday night, May 31st. He is expected to be up soon.

"The job worried me and my wife to death," says Bill Hopkins. "We are going back to the farm and live in peace."

Mrs. McGhee, George Gullion and Jim DeBord are tending the jail while Mr. McGhee is down.

Bill Hopkins has been a fine and efficient jailor and all are sorry to lose him.

Music Recital

A most entertaining recital was given by Miss Ella Mae Maiden's music class before a large audience of parents and friends in the auditorium of the Rich Valley High School on Tuesday evening, May 24.

For the occasion the stage had been artistically decorated with baskets of roses, laurel, peonies and wild honeysuckle. Lattice work and an archway gave the effect of an old fashioned garden.

Those appearing on the program were: Virginia Clark, Helen Callihan, Mary Belle Litton, William Brickey, Tivis Taylor, Anna Clerk, Mary Graham Gass, Spiller McCarty, Jean Campbell, Martha Clark, Mildred Buchanan, Laura Hill Gass, Evelyn Taylor, and Virginia Buchanan.

Marion Blues Defeated By Bristol Team

The Bristol High Rock's Knitters found the offerings of Kirby easy and slugged their way to a decisive 7 to 2 victory over the Blues at the former's field, Monday the 30th. Bristol scored in every inning but the fourth.

Bob Edwards, who pitched for the Bristol team won his second game in three days. Edwards gained a 17 to 10 decision over Paddle Creek in an Industrial League game Saturday. He held the Blues to six singles, giving up but one scratch hit until the fifth when three singles scored the first run for the visitors. Two more one-base blows in the sixth finished the Marion scoring.

Lewis Flick contributed the longest hit of the day when he parked one of Kirby's offerings in the right field stands for a home run. It was the second homer of the season for Flick having hit one in Industrial League play.

Kiwanis Have Meeting

The Kiwanis held their regular weekly meeting and dinner at the Hotel Lincoln, Tuesday evening, the 31st. There was a pretty good crowd on hand for the evening's festivities. Bill Sclater made a motion that a vote of thanks be given to Tom Greer, Jim Tate and Harley Davidson for the splendid work they did in the centennial. This was done.

There wasn't much business during the meeting as everyone was resting up from last week's festivities. Harley reported that his sign painters had repaired and repainted the Kiwanis signs on the east and west approaches to Marion.

Raymond Morris, who had charge of the program, had engaged the famous Chilhowie colored quartet to present a few songs for the club. On their way up here, the songsters ran into some bad luck. Their car broke down and they were forced to break up their engagement, much to the disappointment of the club members. However, they are going to sing at next week's meeting.

Saves The Day

Harley Davidson saved the day for the celebration at the Fair Grounds last Friday. The Roeller Broadcasting Service man found that two important units used to amplify the voice, were completely burned out.

This would make it impossible to Theatre, of which he is the manager. He rushed down and got them. They were the correct ones and the day was saved.

broadcast the speeches and events, as the parts were unobtainable in town. The whole carefully planned celebration was about to be ruined. However, Harley, who was to do the announcing, thought he had two such parts down at the Lincoln

J. Floyd Johnston, formerly of Marion, but now of Wytheville, who underwent an operation in Fort Sanders hospital in Knoxville some time ago is at his home in Wytheville, recovering.

(Born to Mr. and Mrs. Ross Tilson, May 23, a fine baby boy, Harry Edward, weight 5 pounds. Both mother and baby are doing fine.

Centennial Closing Celebration at Fair Grounds Proves Grand Climax of Two Days

Smyth County's great Centennial Celebration reached its climax on Friday when, following the great parade through Marion, four thousands persons saw the final program at Fair Grounds.

Immediately after the parade the crowds made their way to the fair grounds to take in the big program that had been arranged for the day. By 11:30 the grandstand was almost full and people were scattered all over the entire grounds. The Norfolk and Western Band started the program with the playing of "The Gate City March."

Dr. J. J. Scherer, of Richmond, gave the invocation. The first speaker, Judge George E. Cassell, was introduced by J. A. Eller, chairman of the board of supervisors. Judge Cassell told of the great progress that had been made in the county in the last few years. "It is a celebration like this that shows the spirit of Smyth County," he said. "The people of Smyth county must take care of the county themselves and they must have a personal interest in it in order to forward the progress of the county. Build a christian home for young people and give them a real bringing up," the judge urged.

Preston Collins introduced the next speaker, Hon. W. H. Rouse, of Bristol. Mr. Rouse made a historical address. He told of the various episodes in the settlement and development of Smyth county. Mr. Rouse claimed that the period of 1832 was a time of romance, and of great deeds. He said the first survey made in the county was by Col. James Patton and his son-in-law, John Buchanan, in 1746. In conclusion, the speaker voiced the hope that in two days of celebration the people would have a re-birth of veneration for their forefathers and patriotism for the county.

After this address, prizes were awarded for the best floats. In the non-professional class, the apple float of Bonham Orchard Co., of Chilhowie, got first prize, the Rich Valley float, second, and the Rotary Club, third. A float entered by the Marion Woman's Club won first prize for the professional class and the U. D. C. car, in which Levi Cole, one of the few remaining Confederate veterans in Smyth county, rode, took honors for the best decorated car.

The judges were Mrs. Lewis Engles and Mrs. E. R. Edmondson, of Radford, Mrs. William Houston, of Tunica, Miss., Mrs. Austin Morgan, of Winchester, and Dr. T. F. Staley, of Bristol.

After the awarding of the prizes time was taken out for lunch. Hamburger and hot dog stands which had been erected for the occasion did a land office business. Suddenly, in the midst of all the bustle, it began to rain. There was a mad rush for all available shelter, but the rain didn't last long. The sky cleared up and Old Sol showed his face in time for the continuation of the afternoon part of the program.

The program started promptly at 1:50. The Norfolk and Western Band played a few stirring airs. As they concluded their last selection, the band left on the trek homeward. Harley Davidson, who was doing the announcing, asked everyone to stand up and cheer for the band for splendid cooperation in making the centennial a success. This was done with a will. The Chilhowie Community Chorus, under the direction of Miss Frances Eller, sang two numbers. This group sang very well and showed that they had been well trained in the art of choral singing.

They were followed by the Chilhowie Colored Quartet. This quartet was just about as good as they came.

Mr. Hayden Bell, attorney for the sanitary board of Cook County, Ill., was the "home-coming" speaker. He was introduced by W. L. Lincoln. The keynote of Mr. Bell's speech was that more penalties and teeth should be placed in the laws to make them more effective. He said the cause of the depression was terrific stock gambling. "These men who manipulate stocks and trim the glib American people are committing larceny and should be placed behind the bars," Mr. Bell said.

Marion Junior College Commencement

The largest class in the history of Marion College was graduated this year. For the ceremony of giving the diplomas the class, with parents, friends and old graduates gathered at Lincoln theater at ten thirty on the morning of Monday, the 30th. Rev. Paul Scherer, one of the most famous ministers of the Lutheran Church in America, had come from New York to deliver the baccalaureate address. The address was scholarly and finished. Reverend Scherer was introduced by Rev. R. H. Anderson of Lynchburg and the invocation was by the Rev. C. K. Spiggle of Sipesville, Penn.

The graduation class looked very beautiful in cap and gown. The graduating class was as follows:

High School:—Margaret Doepken, Carolyn Margaret Harmon and Ruth Vorberg.

As a part of the ceremony of graduation prizes were given for exceptional scholarship during the year, the highest prize going to Miss Lenore Griffiths of Sugar Grove who led the entire school was an average for all studies above 95. Others who in all studies stood above ninety were: Miss Elsie Hilt, Miss Madge Snider, Miss Elizabeth Warstler, Miss Elizabeth Hull, Miss Helen White, Miss Virginia Kern, Miss Marjorie Droge, Miss Elizabeth Fisher and Miss Mary Elsie Spiggle.

In charge of the ceremonies was the Rev. E. H. Copenhaver, president of the college, who made also a short address, speaking of the fine work done during the year, the fight the college was making to improve the work, the success already attained and the hopes for the future.

On Sunday the baccalaureate sermon was preached before a full Presbyterian church by the Rev. C. L. Warstler of Canton, Ohio.

Rural Retreat Has Commencement Exercises

Commencement exercises of the Rural Retreat High School began May 20th with a girls reading contest, Miss Virginia Huddle winning the medal. A one act play was given the same evening. On May 21st, the declamation contest was held, Billy Baumgardner receiving the medal. A short play was also given. The baccalaureate sermon was preached by Rev. Hewitt, pastor of Grace Lutheran Church.

On Monday evening, May 23rd, a three act play "Home Again Harry," was given by the senior class and directed by Mrs. Olive Repass Brown. The graduating exercises were held Tuesday evening, May 24, and diplomas were presented to Ruby Neff, Louise Brown, Gene Miller, Ada May Lyons, Elsie Hanshaw, Virginia Huddle, Bessie Willard, Miriam Copenhaver, Edna Neff, Mildred Snapp, Faye Umberger, Elizabeth Spraker, Violet Shupe, Catherine Umbarger, Eulalia Davis, Mozelle Heldreth, Ethel Killinger, Louise Willard, James Phillippi, Garnet Miller, Alford L. The following medals were awarded: English and French to Benny Kincannon. Latin to Pauline Wampler. Mathematics and Home Economics to Patsy Staley. Science to Elizabeth Spraker. Agriculture to Stephen Cassell. History to Chas. Davis. Scholarship to Elsie Hanshaw. Music to Mary Elizabeth Lindamood.

Thousands Watch Centennial Parade

lined, white and blue and the boys, in red, white and blue and the boys, air with martial music.

Smyth County Motor Company, Inc., and Chilhowie Motor Company, Inc., tickled the crowd with Amos 'n' Andy, Meek Duncan and Herman Thompson, in a car of 1912, followed by Ruby Taylor and Madame Queen, Engle Hutton and Ray Clear in a brand new 1932 model.

The Marion Rotary Club had an outstanding float in many colors bearing a huge Rotary Wheel and the flags of some thirty-odd nations represented in Rotary International. It was a peacherino.

Marion Motor Company, Inc., had a splendid display, a shiny yellow roadster mounted on a decorated float. Saltville community was represented by an effective float on which an old time salt kettle and a darky to stir were the big attraction.

Uncle Calib Bonham had a good one, a float depicting pioneer life. Vance Company, Inc., presented their fertilizers with a pleasing float of solid green. Shell Products displayed a beach scene with a genuine bathing beauty. Coca Cola had a music truck. Debord Mills had a striking float displaying flour.

Marion's colored band, Isa's Band, rode in a float fixed up by the Marion colored community. Marion Ice and Coal Company had a striking float centered around an enormous lump of coal and equally enormous cakes of ice. Then came the famous "Alexander Smyth Bell," sent to the parade by the citizens of Wytheville and tolled by R. P. Johnson. Marion Orange Crush had a honey of a float—in front the old family well and bucket—behind a display of their drinks.

The 100-year-old shay, with two fine blacks driven by George Russell, grinning under a top hat, came by with Fred Cole and Mrs. Fred Greever dressed in gorgeous colonial costumes. It got a lot of applause. Rosie, a monstrous colonial dame built on a motorcycle, gave the children a great thrill as she waltzed and cavorted along.

On the Marion College float Miss Margaret Sue Copenhaver was enthroned as Queen of Wisdom and the Misses Elizabeth Fisher, Mary Elise Spiggle, Jane Holl, Evelyn Huston, Margaret Osborne and Frankie Ammentroun portrayed different student and educational activities.

After the College came the Woman's club, riding in gaily decorated cars. They were followed by the W. C. T. U. float. The U. D. C.'s had two cars, representing Saltville and Marion Chapters, and in one rode Levi Cole, a veteran. These cars stopped at the Confederate monument in the court house yard and Miss Margaret Blackwell and Mrs. John Mantz laid a wreath at the base.

Clint Farris brought joy to old timers and young alike. He was dressed in old time garb and laden with basket, sacks and bottles, giving an imitation of an old timer going to town (maybe he was coming from town, as the bottles would indicate) that had the genuine flavor.

The Rich Valley float, one of the best of all, had a log cabin and a pioneer and his wife at work in the yard. It was well thought out and carefully built up.

The Weiler Department Store Company, Inc., had a float in red, white and blue and A. P. Harmon showed off his Harmonize product with a car.

The Monday Afternoon Music club had another authentic old time exhibit, an ox cart with oxen furnished by the Southwest State Hospital and a group of old time musicians with fiddle, banjo, etc.

The marshals who pranced up and down and kept things moving together were Quincy Calhoun, Lee Cole, Crock Gwyn, Beattie Gwyn, Ike Huff, Love Rouse, Doug Keller and Carl Davis. They made a fine show in themselves, with their horses.

The parade was complete even to the Seaver Ambulance and Doc Bill McCarty. It came in handy twice—once when a bandsman collapsed and once when a boy did likewise. Doc Bill fixed both up in the ambulance and got them back to the celebration.

Rev. Roy W. Redding and wife have been called to Frankfort, Ky., for the funeral of his sister-in-law Mrs. Charles Redding, which will be conducted Monday morning at 11 o'clock at the Norfolk Baptist church.

One Fined, Other Held Over For Circuit Court

Jim DeBord saw two men, J. W. Spencer and J. G. Neff, of Rural Retreat, who looked as if they had been imbibing quite a little Sunday, the 29th. He watched them as they got in Spencer's car which was parked in front of the Jackson building. Spencer didn't have a very firm grip on the wheel. He smashed into Haynes Morgan's car, ripping a fender pretty badly, and kept on going, heading down the Rialto toward Wytheville.

Jim called Bill Hopkins. They got a car and overtook the two men at the Norfolk and Western station and brought them back. A half pint of corn was found in Neff's pocket. They were held in the calaboose over night.

Neff plead guilty to being drunk and was fined $50 and given a 30 day jail sentence which was suspended on payment of fine. Spencer, who was charged with driving while intoxicated, waived the preliminary hearing. His case was held over for the Circuit Court.

Fire Halted

What was the start of a bad fire was put out in Mr. Shuler McClellan's home about 9:30 Monday night when the fire department made a run up the creek and caught the flames before they could spread.

The fire started while the family was out, and started from unknown cause. It spread from a woodbox beside the kitchen stove and into the sidewall and a partition wall. Neighbors who rushed in with a bucket brigade held it down until the fire department got there and stopped it with the chemical hose.

Lake Forest Opens

Mr. J. H. Dixon, assisted by his brother, Mr. Page Dixon, both of Saltville, have taken over operation of Lake Forest for this summer and have opened the popular resort and swimming center.

They are operating the pool, lake, dance pavilion, lunch room and lodge. Already hundreds of people have availed themselves of the swimming offered in the concrete pool opened last year.

Chilhowie Baseball Team Wins Two

Chilhowie baseball team was recently reorganized for the present season, with Carl Brickey manager. Out of three games played, Chilhowie has won two.

The team shut out Davis Clinic Friday afternoon, 5 to 0. Crenshaw's pitching was outstanding, allowing only 5 hits. The batteries were: Chilhowie, Crenshaw and Sturgill; Davis Clinic, Wolfe and Bryant.

Saturday afternoon Chilhowie defeated Damascus at Damascus, 6 to 5. Campbell, the local pitcher, held Damascus scoreless until the 8th inning. In that inning he weakened, striking out one man, walking two men and allowing four consecutive hits, thus letting in five runs in the same inning. Brickey entered as relief pitcher and struck out four of the remaining five batters.

The batteries were: Chilhowie, Campbell, Brickey and Sturgill; Damascus, Anderson, Rosenbaum and Blevins.

There were twenty-four members and three visitors at the meeting.

Mrs. A. H. Shipp is improving from an attack of rheumatism.

Miss Jane Richardson is visiting with relatives in Roanoke.

Mr. James F. Birchfield of Knoxville, Tennessee, was the week-end guest of his mother, Mrs. W. V. Birchfield.

Miss Ina Rose Greer, of the Sew-Ed Lyceum and Producing Co., of Atlanta, Ga., has just completed a big production for the Women's Research Club of Egg Harbor and Atlantic City, N. J., and will spend a two weeks vacation in the latter place and in New York and Philadelphia before returning to her home in Marion for the summer. While in Philadelphia Miss Greer will be the guest of her sister and brother-in-law, Lieutenant Commander and Mrs. Eugene D. Hardin, of Waylin Manor Apts., Lansdowne and Drexel Hills.

Merchants Decorate Windows for Centennial

The merchants of Marion entered in the spirit of the Centennial with a will. They searched the county far and wide for heirlooms and relics to make window displays depicting the days of long ago. Collins Brothers had a whole window filled with valuable relics. There was a bible with a facsimile of the Declaration of Independence, said to be the only one in existence. The bible was secured from Rev. Carter. A dress reputed to have belonged to Governor Tyler's wife which was brought in by Mrs. Walter Jackson, a clock 150 years old, parasol, dancing slippers, and many other small articles, made almost every passer-by stop and take notice.

In Wellers' window was a quilt 146 years old made from home woven jeans and home made thread, solid silver stirrups, which belonged to a young confederate general. According to the story he was shot in the battle of Mt. Carmel. His horse dragged him about fifty feet, his feet hanging in these stirrups. There were powder horns, spinning wheels and many other items of interest.

Brisco's window was filled with confederate money, books dating way back to the Revolutionary war, hats, parasols, and an aged pair of apothecary scales. An old gilt frame picture belonging to the Brisco family, added much to the display.

G. S. Thornton & Co. had two trunks, one was reputed to be 200 years old, while the other dated back to 1832. There was a tea set belonging to Mrs. C. P. Blackwell, 185 years old, a money box, sewing box, candle molds and daughterrapes belonging to Mrs. G. S. Thornton.

Scott Bros. Grocery had a spinning wheel, an ancient picture album, teapots, flax reels, etc.

Marion Hardware had quilts, spinning wheels, candle stands, a deed made of sheepskin written by Patrick Henry for David Samuel Robinson. This belonged to Mrs. B. E. Copenhaver. There was a bullet mould, belonging to Charley Oliver, which dated back to 1703, a sugar jar 220 years old, belonging to Mrs. J. R. Young, an old cap and ball pistol, belonging to J. W. Keller, and a bridle bit used in the Revolutionary War.

W. C. Seavers & Sons had a display of old time furniture, including bureaus, chests, flax reels, which were used way before 1832. Most of these articles belong to David Francis.

The Service Dry Cleaners showed a picture 200 years old, an Indian plow an ink bottle, which was used in 1832, a pestle and mortar, the property of Peter Killinger, and a spinning wheel. In Graham's Five and Ten there was a waffle iron, an Indian broad axe, bullet and candle moulds, bear traps, and Indian battle axe, 100 years old belonging to Wise Johnson. A great many of the articles displayed there belongs to Mr. C. F. Graham, proprietor of the store.

The Marion Clothing Company had a unique showing in their window. In the background was an Indian wigwam, surrounded on all sides by moccasins, tomahawks, arrow heads, battle axes and pottery. There was also a coat which had been made by President Andrew Johnson, for Miss Carrie Wright's grandfather, a penny magazine, 100 years old and a coverlet 150 years old.

The Piggly-Wiggly had a picture of Lol-la-Pa-loo-za, chief of the Cherokees. This name, according to the testimony of Ralph Rorghbaugh is translated in English as "mud in your eye". There were also a great number of articles used by the Indians.

The Curtis Beauty Parlor had a clock 210 years old, belonging to Charley Oliver, a flint lock rifle, which was given by Henry Vernon and a razor blade 100 years of age, brought over from England.

Appalachian Electric Power Co., showed an old time refrigerator. Beside it was one of the new electric models. It was quite a contrast.

Sanders Cash Grocery had a nice window display, too. There was a cooking glass, the property of Jonathan Aker, used by him in his celebrated tavern on Lee Highway near the Wythe county line and a surveying instrument belonging to Thomas Thomas, who lived in Southfork.

A picture of Gen. Alexander Smyth, of whom the county is named graced the windows of McDonalds Store Inc. This picture has been recently placed in the clerk's office at the court house and belongs to Dr. Goodrich Wilson.

Dr. Rex Phipps informed the reporter that he had a cap and ball pistol displayed in the window of the Piggly Wiggly. This pistol, according to Dr. Phipps, was the one used by Alexander Burr, and fired the fatal shot, that killed Alexander Hamilton, in the famous duel between the two statesmen.

it takes everything

"Drawing is Only 10% of a Cartoon"

"It takes everything to make a cartoonist," says the famous originator of the Believe-It-or-Not cartoons. "You've got to be able to draw, of course. But you've also got to have a sense of humor, you've got to know what people are interested in and how human nature performs, and above all, you've got to have originality. It takes everything!"

AND a real gasoline must have everything, too! A high octane rating is not enough. To be quick-starting is not enough.

Gasoline may contain sulphur which you cannot see (though you may be able to smell it).

No gasoline is economical when you pay for it twice. Once when you use it and again when you are paying hard-earned cash for corroded bearings and unnecessary carbon removal jobs.

What you want is trouble-free, low-cost transportation. Power that gets you there without ruining an expensive engine. Power that can be counted on when you need it. Power that starts like a flash—and is still with you at the end of the run.

A gasoline to give you this must have everything.

- ✓ GUM-LESS—No clogged manifolds—no sticky valves. Cuts repair bills.
- ✓ SULPHUR-LESS—No corrosion. Saves repair bills.
- ✓ ANTI-KNOCK—Extra power, less noise, less upkeep cost through reduced hammering of pistons and bearings. Cuts repair bills.
- ✓ QUICK STARTING—Minimum use of choke—quick power and pick-up—less contamination of crankcase oil.
- ✓ "BUBBLE-FREE"—No stalling and bucking from vapor bubbles in gas line and carburetor—even, steady flow of power in the hottest motor.
- ✓ ODOR-LESS—Refined "sweet"—no disagreeable smells.
- ✓ CRYSTAL CLEAR—Made clear—stays clear—a guarantee of perfect cleanliness. Saves money.

WOULD NOT HELP "MASSES"

Mora (Minn.) Times

Franklin D. Roosevelt says he is for the masses and in the same breath advocates a reduction of tariffs so that foreign countries may sell more goods in this country. The masses must live by producing something that the people of this country need. If their requirements are supplied by other countries, how can it benefit the so-called "masses" of this country?

LEADERSHIP IN WHITE HOUSE

Chicago Daily News

In the White House there is leadership which Congress refuses to follow. Every recent constructive proposal that has been enacted or has met ruthless slaughter at the hands of blind partisanship and feverish demagoguery was framed in the councils of the President. Provision for thawing frozen assets in the banks of the country and for strengthening the federal land banks to serve the farmer better, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, the Glass-Steagall bill for the liberalization of credit—those are accomplishments which bear the impress of Mr. Hoover's leadership. But their efficacy and that of other pending measures is threatened by the disorder which has overtaken Congress. Public confidence which those measures were designed to stimulate is weakened and may be utterly destroyed by the latter-day congressional. At the doors of Congress stands an avid bureaucracy whose solar plexus has subordinated its brain. At those doors stand also the fantastic advocates of fiat money and the motley horde whose dominating impulse is to soak the rich. It seems inconceivable that such besiegers will prevail, but doubt enters the country's mind.

If the President cannot get the ear of Congress, he can have the attention of the people. If he speaks to them directly he may be sure of their response. Let him announce that he will address them by radio and there will be 50,000,000 listeners. Let him talk in terms of American common sense, American resourcefulness and courage. The people are eager for leadership. President and people together can bring Congress to its senses.

Atkins F. F. A. Feeds Self and Friends

On Wednesday evening, the twenty-fifth of May, the Atkins Chapter, Future Farmers of America, held its first feed, to which all parents of Chapter members and a number of other friends of the organization were invited. Due to commencement exercises at various points, Supt. Copenhaver and a number of others were unable to attend, but there was a goodly turnout of community folks. Sixteen active chapter members and about thirty-five parents and friends comfortably filled the Agricultural Building.

The feed was contributed on a picnic style basis, and included an abundance of ham, eggs, relish, raisins, assorted sandwiches, fried chicken, deviled eggs, slaw, pickle, coconut, caramel, angel food and other varieties of cakes together with many other types of foodstuffs contributed by the boys, and coffee and lemonade prepared for the crowd. All enjoyed every item in the feast, even the ice remaining from the lemonade being used as a topping by Professor Hicks and some of the other boys.

Fred McDonald, officially the "Tail Twister" for the Chapter, started the program off by offering the invocation. For the thirty minutes immediately succeeding that nobody was able to utter a word, but vitles certainly did take on a scarce appearance pretty rapidly.

When the carnage finally quieted down a little, the Chapter president, Harlo Atkins, after beating the floor with a heavy mallet for seven minutes, finally succeeded in bringing the gathering to order. The Chapter officers opened the meeting with the regular opening ceremony, followed by reading of the Minutes of the preceding meeting. This was followed by random remarks by the Adviser, Z. M. K. Fulton Jr., the tediousness of which was soon dispelled by a report of Chapter activities during the school year, contributed by D. S. Scott Jr. Professor Hicks next took the floor and presented some ideas of value from both humorous and edifying angles, returning the said floor in due time to the president, who next called a Henry Hoofnagle to relate the Chapter plans for participation in the Annual State Rally. After this disputation, Fred McDonald again appeared, and, in his inimitable way, paid for his supper—at least half of what there was in the way of edibles originally. Harlo Atkins told of the activities and plans for improving the school grounds, and was followed by Mr. John T. Atkins, Mr. S. D. Scott and others, who helped round out the program in excellent fashion. The regular closing ceremonies completed the entertainment of the evening.

It is felt that the success of this first effort will spur the Chapter members on to greater successes in the future, to the end that the feed next year will be so good that all attendants may have to be forcibly restrained from over indulgence in assorted gustatory, auditory and spiritual delights.

MISS BESSIE GERTRUDE SCOTT

Miss Bessie Gertrude Scott, 20, died Thursday night at her home at Mt. Carmel. Funeral services were conducted Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Centenary church by the pastor, Rev. Pelleau.

Miss Scott is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Scott, two sisters, Mrs. L. J. Hutton, of Elizabethton, Tenn., and Shirley Scott, of Mt. Carmel, Milton, Sherman Worley, James of Mt. Carmel and Claude of Elizabethton, Tenn. Burial was in Centenary cemetery.

"Bonus Expeditionary Force" Stops Here En Route

Part of the "bonus expeditionary force," 1300 of which were already in Washington, D. C., stopped in Marion on Tuesday morning in search of gas, food and other aids for their "bonus demand" march on the capital.

The party was from Middlesburg, Ky., and numbered sixteen. They were traveling in a truck.

They are part of a movement of ex World War soldiers who are descending on Washington and Congress from all over the nation demanding passage of bonus legislation.

Three hundred of the expedition got a great deal of publicity last week when they seized freight cars in Illinois and demanded that the railroads carry them east.

Date of Wytheville District Conference Changed

Dr. R. B. Platt, Jr., Presiding Elder of the Wytheville District, held the second quarterly conference for Marion, First Methodist church, here Wednesday night. Delegates to the District Conference which is to be held at Independence, Va., were elected at this conference here. They are: Mr. R. T. Greer, Mrs. Thomas Wassum, Mr. W. W. Scott, Mr. L. A. Ophoff, Mrs. J. W. Brockman, Mr. M. M. Seaver, Mrs. R. G. Goolsby, Mrs. C. S. Wassum, Mrs. H. B. Staley and Mr. J. L. Shugart. Dr. Platt announced that a change in date of the time of the District conference had been made necessary from May 31st to June 1st. The meeting will continue for three days. The opening sermon will be preached by Rev. W. M. Bunts, pastor at Galax, Va., and presided over by Rev. R. B. Platt. At this meeting all the pastors within the district make report on the various items of work done during the year, the local preachers are examined and if found worthy their license renewed for another year. A feature of the District Conference is the licensing of young men to the ministry and the election of delegates to the Annual conference.

13 Chilhowie High Seniors Graduated

Thirteen seniors of Chilhowie high school received diplomas at graduation exercises held Wednesday evening, May 25. Dr. Roy E. Hoke of Emory and Henry College delivered the literary address.

William Hicks was salutatorian and Miss Josephine Burch was valedictorian.

Superintendent of Smyth county schools, B. E. Copenhaver, presented diplomas to the following: Lucy Bowman, Josephine Burch, Helen Buchanan, Alice Sherwood, Minnie Moore, Margaret Hankla, Elizabeth Copenhaver, Hilton Rector, James Hutton Greever, William Hicks, Ted Taylor, John McCormick and Douglas Chambers.

Miss Polly Martin was awarded the scholarship medal given by Mrs. Sallie Vance, of Abingdon, former resident of Chilhowie.

Twenty promotion certificates were given seventh grade pupils and 108 five-point certificates were presented pupils from the various grades.

Mrs. Dan Hale and daughter, Katherine Gibson, of Narrows, are guests at the home of Mrs. Henry Chapman.

Democrats push relief measure despite Hoover. Huge $2,300,000,000 bill is introduced and sent to committee. Midwest bankers move to loosen up credit. Legislation designed to guarantee deposits is offered in House.

Indiana provides transportation for World War veterans who are traveling on to Washington to ask cash payment for their arjusted service certificates.

Fight breaks up session of prussian diet. Communists and nationalists clash in violent hand to hand combat. Outbreak follows charge that nationalist group contained murderers.

Thursday, May 26th.

Mayor Walker tells how he made thousands without investing. Under questioning by Seabury he declares that he knows nothing about $700,000 deposited by Russel T. Sherwood, his personal financial agent, who disappeared recently.

Speaker Garner's gigantic relief measure finished. Democrat is leader explains bill to House behind closed doors. Virginia's share is more than $11,000,000.

Senate rewrites tax measure but is short of goal. Excise levies on many luxuries offset by change in admissions levy. Fight is anticipated on sales tax levy. Leaders of both parties join in statement promising balanced budget.

Editors at presidential conference, approve of Hoover's plans for reconstruction committees in all large cities.

Balanced budget urged by Secretary of Treasurer Mills. Asserts building program would be harmful. Declares it is private industry which must revive employment.

Friday, May 27th.

Hoover denounces Garner's measure as "Pork Barrel". Declares Congress already has descredited many of 500 projects proposed in bill. House presses for action with hearings to start on Tuesday.

Senate prepares to take vote on sales tax Monday. Way cleared as remaining rate schedules are given approval. Both sides claiming victory in showdown.

Stegall banking measure passed. House approves bill which is designed to guarantee band deposits. Attacked by McFadden, representative from Pennsylvania, as worst blow ever given Federal Reserve system.

Saturday, May 28th.

Garner slaps back at Hoover for his criticism of relief bill. Declares that epithet of "Pork Barrel" that Hoover applied to his measure, can be applied to reconstruction corporation.

President made center of sales tax controversy. Senator Connally, of Texas, demands executive make public his position. Intimations reach capitol that Hoover will send special message.

Case of Mayor Walker interest center. Observers speculating on effects of demand for his removal.

Mayors asks government to help city finances. Conference of city heads at Detroit adopts three-fold program calling for extension of credit, appropriations for jobless, and $5,000,000,000 public works program.

Seabury charges Walker violated New York charter. Possession of bonds grounds for removal, counsel declares.

U. S. and France reach agreement. Gives America most favored nation treatment on limited imports. Negotiation of pact marks another success for Ambassador Walter Edge.

Harlequin Cabbage Bug

The harlequin cabbage bug, commonly called the "Calico back", "terrapin bug" or "fire bug" has recently been found in large numbers around Marion, Atkins and Grose-clone. This bug is about one-half inch long, red and black spotted and is one of the most destructive insects known to cabbage. The harlequin bug sucks the sap from the leaves and veins of cabbage and other related crops. The affected plants wilt and die soon after the attack as though swept by fire. Entire fields may be destroyed when they appear in large numbers unless their ravages are checked.

Due to the feeding habits this bug cannot be destroyed with food poison. The best spray known is nicative sulphate ("Black leaf 40") one pint to 25 gallons water. The newly hatched young are much more easily killed than the harder full-grown bugs. Hand pick and destroy or burn with hand torch the full-grown bugs and eggs as soon as they are found in the fields.

Other methods, such as spraying with soap suds, (1 pound white laundry soap to two gallons water) salt salution and kerosene emulsion, are being tried out.

The eggs look like miniature black banded barrels on end and are placed usually in parallel rows, twelve in number, on the under sides of the leaves.

Every effort is being made to find some satisfactory method of controlling this pest which so seriously threatens the cabbage industry of this section after mild winters.

house, the central portion of which is the log fort built in 1754 by Dr. Thomas Walker. The lunch stands set up by the ladies of Chilhowie and by the young men of the high school did a land office business.

At 12:45 the well balanced Chilhowie program got under way when the Chilhowie Community Chorus, under direction of Miss Frances Eller, sang "Home, Sweet Home," "Carry Me Back to Ol' Virginy," and "Dixie." Members of the Chilhowie Community Chorus are:

Mrs. Bayard Cole, Mrs. Leslie Blamer, Mrs. W. H. Copenhaver, Miss Mary Payne Copenhaver, Miss Elinor Copenhaver, Mrs. L. C. Ross, Miss Okie Pennington, Mrs. Roy Duncan, Mrs. Sam Mountain, Miss Josephine Hull, Miss Pauline Hull, Miss Virginia Jones, Miss Ruth Scott, Mrs. Bascom Leonard, Mrs. Marian Eller, Mrs. Will Harris, Mrs. Norman Cullop, Mrs. A. A. Crutchfield, Miss Rebecca Chambers, Miss Jane Keller, Miss Hope Jones, Mrs. A. C. Beattie, Mrs. M. L. Pierce, Mrs. S. A. Cole, Mrs. Gordon Smith, Mrs. J. H. Keller, Mrs. M. B. Cole, Miss Mildred Eads, Mrs. John Kelly, Mrs. Everett Bonham, Mrs. J. B. Bonham, Mrs. J. T. Frazier, Jr., Mrs. S. L. Bonham, Mrs. Margaret R. Madison, Mrs. Marvin Sanders, Mrs. J. S. Snavelly, Mrs. Cora Vance, Miss Polly Sue Walker, Miss Catherine Cole, Miss Anna Rosenbaum, Miss Elizabeth Sherwood, Messrs. C. C. Frazier, J. D. Dyer, Tyler Frazier, III, Q. A. Eller, Fred Greever, John Kelly, Lynwood Ramsey and the Rev. L. C. Ross.

The chorus retired and Mr. E. L. Bonham of Chilhowie presented the legate Bill Neff, of Abingdon, an old St. Clair's Bottom boy, who made a historical address which was one of the high spots of the two-day celebration. It was stirring, clear, informative, inspiring.

The came the Chilhowie Colored Quartet, four masterly singers. They received tremendous applause for their singing of "God's Heb'n," "My Lord, What a Morning," "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot," and other spirituals. These singers are Jim Body, Branie Gannaway, Hyde Gannaway, Eddie Tucker.

The Community Chorus sang again, giving first an old folk air, "The Raggle-Taggle Gypsy" and then breaking into "Sourwood Mountain." As they finished a stringed band of old time mountain musicians took up the music and, costumed as in the old days, a group of the best dancers in Chilhowie neighborhood put on an old fashioned "break down" on the lawn. It was a peach and a hummer.

These dancers were: Mrs. Ernest Greever, Mrs. Gordon Smith, Mrs. J. Keller, Miss Sue Hawthorne, Mrs. Sue Hawthorne, Mrs. Edward Madison, Mrs. S. A. Cole, Miss Ruth Scott, Miss Virginia Jones, Jake Keller, Herman Thompson, Edward Hawthorne, Glenn Hawthorne, Ben Clark, S. A. Cole, M. L. Pierce and Lynwood Ramsey.

Following the dance the motorcade, which had been parked four abreast for a long distance on the new highway, moved off for Saltville and the afternoon celebration awaiting there.

In Saltville

At Saltville the motorcade of more than 200 cars which came over the mountain from Chilhowie arrived a bit ahead of time, formed with the Saltville cars and made the planned trip to North Holston to view the site of the first battle of Saltville and other historically interesting spots.

In the meantime, Saltville and Emory & Henry College were locked in a fast and exciting ball game at the ball grounds, with Emory one run ahead when the game was called at the end of the eighth inning in spite of good pitching by Hurt.

Promptly at 3:45 p. m. the celebration in spite of good pitching by Hurt. The Roeller boys had set up the public address system and Paul Sublett of Emory was at the radio mike. Possibly five thousand people were on the grounds, roped back and watching every move of the celebration. The grand stand reserved for holders of medallions and for guarantors of the Centennial, was filled.

The V. P. I. band, about forty strong, opened with a dashing air. Then the Rev. Lake Wright made the invocation. Dr. T. K. McKee substituted for E. A. Hulst, Mathieson head, who was unable to be present. Dr. McKee read a splendid welcome message from Mr. Hulst.

H. A. Reutschi, manager Saltville operations, presented R. H. ("Racehorse") Smith, general manager, Norfolk & Western Railway, who made a forceful and interesting address in which he related the progress of transportation down through the ages and contrasted transportation conveniences, economies and speeds of today with those of 100 years ago.

Dr. McKee introduced Dr. J. N. Hillman, president of Emory & Henry College, who, beginning with earliest days when Patton, Campbell and Buchanan made their first trip into this country in 1748, reviewed the history of Saltville down to the present day. His address was one of the best historical contributions of the Centennial and was replete with details in the amazingly interesting history of the salt works. Dr. Hillman closed with a broad tribute to the beauty and loveliness of our Southwest Virginia country.

Then came the historical pageant, prepared by students of the high school under the faculty and by citizens. The prologue was a graceful minuet danced by 18 girls to violin music by E. A. Hyde. At the conclusion of the dance they were invited into the old time cabin, which had been constructed on the grounds, by Hostess Katherine Mantz to hear the history of Saltville.

The minuet girls were: Almeda Woodward, Vivian Branham, Lelia GIGlenwater, Hilda Henegar, Wilma Henegar, Dorothy Cate, Lois Campbell, Ruth Stacy, Evelyn Roberts, Anna Lowery, Virginia Tadlock, Thelma Cregger, Hazel Arnette, Lola Price, Myrtle Smith, Louise Heath, Benetia Snead and Hazel Clear.

Episodes of the pageant, the characters and their players were: No. 1, The Naming of the County, a scene at the home of John Thomas at Royal Oak; John Thomas, Early Keith; Greelove Thoms, his wife, Martha Jane Thornton; Charles Tate, member of House-of-Delegates, Milton Smith.

No. 2, Saltville 100 Years Ago; George, foreman of the Salt Kettles, 1832, P. A. Coverston; a customer with ox team, James A. Hatfield, Zeb, an old negro.

No. 3, Building of the Tennessee and Virginia Railroad; John Robinson McDaniel, president of the road, Elmer Fry; Rep. Segar, member of the House-of-Delegates, Herbert Spraker; Thomas L. Preston Esq., in charge of Salt Works, Forest Grose-clone.

No. 4, First Battle of Saltville; Col. Robert Smith, in charge of S. W. Va. Reserves at Saltville, Clifford Whitely; Gen. John S. Williams, recently arrived to take command, John Bill Mantz; messenger from line of battle, W. Ford McKee.

No. 5, Building of Mathieson Alkali Works. For this episode Mr. Reutschi introduced 43 veteran employees who were with the company when the works were built and who still live in Saltville. They formed in front of the stand and each received a round of applause.

No. 6, Presentation of Future Citizens of Smyth County. Grades 3, 4, 5 with flags. Saltville Seniors of 1932. High school football and basketball teams. Boy Scouts. America, sung by children. Star Spangled Banner by Band. At this point the flag of the Confederacy was run up, the band broke into Dixie, and the Rebel Yell sounded once again over Salt Works as hundreds gave voice.

The program for the afternoon closed with Harley Davidson expressing the appreciation of Marion residents at Saltville's fine program and an invitation for Saltville people to take part in the ceremonies at Marion on the following day.

In addition to the log cabin built on the grounds for the occasion, a replica of one of the ancient salt kettles was set up and from it, in the course of the day's boiling, came several gallons of salt made in the old time manner.

Centennial Close Celebration at Fair Ground

The Marion colored trio composed of Warren Johnson, Harry Graham and Lonny McMillian, rendered some choice singing and harmony. Warren Johnson and his singers haven't haven't been together very long, but they sounded like professionals. After this came the pageant, the final event of the day.

Those taking part in the presentation with the role they played were: Voice, Preston Collins; Columbia, Margaret Sue Copenhaver; Virginia, Virginia Crockett; Smyth County, Eleanor Sheffey; Cavaliers, Stuart Ellis, Leon Beville and Robert Lane Anderson; George Washington, Geo. A. Wright; James Patton, Judge Harmon; William Preston, Carl Davis; Madame Russell, Mrs. E. L. Greever; James Madison, Leon Beville; Daughter of Confederacy, Mrs. Virginia Buchanan Denit; Confederate soldier, Levi Cole; Charles Campbell, R. M. Richardson; Director of Music, Marianna Crane.

Directors of episodes were Miss Elizabeth Anderson, Rev. Hugh J. Rhyne, Mrs. Virginia Buchanan Denit, W. L. Allen, Nathan Brisco, Ray Buchanan, Nan Frazier Staley, Elizabeth Neff, Irene Gills, C. P. Hicks, American Legion, L. E. Gordon, Q. A. Calhoun and Paul Bird.

The pageant is a tale of the beginning and settlement of Smyth County. The scenes representing the various periods of development were beautiful in their simplicity and realism.

On the platform was a "Wheel of Time." Smyth county, represented by Miss Eleanor Sheffey, turned the Wheel to the date of each event.

Preston Collins, as the Voice, dressed in flowing crimson robes, read the lines as each scene was enacted. First came the Indians. An Indian dance was executed by the Marion College girls. The Indians were followed by the Knights of the Golden Horseshoe. Then came the pioneers, Patton, Campbell and Buchanan. The Scotch-Irish and German clans entered with their covered wagons and families.

The Wheel was turned to 1744 when the Cherokee Indians went on the warpath. This scene was very realistic. Indians daubed in fiery warpaint were fierce and bloodthirsty.

Many scenes later the Wheel was turned to 1875 and the Marion Junior College girls gave a charming demonstration of a calisthenics class, dressed in the fashion of that day. Then came the industrial age, a new age, filled with whirring machines and factories. The World War occurred. Soldiers marched out to fight for their country. The women did their part, knitting, working and joining the Red Cross. The Wheel was turned to 1932. This was our age, the age of airplanes, of sciences and art. This scene was made more realistic when an airplane piloted by Oliver Huff, of the Huff Flying Service, Inc., flew down from the skys and zoomed its flashing way, only a small distance from the ground. The college girls performed a May dance setting forth the beauty in play after a year of study.

The final episode was impressive. The boys and girls of the county schools with flags and banners of each school marched in directed by Superintendent B. E. Copenhaver. They formed a solid phalanx in front of the stand. Columbia and Virginia crowned the head of Smyth County with laurel and gave the flags of Virginia and the United States. The Kiwanis Band played the Star Spangled Banner as the children marched out.

Mrs. Laura Scherer Copenhaver, who is the author of the pageant, wrote a fine one. Her description of historic episodes was exact and well worked out. Not to much praise can be given to the organizations and clubs who assisted in putting over the centennial.

The Kiwanis Band kept the celebration happy and gay with their stirring and well-played tunes and the state traffic officers kept things moving in fine order.

Sprucing Up

Marion's drug stores have been sprucing up in quite an undepressed manner these last few weeks. Doc Sclater put in an elaborate and beautifully shiny sandwich counter at the Hotel drug store a few weeks ago that makes sandwiches in the most scientific manner. Now Doc Thompson has hung out a gorgeous big neon sign at his City Drug store which is another addition to Marion's famous night sky line.

Meetings which will commence Thursday, June 2, at 7:45 p. m. and will be given every night except Saturday, will be held at the Gospel Tent on Lincoln Hill close to the Farris Store. The future of man's spirit and body will be revealed from the Bible and displayed with a large chart at the first meeting. D. A. Blackburn and F. M. Detweiler, evangelists, extend a hearty welcome and urge everyone to attend.

Charlie Wassum got home this week from New York for the season, looking well and says the depression is not near so bad as we think it is and that most of it is in our heads. He advises that by hard work we will come out from under it and to keep busy and thereby forget all our worries. His numerous gardens are in a profusion of flower blooms, especially his pansy, peonies and columbines. An invitation is extended to any and all flower lovers to visit "Royal Oak," while flowers last. Charlie knows that it will be a great treat and pleasure for all who love beautiful gardens and flowers and asks everyone to avail himself of this opportunity.
